Musicians all set for big annual celebration

HUNDREDS of talented youngsters will be flocking to Oswestry this week to take part in the annual music festival which was founded more than 30 years ago.

Organisers of the Oswestry Youth Music Festival 2012 say this year it will be even bigger and better with up to 1,000 people expected to take part - many coming from schools in the area.

The event started in 1977 to celebrate the Queen's Silver Jubilee and with this year being the Diamond Jubilee extra trophies have been created to add an extra boost.

Two of the awards, for the under 15 string and woodwind classes, will be specially named to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee.

Donated

They have been donated by Shropshire Councillor Martin Bennett who is chair of the organising committee. The four day event kicks off today, Thursday, in Christ Church and Oswestry Methodist Church and will run throughout the weekend.

Those taking part are aged from five to 25 years old and include singers and musicians who can play all kinds of instruments from recorders to violins, trumpets and drums.

Death not suspicious

A POST mortem examination has found that a man found dead in a field close to the Morda Social Club near Oswestry died from natural causes.

The man, who was 50, was discovered in a field off Kingfisher Way in the village on Friday morning.

Police and paramedics were called to the scene and parts of the field were marked off during investigations and police said they were treating the death as unexplained.

Police have not released the identity of the man.

VILLAGES TO HAVE SAY IN £1 m SPEND

VILLAGES near Oswestry are about to get a big say in how a £1 million lottery windfall should be spent.

Over 12 months ago the Big Local Lottery Fund announced the villages of St Martins, Weston Rhyn and Gobowen, had been chosen to receive the lottery grant.

Now a major consultation campaign will get under way to find out what people think the money should be spent on. The villages are one of just 50 places across Britain and the only area in Shropshire to be chosen for the massive cash injection.

The neighbourhoods have all been chosen because people face social obstacles and have a history of difficulty in getting their hands on resources.

Youngsters to influence town future

YOUNG PEOPLE in Oswestry will have a major say on the future of the town thanks to a Government pilot scheme.

The town is one of just five areas in Shropshire that have been chosen by the Government to trial a new planning initiative - the Neighbourhood Plan.

The plans will enable communities to choose where they want new homes, shops and offices to be built, to have their say on building design and bestow the power to grant planning permission to new developments.

Among those already keen to join in the work to draw up a plan, a blueprint for the town's future, are students at the Marches Secondary School and at Walford and North Shropshire College.

Oswestry Town Council is among those who are drawing up the plan.

Clerk David Preston said the plan would be an important document that would look at planning for how resources are invested in the town.

"It is about the future of Oswestry, it is not about houses. It's about looking at the issues, what the options are and priorities, and matching the priorities with funding and partners," he said.

Talks have already been held with those interested in getting involved in Neighbourhood Planning.

the area, decided to approach organisations and individuals to draw up a plan.

The first phase funding of £10,000 has been spent on talking to the community and drawing up a research, publicity and questionnaires in the villages, helping village newsletters and printing a community directory of locally run activities in the villages.

Laurel Roberts, one of those involved, said phase two of the project was all about gathering detailed information and investigating various community needs. This will be funded by a further £20,000.

Councillor Ron Jones, chairman of Selattyn and Gobowen Parish Council, said he accepted residents were keen to see progress being made but stressed it was vital the funding was spent on the right projects.

Projects

He said: "I am as anxious as anybody else to see the funding being used but we must have the right projects.

"The challenge is to the community to get involved in the process and come up with ideas on how the money can best be spent.

"I have two ideas personally which I think should be investigated further.

"One would be to help the area's young to get into the workplace, perhaps a programme where older more experience people show them basic skills such as plumbing and electrical work.

"Many youngsters these days have never held a hammer or would not have a clue how to fix a tap.

"I know there would be no job at the end of it but it would teach them the basic skills and give them that vital experience they need.

"I also think we should look at more allotments. The new one in Gobowen has been hugely successful and popular. More people will be looking at growing their own because food is getting more and more expensive.

Anyone who is interested in getting involved should contact Laurel Roberts at The Qube in Oswestry on (01691) 686882.

Fun on St David's Day

All across Wales people were today celebrating St David's Day and children at Welshpool's Oldford Junior School were holding a series of activities in remembrance of the death of the patron saint. Waving the flag are, left to right, Marysia Szczakowska, seven, and Konrad Scott, six.

School is evacuated after gas leak fears

PUPILS AND staff were forced to evacuate a school in Welshpool on Tuesday following a suspected gas leak.

More than 80 children were sent home from Ardwyn Nursery and Infants School just after 10am.

Powys County Council said the school remained closed throughout the day because of health and safety issues.

Many parents were notified through the council's new alert system, which sends out an e-mail or text message to inform them of any closure at their child's school.

John Evans, communications manager for Powys County Council said: "Staff and pupils were forced to evacuate the school because of a smell of gas."

Mrs Yvonne Naylor, headteacher of Ardwyn Nursery and Infants School, said: "Gas was smelt by school staff and parents. As a precaution, the school was closed until the all-clear was given."

Pupils were back at their desks yesterday.

Negligence on agenda

CLINICAL negligence will be on the agenda at Wednesday night's meeting of the Oswestry Chronicle Business Club.

Emma Broomfield and Claire Tellis-Doherty are both employed in the clinical negligence department of Lanyon Bowdler solicitors and will be outlining implications for local business.

Held at The Qube the meeting is open to all businesses in the Chronicle's circulation area.

Bypass campaign pledge ahead of crunch meeting

by Iain St John

EVERY AVENUE will be explored to find a way to have a bypass built around Pant and Llanymynech, campaigners vowed today.

The safety campaigners made their vow ahead of a crunch public meeting tonight with North Shropshire MP Owen Paterson and Montgomeryshire AM Russell George.

They said they were expecting hundreds of people to attend the meeting at St Agatha's Church Hall in Llanymynech at 7pm tonight.

Windfarm concerns aired to PM at meeting

MONTGOMERYSHIRE MP Glyn Davies had a 45-minute meeting with Prime Minister David Cameron in Downing Street on Monday on onshore wind development concerns.

The MP outlined his concerns about the scale of the onshore developments in Mid Wales. Energy Minister Charles Hendry and Planning Minister Greg Clarke were also present.

"I was pleased the Prime Minister set aside almost an hour to listen to the concerns about the bias in the planning system in favour of windfarms, and the massive subsidies lavished on international energy giants to build them," said Mr Davies. "I left convinced that it is worthwhile redoubling our efforts to oppose the horror of the Mid Wales Connection Project."

"National Grid intends to announce where they propose to site the line of their horrific structures in a few weeks time. When they do, I hope everyone who shares my objection writes to the Prime Minister to express their outrage."

Pressure has been growing on roads bosses to build the bypass for more than 10 years, particularly because in recent years the neighbouring village of Four Crosses has had a bypass built.

The newly-formed Llanymynech and Pant Bypass Action Group has arranged the meeting to call for a bypass around the villages.

Mike Catt, group chairman, said he was looking forward to putting the organisation's points across at the meeting.

He said: "We are such an organised group this time."

"Now we have a structure and we have the power and the intelligence."

"We are exploring every avenue to get the bypass. We need as many people as possible to attend the meeting."

In the past week members of the action group have given out about 800 flyers with information about the meeting.

Members have also put up posters and set up a web pages and social internet networking sites Facebook and Twitter. "A number of the group has carried out door-to-door canvassing explaining the circumstances," Mr Catt said.

"We could have more than 200 people turn up. We want it to be standing room only. There is room for more than 90 people and space for 20 or 30 more to stand up."

Final preparations carried out at museum

FINAL preparations are being carried out at the first dedicated town museum in Oswestry ahead of its opening to the public tomorrow, Friday.

And staff are delighted with the exhibits which will be on display at the museum in the Guildhall, which is fast becoming a major cultural centre. An exhibition of weird and wonderful equipment once used by the area's specialist Orthopaedic Hospital is one of the special displays that will celebrate the opening of the museum.

Historic items from the area are also on show, including a 17th century

Cuirassier closed helmet which was found at Whittington Castle in the 1970s.

There will also be a timeline that charts the history of Oswestry and the museum will be displaying some of the town's archive collection in the future.

Lunches launched to build new links

COMMUNITY lunches have been launched in Llanfechain as part of the new links being built between residents and the primary school.

Villagers in Llanfechain sat down to dinner with the schoolchildren, enjoying roast beef and Yorkshire pudding with potatoes and vegetables before a hearty pudding, all for just £3.

The Church in Wales primary school decided to launch a series of community events and activities following the success of its campaign to stay open during Powys County Council's education reorganisation consultation.

Gareth Hughes, Llanfechain's headteacher, acknowledged the importance of further developing the bond between the school and the wider community.

"These are exciting times in Llanfechain and the community lunches are just one of the initiatives we are introducing now that the school's future is secure."

Those interested are able to pre-book their meal with the school for the last Thursday of each month as places are limited.

Also up and running are a toddler group, a breakfast club and an after school club.

You can get up to date by calling the school on 01691 828537 or visiting www.llanfechain.school.org.uk

Plea as car drives off after collision

£40,000 appeal to be launched for tramway bid

A £40,000 appeal is to be launched to help reinstate a narrow gauge tramway on the Shropshire border.

The Glyn Valley Tramway Trust has been given the go-ahead to restore a mile of the tramway and rebuild the tram station at Chirk.

Volunteers will start work within weeks and hope to see the 'toy trains' running again in 2014.

Planning permission was granted this week by Wrexham County Borough Council, five years after the Glyn Valley Tramway Trust started talks about restoring a mile of the line.

David Cooper, trust chairman said: "It's been a long time coming. We will be restoring a bit of industrial heritage but will also help the tourist economy. It will be an additional attraction for the area."

The line connected the slate quarries of Glyn Ceiriog with the canal wharf at Gledrid near Oswestry, transporting the slates to the industrial areas of the Midlands and the North West.

The plan is to lay a narrow gauge line from Chirk station, following the B4500 Chirk to Glyn Ceiriog road, to Pontfaen.

National Union of Teachers Wales secretary David Evans said: "This is excellent news for teachers who have been contacting us with concerns relating to the introduction of a primary banding system."

contests at shows across the country and runs courses for everything from jousting and archery on horseback to stunt riding.

The centre itself also offers dirt buggy racing, off-road driving amphibious vehicles, and Canadian canoeing.

Zana Greenwood, one of those behind the stunt company, said they had been looking to move from East Sussex and were contacted by Mark Johannsen, from Rhandregynwen Hall, who was looking for new occupants for his riding centre.

Facilities

"We wanted to expand and when we came up and saw the facilities here we were thrilled," she said.

"Mark has wonderful bed and breakfast facilities at the hall which are ideal for our guests and this is a lovely area for visitors to explore while they spend time with us at one of our courses."

"There are indoor and outdoor riding opportunities here for our guests and also for the schooling of our horses."

The latest film that has used the centre's horses and riders is Snow White and the Huntsman starring Kristen Stewart.

Mrs Greenwood added: "We had a horse in War Horse and in Clash of the Titans as well as Robin Hood and Pride and Prejudice."

Warning is issued on young drinkers

LICENSEES in Welshpool have been warned to be on guard after eight under-age drinkers were found during a police operation.

Dyfed-Powys Police said it would not tolerate under-age drinking in the area following investigations.

Officers from the town's neighbourhood policing team seized alcohol from a group of youngsters who had gone unaccompanied to a local restaurant and taken their own alcohol with them.

Nicola Davies, force licensing officer, said: "They had brought alcohol ranging from bottled lager to vodka and it had to be taken from eight youths who were only aged 15 and 16 years."

"We have given the licence holder for the premises a warning and the licensing authority has been informed. The details of the youngsters involved has been shared with the relevant authorities."

"This is a warning to establishments who may think it's acceptable to break the law in this way. We are watching and we will take action, and while the licensee has only had a warning on this occasion, the penalties will be much more severe if they are caught again."

Powys County Council said it will prosecute any licensees found selling alcohol to under-age people.

Clock on show in hall project

A CLOCK made in Oswestry will soon be on display in the refurbished Powis Hall.

An order has been placed by the town council with Newgate Clocks as part of the £50,000 revamp project of the market hall.

The building has been undergoing a major revamp under winning an online voting competition.

Arson theory as boarded up house is gutted by blaze

A FIRE WHICH gutted an empty house in Oswestry on Tuesday is being treated as suspicious.

Investigations by fire and police specialists are under way into how the fire in the boarded up property in Middleton Road began.

The alarm was raised just after midnight when a police officer noticed the fire in the near derelict, detached house at the junction with Beech Road.

Firefighters from the town were on the scene within minutes and were confronted by flames leaping through the windows of the property.

by Graham Breeze

Green group opposed to housing plan

LAND ON the edge of Oswestry should be protected from future development, residents have said.

A planning appeal has been lodged against the refusal of planning permission to build a detached house with access on a driveway in Love Lane, just off the Morda Road.

Oswestry Town Council has re-iterated its objections.

Permission for the house was refused by Shropshire Council in November but the owners have now made a written appeal to the Planning Inspectorate.

A spokesman for the Oswestry 21 group said today: "A green lane on the edge of town, popular with walkers and horse riders, is again under threat of suburbanisation."

They called for assistance and a fire crew from Chirk and the aerial ladder platform from Shrewsbury arrived to help fight the blaze.

Assistant group commander, Rob Corfield, said it was too dangerous to go into the house until boarding had been removed.

"Once property entrance and exits had been made four firefighters wearing breathing apparatus went into the house and quickly brought the fire under control."

Mr Corfield said the fire was believed to have started in a room on the ground floor and spread to the stairs and first floor.

Although the blaze was under control by 1.30am fire crews remained at the scene to ensure the fire was totally extinguished and that it had not got into the roof space. The final crews left at 7.30am this morning.

He said the fire was being treated as suspicious.

"Police and fire investigations began last night and the fire service was returning to the scene today to carry on its work into the discovering how the fire began."

The house has been empty for almost a year.

Neighbours said today that a retired schoolteacher has lived in the house. She died last year, they said, and the house had been on the market ever since.

Richard Ewels from West Mercia police said: "The fire is being treated as suspicious by the police."

The gutted house following the blaze in Middleton Road, Oswestry.

Start date for community hall

WORK TO build a new community hall in Llanrhaeadr Ym Mochnant should start at the beginning of March.

Organisations have had to find alternative venues to meet while the hall has been out of action.

But those running the venue say all of the groups are looking forward to the new facilities being open later this year.

After extensive work by local contractor, Paveways, the Llanrhaeadr Public Hall has now been demolished.

Chairman of the hall committee, Sarah Suckley-Jones, said: "Contractors have been on site since the beginning of January and continue to work to clear and prepare the site for the erection of the new hall."

"The countdown to the new building has begun."

She said she hoped the new hall would be open in September, boasting a main hall and a computer suite, to be known as Llanrhaeadr's mini business centre. A modern kitchen and toilets will complete the centre.

Income boost 'proves car parking strategy working'

COUNCILLORS say significant increases in income from Oswestry Town Council's car parks prove their short term parking strategy is working.

All three of the town council's car parks have enjoyed considerable increases in income this financial year, a new report has revealed.

Total income from April to January in the Central car park rose by 18 per cent from £319,612 last year to £377,656 this year.

Income from the Horsemarket car park rose from £55,106 last year to £64,518 this year, the report which was presented to town councillors on Wednesday revealed.

Council says wrong area for chip shop

PLANS TO open a chip shop in a residential street in Oswestry have been met with objections from town councillors.

The bid by businessman Howard Martin to change his former corner shop on Lloyd Street into a chip shop has already provoked several complaints as well as letters of support.

Residents who claim the new business will lead to an increase in anti-social behaviour have lodged a petition with Shropshire Council calling for the bid to be thrown out.

Mr Martin has lodged his own petition with Shropshire Council in response, with names of residents who support the plan.

The town councillors have said the chip shop would be unsuitable for the area.

Shropshire Council will decide on the bid by March 15.

Thief steals bright pink bike

A CYCLE enthusiast has been left 'gutted' after a £2,000 downhill bike he built himself was stolen from outside an Oswestry supermarket.

Declan Smith, 22, only left the fluorescent pink Giant bike chained up outside Sainsbury's for a few minutes last Thursday to go into the store to buy milk.

On his return Mr Smith, who had painstakingly built the bike to take part in downhill racing this summer, found somebody had cut the lock and taken the bike. The graphic design apprentice said he also needed the bike to get to a work placement.

He said: "I went to Sainsbury's at about 8.25pm and locked the bike up. I was only in for a few minutes.

"I have told the police and Sainsbury's about the theft and hopefully it will be seen around Oswestry because it does stand out.

"I must have spent about £2,000 - to buy it complete would cost about £4,000."

Two hurt in crash at roads' junction

TWO PEOPLE were taken to hospital following a two-car crash on the Forden to Montgomery road at Hem Bank on Monday.

Emergency services were called to the accident on the B4388 at 2.15pm and Constable Marcus Wright of Dyfed-Powys Police said two people had been injured following the collision at the Marton to Caerhowell junction.

He said: "Two vehicles were involved in the collision, a silver Ford Mondeo and a blue Volvo. Both drivers were taken to the Royal Shrewsbury Hospital, with the driver of the Volvo being released a short while later.

"The driver of the Mondeo driver was immediately transferred to Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham with serious leg injuries."

Anyone with information, or who witnessed the accident is asked to call Newtown Police on 101 or 0845 330200.

Church-goers celebrate as it reaches 150th anniversary

A CHURCH near Oswestry, built by an MP next to his country house, celebrated its 150th anniversary at the weekend.

The Quinta Congregational Church on the outskirts of Weston Rhyn near Oswestry celebrated by welcoming retired minister, Peter Beale, to talk to the congregation and visitors on Saturday and Sunday.

The chapel, known officially as the Quinta Independent Evangelical Church, was built by Liberal MP Thomas Barnes in October 1858.

He bought the Quinta estate after using it as a holiday home with his wife, Anne, for many years.

Four years later came the official 'founding' of the church, which has led to this weekend's anniversary.

Today's minister, Dr Digby James has been in Shropshire for 22 years, moving from London with wife, Marianne.

He said the church was put into a trust, complete with a trust fund, by Mr Barnes daughter, Ellen, and was refurbished in 1928. Alms houses were built nearby in the 1950s and the church also has its on Sunday School building which along with the church is listed.

"The Sunday School building is used, not only by us, but by three local families who home school their children," Dr James said.

He said the church had a congregation of about 20. "They range in age from children to one member who is 89 years old."

The Congregational Church disestablished itself from the Anglican Church in the 17th century.

The decisions at Quinta are made, not by any overseeing body, but by the congregation.

While that congregation is celebrating the church's 150th anniversary it is also embracing the present, in particular new technology.

"Weekly sermons are now available online and there are plans to put historic Sunday School and graveyard details onto an online database," Dr James said.

Hopes over rail link plan

CAMPAIGNERS battling for a rail link between Oswestry and Gobowen claim the railway could revitalise the market town and boost trade if it is restored.

The branch line has not carried passenger trains since the 1960s but a campaign has been under way to get it restored.

Sean Parlor, from Wellington, is spearheading the campaign and has launched a petition to try to get a Parliament discussion on the proposals.

"Reopening the railway line with Gobowen and even giving it a link with Chester, Manchester, Llandudno, and my town of Wellington, and with Wolverhampton would revitalise the market town of Oswestry, not to mention enabling me to visit Oswestry on a Wednesday," he said.

"It may be unimportant to those that live in places such as Birmingham, Manchester and Staines, but to those of us that have happy memories of visiting Oswestry it is important."

Music festival logo is a winner

Peter Aspey, a student at Walford and North Shropshire College, was presented with his certificate and voucher by Shropshire Councillor Martin Bennett on Friday

A STUDENT has won a competition to design a logo for Oswestry Youth Music Festival which starts today, Thursday.

Peter Aspey, a second year student on the interactive media Btec course at Walford and North Shropshire College, was presented with his winner's certificate and a £20 WH Smith gift voucher by Shropshire Councillor Martin Bennett.

Peter said: "I wanted to go for an edgy and modern looking logo that would appeal to young people. This logo will help with my portfolio for university."

Councillor Bennett, who is also an Oswestry Town Councillor, said: "We had an amazing number of entries of a very high standard."

"We were very struck on Peter's design as we felt it had impact. I liked the use of colours as I am also flamboyant in my design work."

Tragedy strikes at family for third time

THE DAUGHTER of a pensioner from Oswestry who died after being attacked during a break-in at his home, has died herself.

The death of 57-year-old Sarah Davies, the daughter of Charles Green, is not being treated as suspicious, police have said.

Her family said Mrs Davies was heartbroken after the death of her daughter Samantha two years ago.

Police spokesman Richard Ewels said Mrs Davies was found dead at an address in Willow Street, Oswestry, on February 20. He said: "Police are treating it as an unexplained death but it is not believed to be suspicious."

Her brother Terry Green, speaking on behalf of the whole family, said: "Our family has sadly lost our dearly loved sister."

"Sarah lost her teenage daughter Samantha two years ago and has been heartbroken ever since."

Mrs Davies's 87-year-old father died in hospital a month a break-in at his home in Ambleside Road.

Dragon festival

Whittington Castle will be the scene of a two-day dragon and fairy festival on June 4 and 5 as part of four days of events in the village. It is hoped there will be plenty of dragon costumes.

Demand for cut in funding

A POLITICIAN from Mid Wales has called on the Westminster government to dramatically cut funding for onshore wind energy and spread it amongst other types of power.

Russell George, Montgomeryshire AM, said he had written a letter, signed by a host of Assembly Members, to David Cameron.

Mr George has lobbied his colleagues to sign a letter to the Prime Minister, asking him to dramatically cut the subsidy for onshore wind energy in order to spread the savings between other types of 'reliable' renewable energy production.

The letter goes on to support the stance taken by more than 100 MPs, who urged Mr Cameron to amend the National Planning Policy Framework to improve the balance of renewable energy technologies.

Mr George said: "I believe our letter is unambiguous in telling Mr Cameron that the current policy to heavily subsidise on-shore wind generation is the wrong policy."

Patients petition for return of struck-off sex case GP

AN ONLINE petition has been launched calling for a GP from Oswestry to be reinstated after he was struck off for having an affair with a patient.

So far 640 people have signed the petition which urges the General Medical Council to reconsider its decision to remove Simon Robinson from the medical register.

Patients of his say striking off the 44-year-old doctor is a 'major loss' to Oswestry. Robinson, who practised at Cae Glas surgery in Oswestry, was struck off after a General Medical Council tribunal found that he had abused his position by engaging in sexual acts with patient, Jill Tudor, in his surgery and at her home.

by Sue Austin

Doctor: I cannot afford to appeal

THE OSWESTRY doctor struck off last week for having a relationship with a patient will not appeal despite declaring his innocence.

Dr Simon Robinson says he cannot afford to appeal but wants to remain in Oswestry, where he was a GP for 15 years, and be able to walk through the town with his head held high.

This week he thanked all his former patients and others who had supported him throughout the General Medical Council hearing and those who have signed a petition appealing to the GMC to reinstate him. And he said, while he was completely devastated by the GMC's decision to strike him off, his wife and two young children were the most important thing in his life.

Dr Robinson said: "The only way I can appeal is through the House of Lords and, without selling our house, I do not have the finances to do that."

"All I can hope is that the petition and the strength of feeling will persuade the GMC to rethink its decision."

The online petition, started by Lisa Jones, can be found at www.change.org/petitions

It states: "Please support my petition which will be submitted to the General Medical Council to show our support for Dr Simon Robinson our local GP."

"We would like the General Medical Council to reconsider their decision to strike him off the register and allow him to continue to practice in Oswestry."

Those signing the petition include patients who say Robinson had saved the lives of their relatives.

Lara Evans, says: "The GMC's decision will result in a major loss to Oswestry and the surrounding areas if he is not allowed to continue to practice."

Other people who have signed the petition have called for Robinson to continue to practise with restrictions, and say he will be a huge loss to medicine.

The General Medical Council disciplinary panel ruled last week Robinson's fitness to practise was impaired as a result of the encounters with Miss Tudor during a 16-month affair between July 2009 and November 2010. The panel said Robinson's denial of the allegation meant Miss Tudor, who lives in the Oswestry area, had to give evidence and have the recordings of their encounters played at the public hearing.

Robinson maintained throughout that he did not have sexual relations with her.

Show of acrylic flower paintings

Wellington artist Ann Easthope is exhibiting a selection of her latest acrylic flower paintings at the Oswestry Visitor and Exhibition Centre until March 31. Ann is seen with one of her works titled Good Morning!

Rapper is latest to be named for Osfest

RAPPER AND N-Dubz star, Dappy, is the latest big name to announce he is playing at the Oswestry music festival, Osfest.

A favourite on TV and radio the frontman for N-Dubz is about to release his new single, Rockstar, expected to be a challenger for Number One in the charts.

Osfest organisers said they were delighted to announce that the British singer-songwriter, rapper, and actor would be performing at the festival on June 2.

The four-day festival is being held over the Queen's Jubilee weekend, from June 1-4.

Hats

Dappy is best known as the lead singer of the Camden-based trio N-Dubz, with his cousin and X-Factor judge, Tulisa, and their friend Fazer.

His dress sense has even coined the phrase, Dappy Hats, the trendy woolly hats with ear flaps.

Other stars already confirmed for Osfest include Razorlight and Hard-Fi as well as female singer Delilah, whose single goes on sale on March 12.

Early Bird tickets for the 2012 festival have already sold out.

Christmas shop flop is a massive blow for town

IT'S A MASSIVE shame but Oswestry's experiment with late night shopping in the weeks leading up to Christmas was a flop.

The Chamber of Commerce will not seek support from the Town Council to stage a similar event next year which is bad news for the business community.

It looks very much like an opportunity wasted, but the shopping public did not support the town's traders in their bid to bring more people into the town.

Shoppers turned their back on the chance for night-time shopping even though the Town Council was convinced to throw in free car parking to boost the scheme.

Judging by the figures released recently most people were keeping their money in their pockets this Christmas, so Oswestry suffered just like other towns across the country.

The Chamber will still press for free parking in the Christmas build up this year in the hope that the economic climate improves. Oswestry's traders are doing all that they can to ride the economic storm but they do need support. It's never been more important to shop local.

LAST FRIDAY I experienced a four-hour train journey from Chippenham back to Shrewsbury and can only sympathise with those who have to make daily commutes via our rail networks.

Using a variety of network providers meant different standards. Some carriages were close to luxurious with built in computer screens on seat backs while others were tired and worn out.

Then there was the overcrowding. Relative comfort on the Cross Country service from Newport in South Wales to Shrewsbury changed to absolute mayhem when hundreds of students flooded onto an already packed train at Hereford.

Chaos ensued as the youngsters squashed in without a second's thought for other users and it was standing room only for them all.

Madness

Where are the safety guidelines? Surely this madness will end in disaster eventually. Why are coach operators faced with stringent seatbelt rules while our railways live in the dark ages of health and safety?

Coaches were so overcrowded that the buffet services were non-existent and not once was I asked to produce a ticket.

Government is turning a blind eye probably because to improve the service means additional carriages and massive expense. The service providers will plead poverty so it will be a catch 22 situation.

I'm just glad I'm not a regular commuter.

ON A SAD note the country lost one of its finest ever politicians with the death of former Montgomeryshire MP Emyln Hooson last week.

Lord Hooson was one of the most gracious men you could ever meet and fiercely proud of his constituency and his Llanidloes base. Under his long stewardship Montgomeryshire was never far from the public eye and you can only imagine what sort of political career he would have enjoyed if attached to a party in power.

As a young trainee reporter I remember being daunted when he plonked himself beside me on a coach journey during a press briefing and chatted away about everything and anything.

My first meeting with the great man was one I would never forget and during the next 20 years my respect for the MP and barrister was to constantly grow.

Montgomeryshire was extremely lucky to have had such a remarkable man as Emyln Hooson.

Poultry popularity is clear as crowds flock to auction

Tudor Watkins, auctioneer from Parry & Partners, gets down to business

THE UPSURGE in keeping chickens was evident in Shropshire this weekend as about 1,000 enthusiasts flocked to a rare breed poultry auction at the weekend.

Sellers and buyers from across the region snapped up pure and rare breed birds at the event on Saturday at the Park Hall show-ground, Oswestry.

The event, the second for the town, was organised by auctioneers Roger Parry & Partners and local poultry enthusiasts Andy and Jill Cawthry from the Chicken-Street company.

by Sue Austin

It followed the inaugural rare breeds auction in August. Mr Cawthry said: "This was even more successful event. We had 388 pens which is more than 100 more than last year."

Quality

"Early spring is a good time to start with chickens and holding this auction in February gave people a great opportunity to pick up some quality stock."

Pairs of birds sold for an average of about £40 although some made more than £100.

He said he hoped the auction would become a regular event and revealed that future auctions could also include hatching eggs so people could start to rear their own stock.

CAN EMPLOYER DISMISS ME BEFORE APRIL 6TH UNFAIR DISMISSAL CHANGES COME IN?

Q: I recently read somewhere that the time limit to qualify for unfair dismissal is going to increase from twelve months to twenty four months from 6th April. By the beginning of April I will have worked for my employer for twenty months. We don't get on that well and I am worried that he might come up with some excuse to sack me before April in order to avoid me qualifying for unfair dismissal rights. Is there any protection for me?

A: The Government has just issued some guidance on the changes. The twenty four months/two year qualifying period will only apply to those who start a new job on or after 6th April 2012. Employees who started a job before 6th April 2012 will remain able to claim unfair dismissal rights after one year of continuous service. One year of continuous service does however not just mean working for the same employer for one year, but doing the same job for that employer for one year. The qualifying period for claiming unfair dismissal will not be retrospective.

So provided you have worked for your employer in the same job for more than twelve months prior to 6th April 2012, you will still have your unfair dismissal rights. Had you only worked there for ten months prior to 6th April 2012 you would have had to wait two more months before getting the same unfair dismissal rights.

There has been no change to redundancy rights, so you can only qualify for redundancy pay if you have worked for two years (unless you were unfairly dismissed). Also, there are a range of rights, such as the right not be discriminated against, which have no qualifying period.

Employment law is complex so it is always advisable to take legal advice to clarify your position.

Further information relating to this question is available from Robert Williams, a Partner with GHP Legal. For information relating to any other legal matter please call GHP Legal on 01691 659194, visit www.ghplegal.co.uk or attend one of our FREE legal diagnostic clinics every Wednesday 12-5pm (no appointment necessary).

Bar and chip shop for sale in town

POTENTIAL business owners who fancy running a bar or a chip shop are being urged to have a look at two properties in Llanfyllin.

The Eagles bar and fish and chip shop in the town are for sale. Chartered surveyor Richard Cooper said: "This freehold property and businesses are for sale as a going concern, including the fixtures and fittings."

"The property offers an opportunity to purchase as whole or in two separate sections - namely the bar grill and residential accommodation as one unit and the fish and chip shop as another."

"Sited in the centre of this superb Mid Wales tourist town the businesses benefit from the excellent local tourist trade and local caravan sites."

"The premises are a very attractive brick-built building originally an old coaching inn and has the enormous potential for conversion into small hotel or bed and breakfast establishment with four good sized bedrooms, some with en suite facilities plus a spacious manager's flat with en suite facilities."

"Full audited accounts will be made available at the time of inspection of the premises if required."

Viewing is by appointment by contacting (01743) 361000.

Book stalls for carnival

ORGANISERS OF West Felton Carnival are calling for stallholders and crafters to book stalls at this year's event on July 15.

Samantha Griffith Norris, from the carnival committee, said: "Anyone involved in a cottage industry, craft or if you have anything interesting or unusual to sell then please do try out a stall at the carnival."

"The carnival is always well attended and is a fun and lively event."

Car boot sale

A CAR BOOT sale will be held in Weston Rhyn for the play school on Sunday. Gates will open at 9.15am to sellers who will be charged £5 per car. Members of the public are invited along at 10am. Refreshments will be available.

Greek bubble won't be last to burst

A ONE-HOUR transit at Athens International Airport is perhaps not a very firm basis for observing on the present problems in Greece.

So I must prefix my remarks with the words 'I am told'.

Well, I have been told that the private sector in Greece is tiny and for most people employment is only possible in the public sector.

If this is true, then the majority of people are public servants drawing (or waiting to draw) vast public pensions from an empty vault, in which case they have no one to blame but themselves and the trade unions.

Or should we have a modicum of pity for the man who had no choice? I'm not sure about the pity aspect. It would suggest that the average Greek citizen is an unthinking leftist layabout over endowed with the 'I'm entitled' gene. Surely that can't be true?

Laugh

So, it could be that drachma will be back in use at the shopping malls of Greece. We used to laugh at the number of zeros used on Italian price tags, and that joke could soon be back in vogue but with Greece the butt of the humour.

Greece's problems did not start from the time it joined the EU. Those problems already existed, and a cynic may feel that it joined in the hope that it could continue its hedonistic existence at the expense of other European countries. But it also raises the question, why with its accounts available for scrutiny, was Greece admitted in the first place?

The Greek bubble may be the first to burst but will not be the last, and when a very large part of Europe lies in similar financial disarray if not ruin, I don't think anyone will be laughing. Let's wake up, pack up and go.

Praise as new meal service to continue

OFFICIALS ARE praising the success of a community meals on wheels service six months after its launch.

Members of Selattyn and Gobowen Parish Council launched the service in July in response to concerns for the area's elderly.

Chairman of the parish council, Ron Jones, said it was doing well and had a number of people inquiring about taking up the service in their homes too.

Last year parish council members set up a steering group to look into the possibility of creating its own voluntary-led service for people living in the parish and also in nearby Whittington.

Councillor Jones said the service, which was initially started as a pilot scheme, would now continue into the foreseeable future.

He said: "The service is going well. We are getting more volunteers and one or two more people are asking to have the meals delivered."

"It started about six months ago but hopefully it is something we can continue. I think it is our responsibility as a parish council to help."

"The service is not just about the meals but it is also about the regular contact."

Competition for children

OSWESTRY Library, in partnership with Oswestry Rotary Club, has announced the launch of 'Read it! Write It!' 2012, the annual writing competition for children.

Pupils in Key Stage 2 at local primary schools are invited to write a review of their favourite book and return it to the library by March 30 to be in with a chance of winning a first prize of £30 of national book tokens. There are also runner-up prizes of one £20 and one £10 book tokens.

Squad 24 line up at Park Hall camp

There must be thousands of men up and down the country who have memories of being based at Park Hall Camp, near Oswestry. Here are just some of them, as seen in a rather battered old photo, taken with snow on the ground. Printed on the front is: "Squad, 24 (Irish) Training Battery, 17th Regiment, R.A. Oswestry." Third from right in the middle row is Gunner Michael Doody, who was 18 at the time - 1962. Notice the barrel of an artillery piece visible behind them.

The state of this country makes you want to cry

WHAT A country we are living in, bankers stripped of their Knighthoods, bankers made to pay their bonuses back and in an industry that creates massive wealth for our country.

Then on the other hand, shorn-headed young men who spit, swear, make rude gestures, kick balls around a field and earn £1,000,000 a month and no-one says a word.

Then there are our old people, who have worked all their lives who now find themselves in a nation who can't afford to look after them.

It's enough to make grown men cry.

Harry Redknapp is too sharp to become England manager

HARRY THE people's choice as new England boss?

But hopefully Harry Redknapp is too sharp to take the job that any sensible Premier League manager would run a mile from.

Daniel Levy has supported Harry all the way through his recent trial and it is not only the chairman of Tottenham who has supported him.

Other Premier League managers and, of course, the Spurs fans who have seen Harry raise their football club from near the bottom of the table to where they are now - third in the Premier League - have also been supporters.

It's so unfair

I WAS shocked to hear of a blind lady not allowed benefits. This is so unfair to the elderly and disabled people. The elderly fought for this country and have worked hard all their lives, and yet they don't get support.

Discounts offered as firm opens new depot

REA VALLEY Tractors opens a new depot in Severn Road, Welshpool today.

The depot is now open for parts with a service department opening next month.

Steve Potter, managing director of Rea Valley Tractors said: "Establishing a depot in the Welshpool area has been a key target of the business since we moved premises from Pontesbury to our Shrewsbury location. "We are extremely pleased to announce the opening of our new location, which will enable us to better serve our customers in this area."

"We would like to thank our customers for their continued support and look forward to building on our existing relationships."

As an introductory offer, Rea Valley Tractors will be offering 15 per cent off all John Deere parts excluding oils until March 16.

Rea Valley Tractors are a major regional distributor of new and used John Deere tractors, agricultural machinery and powered garden equipment serving Shropshire and Mid Wales.

Supper planned

A ST DAVID'S Day supper will take place at Dolanog community centre, near Welshpool, on Saturday.

The event will start at 7.30pm and to book a seat call (01938) 81090.

Families urged to get hot on the trail of the dragons

VISITORS TO Welshpool are being invited to take part in a dragon hunt around the town.

Welshpool Town Council said it hoped the family game would draw more tourists to the town. Town clerk Robert Robinson said it was a game for all the family to come and enjoy and would run from the end of March until September.

He said: "The dragon hunt is for everyone, particularly children and families. People can do it as a group or on their own."

"Anyone can take part, local people or those just visiting. The dragons all have names and are located around the town centre and all people have to do is find them."

Mr Robinson said a clue sheet was available from the town's tourist information centre, library or town clerk's office.

He said: "Once people have completed their list they should return the list of dragons with the names of each dragon against the clue to the town clerk's office at Triangle House, Union Street, Welshpool, SY21 7PG."

Tourist

"People should leave their names and address on the list because a certificate signed by the mayor Estelle Bleivas and myself will be sent to them for completing the hunt."

"I think it's something the whole family can enjoy, especially youngsters. "The aim is to find all 20 dragons and to write the relevant name against the clue."

He added that he hoped efforts to brighten up Welshpool during the tourist season to attract more visitors would also pay off.

Lines of blue, white and red, bunting have been put up in the town centre this month and will remain in place throughout the summer.

He added that there had already been a lot of favourable comments from residents and visitors.

Clarinet virtuoso in church concert

WELSHPOOL Music Club's 69th season of concert ends next Thursday at the Methodist Church with a recital by clarinet virtuoso Sarah Williamson, accompanied by Jennie-Helen Moston on piano.

Sarah was woodwind finalist in the 2002 BBC Young Musician of the Year, and came second in the European Young Musician of the year 2002.

She lives in North London, and showed a great love of music at the early age of five when she studied the piano with Joan Upton-Holder, and when she was eight began studying the clarinet with Roy Upton-Holder.

Admission at the door: adults £7 and students £2. For further information phone Joan or Roy Upton-Holder on 01938 554840.

Voucher scheme is launched

CUSTOMERS at Sainsbury's Welshpool can donate their vouchers over the next six weeks to help get kids on the move. The Active Kids 2012 voucher scheme means customers can donate to nurseries, schools, Scout and Guide Groups and sports clubs.

Bargains at coffee morning

Looking through some bric a brac at the Methodist Church coffee morning in Welshpool on Monday are Margaret Bywater and grand-daughter, Lily Bywater, with stall holder, Pat Pritchard.

Guest speaker at rotary club lunch

DAVID Williams, who runs the successful MyWelshpool.co.uk web site, was the guest speaker at Welshpool Rotary Club's lunch last week.

His talk was followed by a lively discussion and he was thanked by Rotarian Roger Brooks.

The president, Dennis Duggan, extended a welcome to visitors Tony Brooks and Malcolm Giles.

The quiz team reached the Area 5 final of the District Quiz, but were defeated by Oswestry Rotary Club 70-63.

Spring crafts fair date at town hall

A SPRING crafts fair takes place in the Corn Exchange at Welshpool Town Hall on Saturday.

There's free admission for visitors and stalls with a chance to purchase original and unique work directly from the craft workers and artists.

Further craft fairs are organised for April 14 and May 26.

Walk in the park

CELEBRATE the arrival of Spring and join the Severn Valley Strollers for a St David's Day walk in Powis Castle Park on Monday.

The walk will start from Park Lane, off High Street, Welshpool, at 11am and will be followed by free refreshments.

Peter Halliday with Sylvester McCoy in Doctor Who.

by Graham Breeze

WELSHPOOL actor Peter Halliday, best known for his starring role in the BBC's sci-fi drama A for Andromeda in the 1960s, has died aged 87.

Mr Halliday appeared in Doctor Who, The Saint, The Avengers, Goodnight Sweetheart, Dalziel and Pascoe and many other TV dramas and was also seen in film and theatre productions.

He was born near Llangollen, but his family moved to Welshpool where he lived for most of his life. Mr Halliday worked alongside many acting greats, including Richard Burton and Sir John Gielgud during a career that spanned 60 years.

His funeral was held in London on Tuesday, but a memorial service is being planned for Welshpool at some point in the future.

Mr Halliday's career started when he joined the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in 1947 after serving in World War II.

His big break came three years later when he joined the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre in Stratford-upon-Avon, now known as the Royal Shakespeare Company.

An exhibition about his career was held at the Powysland Museum in Welshpool in 2007, where his son's partner Eva Bredsdorff is a curator.

Ms Bredsdorff said: "Peter enjoyed being an actor and was lucky enough to be doing what he loved doing for most of his life."

"His career took him around the world and introduced him to interesting and famous people, some of whom became good friends."

Mr Halliday is probably best-known for his role as Dr John Fleming in A for Andromeda.

The BBC programme also starred Julie Christie, with whom Mr Halliday shared an on-screen kiss. He was joined by Susan Hampshire for the follow up series, The Andromeda Breakthrough.

He also featured in the Oscar-nominated movie Remains of the Day, which starred Sir Anthony Hopkins and Emma Thompson.

In 1956, he married the actress Simone Lovell with whom he had three sons. They later divorced, but remained good friends, Ms Bredsdorff said.

He leaves three sons and five grandchildren.

Castle's grounds in top 10

THE GROUNDS of Powis Castle have been named in a list of the top 10 most romantic gardens in the world.

Powis Castle in Welshpool is number five in the list compiled by the Daily Telegraph. The top three places went to Courtyard Fountains at the Alhambra in Grenada, Monet's Water Garden in France and Ninfa Garden in Italy.

To celebrate and mark the Leap Year, National Trust bosses decided to open the castle's grounds a day earlier than expected yesterday, instead of the usual March 1. Alison Dyer, spokeswoman for the property, said: "To help share how beautiful and wedding-perfect our gardens are, we opened a day early for all budding brides wishing to pop the question."

"Any proposals at Powis Castle will be offered a free cream tea, for husband and wife to be. Following the engagement in our gardens, the lucky couples who decide to be married at Powis Castle and Garden will receive extra gifts."

Road resurfacing

WELSHPOOL'S HGV mystery has been solved.

A Powys County Council spokesperson said: "There's resurfacing works taking place on the A495 near Llangantffraid, which requires a temporary prohibition of HGVs. The diversion route has been set up."

Air show tribute to honour plane crash tragedy victim

WELSHPOOL'S air show will be re-named in honour of pilot and airport owner Bob Jones who died in a plane crash earlier this year.

The Welshpool Air Show will be re-named the Bob Jones Memorial Air Show this year and has been pencilled in for June 17. It had been feared the show would have to be axed because of a lack of displays, but committee member Councillor John Morgan has insisted the show will go on.

Mr Jones, who owned Welshpool Airport, died on Long Mountain, near Welshpool along with Steven Carr, 55, from Ruthin, Denbighshire in January.

Police appeal on waste sites

DYFED-POWYS Police want help from the public in identifying sites where a large amount of hazardous waste and substances are being stored.

The initiative follows a fire in an unlicensed factory in Wales when 5,000 tonnes of flock, a product created by shredding and recycling tyres, caused chaos when it burned at the premises.

The cost of dealing with the fire was over £1.5 million for the agencies involved.

Now Dyfed-Powys Police and the Mid and West Wales Fire Service are working together to avoid such a situation occurring again to prevent communities from experiencing such disruption and chaos.

"In order to achieve this, we are asking for the public's help in identifying where a large amount of hazardous waste and substances are being stored," said spokeswoman Sian George.

Contact Mid & West Wales Fire and Rescue Services Arson Reduction Team on 03706 060699.

The Piper Navajo plane they were travelling in came down on the mountain and the cause is still being investigated by the Air Accident Investigation Bureau.

The Red Arrows and the RAF's parachute display team, The Falcons, are pencilled in for the memorial event.

Organisers, including Mr Jones's widow Linda, met a representative from the RAF in Welshpool last Thursday night to discuss plans for the air show.

A fly-past tribute to Mr Jones took place on the day of his funeral on February 11 and Mr Jones' coffin was driven along the runway in the hearse.

Councillor Morgan said: "The committee unanimously agreed that the air show will go ahead."

"They also agreed that it will now be called the Bob Jones Memorial Air Show."

The event started five years ago and regularly attracts up to 5,000 visitors. But as recently as last week, Councillor Morgan feared for the future of the show because of uncertainty over how well the RAF would be able to support it.

But the RAF said it was pleased once again to support the air show.

Squadron leader Albie Fox, community relations manager for the RAF in Wales, said: "We realise that the people of Mid Wales put up with a lot of our training in the area and this is a small way of showing our gratitude."

Ramble round castle grounds

Every Monday at 10.30am walkers meet at Powis Castle gates just off the High Street in Welshpool, for a ramble around the grounds of the castle. Anyone is welcome to join in and walks are for all abilities. Opening the gates to go on their walk are Mary Roberts and Barbara Jones.

Pop star planning concert in town

ONE OF THE most successful names in British music from the past 30 years is set to play a concert in Welshpool as part of a bizarre tour.

Paul Heaton was lead singer with The Housemartins and The Beautiful South, who sold millions of records during the 1980s and 90s, and he has continued to be one of the most respected names in the industry.

Now Paul is celebrating his 50th birthday by hitting the road on his bicycle for his 50:50 Tour.

He'll be pedalling 2,500 miles – 50 miles for each year – and supporting local pubs on route with a string of extra special shows across the UK and Ireland.

Extensive

And the Raven Inn has got the nod for his Welshpool stay-over with tickets now on sale for the June 8 event.

The star has promised his set will feature songs from his extensive back catalogue which includes big hits Caravan of Love, Happy Hour, Song for Whoever, Keep it All In, A Little Time and The Perfect 10 to name just a few.

Paul and his band kick off on Monday, May 15 with fans encouraged to cycle to each show and join Paul on his long and winding journey which finishes on June 23.

Food bank service on the move

A SUCCESSFUL food bank service in Oswestry is moving to larger premises in the town centre.

Oswestry and Borders Foodbank officially started running in November from the Kingswell Centre, in Arthur Street, and is now preparing to move into a bigger building in Beatrice Street due to the demand.

Gillian Richards, co-ordinator of the food bank, said the new location would provide more space and would also be in a better position in the town.

She said: "We have got a bigger warehouse to put all the stock in and a proper office to use."

The Kingswell Centre is due to close in March so the Food bank will run from March 31 in its new building.

The service is a voluntary scheme run by representatives from Churches Together Oswestry District group to give out enough food for three days to the poverty-hit.

It runs by receiving referrals from agencies in the town.

Annual supper

THE ANNUAL supper to celebrate St David, the patron saint of Wales, will take place at Rhiwhiriaeth Community Centre, near Llanfair Caereinion, on Friday. Supper will be served at 7.30pm.

Raising polio funds is just a walk in the park for pupils

Children on their sponsored walk around Cae Glas Park in Oswestry.

YOUNGSTERS from a school in Oswestry have stepped out to help rid the world of polio.

Pupils and staff from Bellan House took part in a sponsored walk around Oswestry's Cae Glas Park to support the Rotary Foundation's campaign to wipe out polio.

The entire school could be seen striding out in the sunshine for the sponsored crocus walk which involved four laps of the park. The school joined forces with Oswestry Rotary Club for the event.

The initiative follows on from its involvement last year when it helped plant 5,000 crocus bulbs in the park to symbolise the End Polio Now Campaign.

Bellan House headteacher Jackie

Greatorex said both staff and children had thoroughly enjoyed the walk and were able to see some of the crocuses planted last year in full bloom.

"We were delighted that the walk was started off by the Mayor of Oswestry and a bugle fanfare," said Mrs Greatorex.

The walk was held on World Rotary Day and anyone wishing to add to the school's sponsorship total can call Bellan House on (01691) 653453.

Asbestos is linked to death of woman

Daphne Anne Hayward, of College Road, died at The Royal Shrewsbury Hospital last September 19.

The inquest held in Wem heard a post-mortem examination reported the cause of death as mesothelioma, a disease that can be caused by exposure to asbestos.

The 72-year-old woman visited her doctor in June with a cough but her health deteriorated. Her son Stephen Hayward's statement to the court said his mother was brought up in Chirk and West Felton.

She worked for 10 years at Clifford Williams, a former clothing firm in Oswestry.

Worked

He said there had been steam presses, sewing machines and other items which had asbestos around them in the factory.

He said she worked there from 1955 to 1965. She married in 1964 and when she had children she left the company.

Later in life she worked as a cleaner at a school in Oswestry and at Richard Burbidge. She retired in 2004.

Assistant deputy coroner, Andrew Barkley, ruled Mrs Hayward died from the industrial disease.

Children from Bellan House during their sponsored walk in aid the Polio Campaign.

School to hold open morning

OSWESTRY'S Bellan House School will be holding an open morning for prospective pupils and their families to enable them to view the premises and meet staff.

Bellan House, the prep department for Oswestry School, will open its doors to the public on March 3 when pupils will also be attending.

"This is a great opportunity for parents and children to visit Bellan House and to have a leisurely look round," said headteacher Jackie Greator.

"We teach our pupils in a warm and caring environment in the centre of Oswestry and are always keen to share our happy school with others.

"We are also inviting prospective reception pupils to join us for a discovery day on March 6 when they will get a taste of the school."

Bellan House in Church Street is for youngsters aged four to 10 and also has a nursery wing.

Anyone wanting details on the open morning, which runs from 10am to 1pm, can call Bellan House on (01691) 653453 or visit a.lloyd@oswestryschool.org.uk

Concerns car park plan will scupper event for museum

TOURISM BOSSES have called for a historic square in Oswestry to be used in an 'imaginative' way to promote a town's new museum but fear it is more likely to become a car park.

North Shropshire and Oswestry Destination Partnership wants to use Oswestry's Bailey Head square to help promote its museum, which is due to open in March.

But the group say its plans could be dashed by Oswestry Town Council proposals to turn the area, next to the indoor market, into a 20-space car park with two spaces for blue badge holders. Plans for the car park are in the early stages and information has been passed to Shropshire Council to work out details. Partnership chairman John Wayne said he was surprised about the car park plan.

Drug user is found dead

A DRUG USER was found dead on the sofa of a home in Oswestry, an inquest has heard.

Nathan Gareth Beasley, 26, whose last known address was Hawthorne Place in Leominster, died between September 23 and 24 last year.

At the time he had been visiting friends in Oswestry.

An inquest held in Wem heard an ambulance was called to a flat in Swan Lane at 10.03am. Mr Beasley was confirmed dead by a paramedic at 10.32am.

Assistant deputy coroner, Andrew Barkley said: "Mr Beasley was a well-known and well practised user of illicit drugs.

"It was clear from evidence he was using both heroin and Phenazepam, which he ordered over the internet."

He recorded Mr Beasley had died as a result of an accidental drugs overdose.

He said: "At our last meeting we talked about all the heritage events we might hold on the Bailey Head on non-market days, such as inviting the re-enactors to perform in the coming season to promote the museum. Clearly the car park notion puts paid to that."

He said it was felt Bailey Head was a prime space for music. "It is not as if we lack car park space on non-market days," he said.

"With a little wisdom the town council could turn this 'unloved' space into a much-loved one for locals, families and visitors to enjoy."

Town campaigner Jools Payne added: "The town council is set to destroy all hope for what could be an imaginative, vibrant civic space at Bailey Head."

And Martin Anderson, chairman of Oswestry Chamber of Commerce, said: "We are blessed with having a historic town square and should be seeking to make the most of it – not turning it into another car park. I cannot see how this will help the market or the town as there are car parks nearby in any case."

But town mayor Councillor Cynthia Hawksley said retailers were supportive of plans for a short-stay car park in the area.

She said: "Reinstating car parking to the Bailey Head has been a longstanding aspiration for the town council."

"We are aware that retailers in Bailey Head are always supportive to the introduction of short stay car parking."

Grieving mother's race bid

Michelle Matthews will be running the Race for Life in memory of her daughter, Kimberley Jones.

A MOTHER from Oswestry who lost her teenage daughter to leukaemia will lace up her trainers for this year's Race for Life.

Michelle Matthews, of College Road, lost her daughter Kimberley Jones to acute myeloid leukaemia in February 2009. The 42-year-old now wants to raise cash for Cancer Research UK when she takes part in Race for Life at the Shrewsbury County Showground on June 26.

Kimberley was diagnosed with leukaemia in 2008 when she was 17. Her sister Amanda was a positive match for a bone marrow transplant but Kimberley died 30 minutes before a transplant was due to take place.

Mrs Matthews said: "We just never dreamt she could be so seriously ill."

The Shrewsbury Race for Life will be held in the evening for the first time and will start at 7.30pm. Organisers want to see 2,000 women and girls take part. Another Race for Life will be held at Telford Town Park on May 27. To enter either event visit www.raceforlife.org or call 0871 641 1111.

DOUBLE OLYMPIC gold medallist Dame Kelly Holmes is lending her name to a sporting and cultural extravaganza in Oswestry.

The middle distance ace has signed an Olympic T-shirt which has been donated as a prize for the Oswestry Games.

Sporting clubs, drama and art groups are working together to put on the sporting and cultural festival from July 6-15.

Included in the event will be sports fixtures, gymnastics and a cycle race.

Prize

Kelly's T-shirt, with other items signed by sports stars, will be a prize for the 10k race around the town.

BT, which has a call centre in Oswestry, is the official partner of the Olympic and Paralympic Games and has donated a number of signed Olympic memorabilia to the town event.

These include signed photos of world champion triathletes Alistair and Jonathan Brownlee, Paralympic runner Oscar Pistorius and Olympic silver medallist diver Leon Taylor.

There are also caps signed by gold medal winning sailors Ben Ainslie and Shirley Robertson.

Jon Hancock, one of the Oswestry Games organisers, said: "We were delighted to bits to get the memorabilia."

Clinical negligence on agenda at business club's meeting

Claire Tellis-Doherty

Emma Broomfield

CLINICAL negligence will be on the agenda at Wednesday night's meeting of the Oswestry Chronicle Business Club.

Emma Broomfield and Claire Tellis-Doherty are both employed in the clinical negligence department of Lanyon Bowdler solicitors and will be outlying implications for local business.

Held at The Qube in association with Oswestry Chamber of Commerce the meeting is open to all businesses in the Chronicle's circulation area.

The meeting starts at 7pm and follows on from the Chamber's March meeting which starts at 6pm.

Membership is free and you can register your business details to businessclub@shropshirestar.co.uk.

Deadline

Chronicle Associate Editor Graham Breeze will also address the meeting to outline entry details for the Oswestry & Border Chronicle's Business Awards with entries deadline to be in by March 16.

Chamber of Commerce members will be reviewing the past year's activities.

Chamber chairman, Martin Anderson, said: "We need to look at how far we have come as an organisation and discuss the year ahead."

"It will soon be time to elect officers for the coming year and it is very important that we widen the membership of the organisation.

"The past year has been a remarkable success and we need to build for the future."

Businesses both large and small will be celebrated at the awards ceremony

ENTRIES ARE now coming in to win honours in the Oswestry & Border Chronicle Business Awards 2012 as we search for the very best in business across our circulation region.

Launched with Oswestry Chamber of Commerce the awards will be held in conjunction with the Lion Quays Waterside Resort with an awards ceremony at the resort on Thursday, April 26 when finalists will be competing for six major trophies.

Whether employing a handful of staff or a workforce of hundreds; whether turning over thousands of pounds or millions of pounds; operating in a new service sector or a long established area of manufacturing, we want to hear from you.

The key ingredient is that your business must be mainly or wholly based in The Chronicle circulation area.

All the lucky finalists, together with our sponsors and other representatives from the business community will enjoy hospitality at the Lion Quays Resort in April when the winners will be announced and awards presented.

There will be awards for innovation, best use of digital technology, customer service and environmental awareness. There will also be overall awards for both small and large employers who can demonstrate successful business performance.

● HOW TO ENTER: The Awards competition, which is free to take part in, is open to all companies and organisations based in the distribution/circulation area of the Oswestry & Border Chronicle.

Decide which categories you would like to enter and check the criteria on this page. Write your entry using one side only of A4 sheets of paper up to a maximum of 500 words, explaining why your business deserves to win the award for that particular category.

Attach a new form for each category you are entering and send them as hard copy to: Business Club Awards 2012, Oswestry & Border Chronicle, 14 Salop Street, Oswestry SY11 2NU. Alternatively you can scan the entry form and email it with your entry of not more than 500 words to awards2012@oswestrychronicle.co.uk

Entries must be received by the close of business on Friday, March 16, 2012. No business may enter more than two categories in total. Sponsors cannot enter their own category. For more information call 01691 668094.

Categories at a glance

Green Business Award: Sponsored by Morris Cook Chartered Accountants

The judges are looking for companies that have balanced today's commercial demands with environmental awareness resulting in a positive impact on the business.

Innovation Award: Sponsored by Turner Peachey Accountants

This award is open to any company that has developed a new idea, product or way of operating which is completely different.

The judges will expect to see the impact this had on the business performance.

Best Use of Digital Technology: Arthurs Garages This award is open to any company that has been trading for at least 12 months and can show how digital investment, either as a supplier or end user, has transformed the business.

This might be a company where technology is the core activity or it might be an organization where information systems have had a significant impact on efficiency and/or profitability.

Customer Service Award: Businesses entering this category need to illustrate their commitment to, and achievement of, outstanding customer service. Everything an organisation does to win, satisfy and retain customers will be considered.

Best Small Business: Lanyon Bowdler Solicitors The award will go to a small business, up to 10 employees, demonstrating a high level of success in its sector.

It should be able to illustrate a competitive advantage and have plans for future expansion, including growing market share. Innovative, forward thinking and progressive are the best labels for this winner.

Business of the Year: Sponsored by Oswestry Chronicle & Oswestry Chamber of Commerce

The judges are seeking an established, successful business that has displayed an outstanding performance and become an example of best practice. The winning company will combine inspirational leadership with a dedicated workforce, creative marketing with a smart use of new technologies, product/service innovation with a first class commitment to customer service.

Town florist to host a wedding weekend

The Bryn Howel Hotel at Llangollen

Advertisement feature

A LLANGOLLEN florist is organising a weekend of wedding events for the town.

For over nine years florist Ruth Roberts from Belles Fleurs in Llangollen has been organising wedding fairs.

This weekend she will be staging events at The Bryn Howel Hotel and White Waters Country Hotel.

The Bryn Howel Hotel is the venue for a wedding open day on Saturday when the best local suppliers will be on hand to offer advice.

There will be the chance to meet friendly staff, explore the surroundings and arrange your big day in a stress-free way. There's free entry and parking, free goody bags, complimentary bucks fizz on arrival and a prize draw to win a honeymoon between 11am and 4pm.

Fair

On Sunday, March 4 Ruth's professional team has organised a wedding fair at the White Waters Country Hotel between 11am and 4pm. The area's best professionals will again be on hand with advice at one of the area's most popular wedding venues.

Ruth says her aim is to bring local reliable wedding professionals together to provide the best services for the area.

Belle Fleurs supply traditional and contemporary designs by qualified experienced florists.

"Our work inspires us everyday whatever the occasion," said Ruth. "It's our love of flowers and colour that gives us inspiration to create beautiful designs."

There's a range for that special evening out, a cocktail event or prom night as well as casual wear in sizes 8-26 at the Beatrice Street store in Oswestry.

Over 60 mother of the bride or bridegroom outfits are available in store at any one time, along with cruise wear and outfits for the races, and accessories to match.

Just The Right Thing offers a bespoke, made-to-measure collection available in 30 different styles, 30 colours, and in three different lengths in sizes 4-32.

The spring/summer collection is now in stock, with some lovely casual wear by Pomodoro, Tivoli and Tina Taylor.

There are also fabulous wedding outfits by Gina Bacconi, Michaela Louisa and Glitz, and a beautiful new collection of ballgowns, prom dresses, evening and cocktail wear by Jasmine.

Lovely gifts

Along with the outfits, new accessories are now in stock, with some beautiful designs in scarves, wraps and pashmina to update your spring wardrobe. New handbags and jewellery will complement your outfit or they will make lovely gifts!

Two brand new collections by Daisy May and Hunters and Gatherers are now arriving, which include print jersey dresses, maxi dresses, shift dresses and separates. Just The Right Thing is pleased to introduce the Mische handbag range. This is an ingenious idea, in which you change the cover on your bag and not the bag itself.

There is an introductory offer on this £60 for the bag and two covers. The bag base is available in black or brown and the covers are available in over 20 colours and designs.

On Monday, April 2, Just The Right Thing will be having an open evening, with bubbly and nibbles to celebrate the eighth anniversary. Go along and discover how to find 'Just the Right Thing'. Advice on colour and style is always available.

One-way system is reviewed

A QUESTIONNAIRE on Welshpool's controversial one-way system will be launched by highways chiefs over the next few weeks.

Powys County Council is currently reviewing the town's one-way system, which was opened last February to criticism from drivers and traders.

Councillor David Jones, who has been appointed to lead the review, said he hoped the questionnaire would give them a better insight into how people felt about the one-way system.

He said: "We have been reviewing the system for months and in the next few weeks a questionnaire will be carried out in the town to ask people their views."

"We have no idea how it's going to be conducted as yet but it will be done thoroughly."

"I understand there is a lot of ill feeling from traders about the new system and we need to note their views."

"I am not convinced it is the best system for Welshpool and I believe it's causing a lot of problems."

Meeting date

THE NEXT meeting of Welshpool and District University of the Third Age will take place on March 6 at 10.30am.

The organisation will meet at Welshpool's Church House. Doors will open for tea and coffee at 9.45am.

Campaigners vow to fight changes to social housing

CAMPAIGNERS who won a fight against plans to transfer council homes in Oswestry to a social landlord have vowed to battle new plans which would change how local authority housing is run.

Jean Danby, from Oswestry Defend Council Housing, said Shropshire Council 'would have a fight on its hands' in its plans to set up a new Arms Length Management Organisation (ALMO). She claimed the move was 'privatisation by the back door'.

The 75-year-old challenged Shropshire Council to give every tenant a signed legal document promising it would never sell the houses to prove its intentions.

Top rating for reopened pub

A PUB IN Oswestry has gained a top rating for its food and hygiene – just two months after it reopened.

The Castle Tavern on the Bailey Head, formerly known as the Eagles Inn, opened in December with licensees Julie Gibson and Paul Fitton.

They say they are delighted to have now been awarded with a five-star food and hygiene rating by the environmental health officer at Shropshire Council.

With lunches and special occasion events already on the menu, the pub will soon be offering evening meals in a bid to reach out to more people.

"We have returned to the pub's original name along with a totally new look inside and out, restoring the traditional pub ambience," Julie said.

"We plan to start evening meals soon and also hold the occasional event like race nights which are very much in keeping with a traditional pub like ours."

And Mrs Danby, who five years ago was instrumental in a campaign to stop the now defunct Oswestry Borough Council transferring council houses to a new body called Oswestry Housing Association, also challenged Shropshire Council to hold a tenants' ballot before any decision is taken.

But council chiefs today stressed the homes would remain in council ownership and said a full consultation will be held before any decision was made.

Mrs Danby said: "I know they will deny it but I think this is privatisation by the back door. If it is not, the council should give every tenant a legal document promising never to sell the houses. I know they won't do that and Shropshire Council needs to know it will have a fight on its hands."

Councillor Malcolm Price, cabinet member for housing at Shropshire Council, said: "This is an entirely different situation from when this group campaigned to 'save' council homes in Oswestry previously."

"There are no plans to change the ownership of the properties. There is actually nothing stopping the council from selling its homes to a housing association, but we feel setting up a new organisation to run them will result in a better deal for tenants."

"Moving to management in this way will enable tenants to take decisions, as well as being able to hold the council to account. No decisions have been made, and we will be running a major consultation."

Staff mark World Book Day

Staff from Oswestry Library have put up a display to mark World Book day coinciding with St David's Day, which is on March 1. With some Welsh themed books was library assistant, Jane Williams.

Great War soldiers to feature in online roll

SOLDIERS from Oswestry who served their country in the First World War will feature on a new online Roll of Honour.

It has been compiled from special reports published during the war and history enthusiasts behind the project say the information will be a valuable resource for families searching for what their long-lost relatives did on the battleground.

The details will be available when the Oswestry Family and Local History Group launches its new website next month. The website will be launched on March 5 and it will feature some of the results of research the history group has been carrying out, including the Roll of Honour.

The site will also provide advice to other people carrying out research on the area.

Information has largely been gathered from Halfpenny Specials, which were produced by the local press in Oswestry. The website may be found at www.oswestrygenealogy.org.uk.

Fun quiz date

A FUN quiz is to be held in aid of Whittington Community Centre on March 16 from 7.30pm. Tickets cost £12 for a team of four with supper included. A wine and beer bar will be available. For more details call (01691) 662116.

Richmond Harvey Properties have released the last remaining plot at Dove Meadow, Baschurch, a select development of luxury detached homes built to an exceptionally high specification. Plot 5 is a Cambridge house type with a guide price of £550,000. The five-bedroom home includes a lawned garden to the rear, ample driveway parking and a detached triple garage with a room above. Inside, an attractive porch with oak framed arch leads into the reception hall with oak flooring. There is a cloakroom, study/playroom with TV and telephone points, living room and dining room each with slate hearth and multi-fuel burner, and a utility with integrated washing machine and tumble dryer. The luxury fitted kitchen/family room features a wall-mounted flat screen television, American style fridge/freezer, range cooker, dishwasher and speakers set into the ceiling.

Patio doors lead from the family room to the conservatory with French doors to the rear garden. An oak staircase rises to the gallery landing off which are five bedrooms and a balcony. Three of the bedrooms have ensuite shower facilities, and the remaining two share the family bathroom. For more information or to arrange a viewing of this property, contact Richmond Harvey on 01691 654222 or visit www.richmondharvey.com

Spacious home has great country views

Council halves institute funding

TOWN COUNCILLORS have voted to halve the amount of funding they give to Llanfyllin's Public Institute after hearing it had a 'very healthy' bank balance – but have reassured residents they don't want to see the building close.

Llanfyllin Town Council has in the past given £1,400 a year to the venue to help it remain open and serve the community. The funding from the town council has been matched by Powys County Council in the past.

But town councillors were told at their monthly meeting efforts were being made to keep town council costs down.

They heard that the Public Institute had more than £20,000 in its bank balance.

Councillor John Brautigam said the town council should consider whether it wanted to carry on giving £1,400 to the institute.

He said: "I don't want to do anything to damage the public institute. It is quite the opposite actually, I think we all want to see it thrive.

"But the public institute's balance is very healthy and we must look at our budget."

"It is fair to say the town council is not going to be destitute by giving this money."

Councillors voted to back Councillor Mark Rosser's suggestion that this year's funding should be cut by half to £700 and that information should be passed on to the county council.

Town blueprint in need of volunteers

by Sue Austin

MORE VOLUNTEERS from every sphere of life are needed to help the town of Oswestry create its own neighbourhood plan.

Oswestry Town Council has agreed to project manage the plan – a blueprint for how the town should develop and what its priorities should be.

Now it wants volunteers to come forward and get involved. Recently Jake Berriman, Shropshire Council's Fears over shortage of community volunteers

COMMUNITY organisations in the Oswestry area could face a shortage of volunteers in the coming years because many are reaching retirement age, it has been claimed.

Fears have been raised over a lack of younger recruits to replace long-standing volunteers when they choose to retire.

The issue was discussed at a meeting of Oswestry Local Joint Committee – where some residents claimed they did not know where the new generation of volunteers would come from.

Clive Leworthy, a volunteer outreach officer for the Community Council of Shropshire, said there was a trend in the county for volunteers to be of retirement age. But he added during this current economic climate with a rise in unemployment there had been more people aged between 20 years old and 50 years old starting to volunteer.

Mr Leworthy said: "It is an issue. It is difficult to get young people."

Councillor Martin Bennett, Shropshire councillor for Oswestry East who attended the meeting in said: "It emerged there were concerns over where the next set of volunteers were going to come from."

head of strategic delivery, spoke to town councillors about generating some early momentum for the Neighbourhood Plan.

In a discussion with Mr Berriman it was decided that the action plan could look at working with young people, setting priorities for how to use any external funding, proposals for the management of open space and car parking and also traffic flows.

It was also decided to take a general look at the future of the town centre and also look at other ideas brought forward by volunteers.

The town council is also contacting planning consultants to look at how they could help with neighbourhood planning.

"Neighbourhood planning is not about houses but about real issues and identifying what those issues are, establishing what the options and priorities in addressing them are and the matching those priorities against funding and partner," said town council clerk David Preston.

The work would take those priorities forward towards the shaping of a Neighbourhood Plan with extensive involvement and engagement with further volunteers adding to the business and educational community's interests already established.

"The selection of being a neighbourhood plan frontrunner has placed pressure on Oswestry but being one of the first to deliver the government agenda could bring wider interest in the town."

"Professional support is necessary to help Oswestry to progress this challenging journey."

In bed with Tudors

Teresa Ecclestone, library area manager, is seen with a display for the event.

OSWESTRY Library will be giving people the chance to get In Bed with the Tudors this month.

On March 15 you can have a peek into the bed chambers of Henry the VIII's youngest wife when historical novelist Suzannah Dunn talks about her best seller 'The Confession' of Katherine Howard.

This is followed by expert needlewomen Cate Howell who will be describing her involvement in restoring bed hangings with the Corbet Bed Project.

The event starts at 7pm, tickets are £3 from the library and include refreshments.

Village drama group puts on Last Tango in Llansillin

AUDIENCES ON the Shropshire/Mid Wales border were entertained by the latest production by members of a village drama group.

The Players at Llansillin recently performed the show Last Tango in Llansillin. It was written by David Tristram, directed by Alison Beeston and adapted throughout to be set in the village.

The story began with the AGM of Llansillin Amateur Dramatic Society and the bad news that the hard-hearted manager of the village hall was about to evict them for non-payment of rent. They needed to create a blockbuster to save the day and draw in the crowds.

The evening's entertainment included musical interludes and two humorous poems.

Norma Garment read I'm Fine Thank You which was about the joys of getting older and Awel Jones read The Ambulance in the Valley.

During the night Martha Fensome performed a selection of fiddle tunes and Vera van Heeringen on the guitar playing four of her own compositions among others.

PALS formed in 2004 and put on one production a year.

Anyone interested in being involved in anyway, including acting, prompting or helping with props or costumes for the group, should call Alison Beeston on (01691) 791262.

Bunting for town streets

YOUNGSTERS in Oswestry will be asked to help create bunting to decorate the town's streets during this year's event celebrations.

Brownies groups in Oswestry have offered to make the decorations to put on the outside of Powis Hall, on Bailey Head.

Oswestry Town Council has set aside £1,000 for bunting and decorations.

It could stay up from late spring, through the summer and into early autumn as the town also celebrates various events including the Olympics and the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

Sensory sessions for babies launched

PARENTS ARE being invited to bring their babies to new classes that have been launched in Oswestry.

Helen Jones, from Shrewsbury, has set up the classes in Oswestry at The Venue, in Park Hall.

They will be full of activities, songs and time for play for the youngsters and a place for other mothers to meet up and have a chat. It is based on Baby Sensory sessions, based on helping a baby's development, which are held across the globe.

Ms Jones said: "Having loved the Baby Sensory experience so much I decided to bring it to the babies of Shropshire."

"I am looking forward to helping them as they experience the amazing first year of a baby's life as they learn and change so much."

Each week babies are given different activities to support their sensory development.

Concert date

OSWESTRY Sinfonia will perform at the town's Holy Trinity Church on March 17.

The concert starts at 7.30pm and the programme will include work by Faure, Vaughan Williams and Beethoven.

Chamber pulls the plug on late-night festive opening

LATE-NIGHT opening in the run-up to Christmas failed to pull shoppers into Oswestry and will be scrapped this year, business chiefs have announced.

But free afternoon parking in the week before Christmas did prove popular and it is hoped it will be extended.

Oswestry Chamber of Commerce had hoped the late-night shopping on a Friday in the town, which was introduced for the first time in December, would replicate the success of Shrewsbury's late-night shopping on Thursdays.

Volunteer call for challenge

VOLUNTEERS restoring the Montgomery Canal are launching an ambitious new event this year involving cycling, canoeing and hiking along the whole length of the waterway.

The Montgomery Canal Triathlon - Bikes, Boats 'n' Boots - will challenge participants to cover the 35-mile length of the canal in one day.

Medals will be handed out with bronze for covering one section up to gold for those completing the entire route.

The event, organised by the Friends of the Montgomery Canal, aims to raise money and raise awareness of the Maesbury Canal Festival on the 'Monty' on September 1 and 2.

It will replace the Dinghy Dawdle that has been held on the canal for more than 25 years.

Entry details can be obtained from Peter and Judith Richards, Canal House, Morton, Oswestry or by calling (01691) 831455.

But in a report to Oswestry Town Council, chamber chairman Martin Anderson said the Friday night scheme had failed to take off even though it linked in with a free parking deal offered by the town council.

He said: "With regards to the designated late-night Friday shopping, the general consensus was that businesses did not gain enough from this to make it worthwhile."

"The chamber will not seek support from Oswestry Town Council for late-night Friday parking in 2012."

Owned

But Mr Anderson said the free parking in the town council's car parks after 2pm in the week running up to Christmas had been successful and he hoped that Shropshire Council would allow a similar deal on the car parks it owned in Oswestry.

He said: "This was felt to be a real success with many retailers describing shoppers volunteering positive comments about it without being asked or prompted."

"It was noted that Shropshire Council were unable to offer free parking, we were very late in asking, and so there were some car parks not offering this which caused confusion for some shoppers."

"The chamber will undoubtedly request it again from both councils in 2012."

Pyjama pupils mark Sleep Week

Pictured are Rebecca Blaber, Charlotte Thomas, Daisy May Haining, Reuben Collett Hughes, Emma Willis, Poppy Mchenahan, Sophia Benbow and J J Humphreys Blaber.

CHILDREN AND staff at Morda Primary School near Oswestry turned up in their pyjamas as part of an unusual project.

The school has been focussing on the importance of a good night's sleep and everyone, including headteacher John Eglin, spent the day in their jim-jams during lessons.

A huge range of activities took place during Morda's Sleep Week including story-times, quilt-making, bedtime prayers, singalongs and yoga. Mr Eglin said the whole week looked at well-being and how a proper night's sleep contributed to good health.

He said: "It is a lot of fun and we have lots going on around the theme of sleep. Allowing the children to see staff in their pyjamas also helps break down barriers."

"We have been reaching out to the community and we have had visitors from the Woodlands Care Home come to the school to take part in story-telling classes."

"The message of the week was that sleep is very important for your well-being and general health and your happiness."

"Many parents will struggle with getting their children to bed and we have been looking at how children can be relaxed through reading."

Village is split over housing scheme

PLANS TO build affordable homes in Upper Hengoed, near Oswestry village near Oswestry have divided opinion in the community.

A total of 13 homes have been earmarked for Willowbank with eight of them being affordable.

The application has already won the support of Severnside Housing Association. And members of Selattyn and Gobowen Parish Council have also added their support on condition that the homes help local people.

The bid has attracted three letters of support from the public and seven letters of objection.

Supporter Nigel Simmons said: "This looks to be an excellent opportunity to provide affordable housing in an area where there is virtually none available and certainly none that younger people are able to afford in our outlying villages."

"The development appears to fit in very comfortably within the parish without significantly impacting on the existing services or the community and far from being detrimental would in fact strengthen the community."

Objector Phil Wood has raised road safety concerns in his letter to the council.

Shropshire Council hopes to determine the bid by March 23.

Members of band to aid future of field

MEMBERS OF a silver band from the Shropshire border are to help revitalise their local football field.

The Porthywaen playing field in the village near Oswestry has lain unused for many years.

Now the Llanyblodwel Parish Council, Shropshire Council, and representatives from the band, which meets in the adjacent silver band hall are in discussions over how the field can be used in the future.

At a recent meeting Gareth Johnson from the band said members would be delighted to be part of a management group, looking after the field.

He said he and others could see real possibilities to use it for recreational purposes. "The Cub Scouts have already approached us for a venue with camping space and the band hall and the playing field would be perfect for community events such as this," Mr Johnson said.

Grants are now being explored and it has been suggested that giving the field a name to link in with the Queen's Diamond Jubilee may help attract funding.

The latest update will be given at a meeting of Llanyblodwel Parish Council which will be held tonight, Thursday at 7.30pm in the Llanyblodwel and Porthywaen Memorial Institute.

Injury gave Angela chance to volunteer to help others

"I THINK IF there is a problem it has to be solved," says Angela Bright.

The 67-year-old from Chirk Bank has a heart to help others and this has spurred her on to take up many different roles within the community.

She is chairwoman of the Oswestry and District Access Group, a Weston Rhyn Parish Councillor for four years and chairwoman of the Weston Rhyn youth club – just to name a few of the 15 groups she is involved with.

These roles have seen her help raise hundreds of pounds for charity and persuade major town businesses to make their properties more accessible for the disabled.

Angela has lived in Chirk Bank for about 42 years after being brought up in Lower Hopton, near Nesscliffe. As a child she attended Nesscliffe Primary School and Baschurch Secondary Modern School. She then went on to work for companies in Shrewsbury including WH Smith and 13 years with a booking office.

"It was a lovely job," she said. "I like meeting people. I am a people person."

But she had to leave when, at 57, she fell on concrete resulting in back problems.

Support

With more time on her hands she decided to get involved in volunteering which she says is all thanks to the support of her husband Rod.

She first met Rod in Oswestry when she was 24 years old. They married and had two sons and a daughter. Sadly, one of her sons died of bone cancer.

"That was awful," she said. "It is something you can never really get over."

"I had a 15-year-old daughter who was heartbroken and a six-year-old son at the time. It was very hard to keep going."

"I think at first you are numb. It doesn't get better but I say you get by by thinking about the nice things that happened."

She also said her faith and involvement with the Chirk Bank Methodist Church was important.

Today, she still loves to help those in her community, be they old, young or disabled.

WOMEN OF SUBSTANCE

with Chrissy Symmons

"I enjoy doing it," she said. "I think when you finish work you have to have an interest in life. I think if there is a problem it has got to be solved."

"People with disabilities have so many obstacles in their way. I lost my own son and it makes you think that every child in life deserves a chance. Both my son and daughter are doing well but there are a lot of children that don't get the chance."

Anything she can do to help give them encouragement and make them feel worthwhile, then she will try to do it.

"I think there are so many people in this world wanting," she continued. "It is very difficult for people that have got young children these days and a lot of people in this area are on minimum wage."

Angela says the love and support of her family are very important to her.

"My sister is a great influence in my life. She is always there. I am also grateful to my sister-in-law and my many friends for their support. It is nice to have people to fall back on," she added. "It all helps."

Angela Bright, from Weston Rhyn Parish Council.

Disability group seeks to form new partnerships

AN ACCESS and disability group from Oswestry is working to forge links with other Shropshire town groups to try and get a bigger voice for those it represents.

Angela Bright is the chairwoman of Oswestry and District Access and Disability Group and hopes creating connections with groups in Ludlow and Shrewsbury could help people.

She has spoken to the other groups' representatives and believes they are open to the possibility of them all working together.

"I am trying to get stronger links with the groups," she said. "If there is a number of you then you tend to get things done. A lot of our issues are the same issues as in other towns and we could try and get things done across the county."

The group has already persuaded Oswestry's Wetherspoons and Sander branches to improve access.

Fashion show in aid of group

A FASHION show will be in Oswestry on March 29.

Doors will open at 7pm for 7.30pm and will be in aid of Oswestry District Community Support Group. Tickets cost £6 or £5 in advance and include a drink on arrival.

They can be bought by calling (01691) 671549.

Expert to give out free tips

GARDENING enthusiasts are being urged to go along to a garden centre near Oswestry to get free advice from a top horticulturist.

Royal Horticultural Society gold medallist Chris Channon and representatives from plant nutrition products suppliers Growth Technology will be hosting an Orchid Day on March 18 at Moreton Park Garden Centre.

They will be providing customers with free advice.

Mr Channon said: "I'm delighted to be representing Growth Technology at Moreton Park Garden Centre's Orchid Day."

"It gives orchid enthusiasts the chance to find out how to best look after their plants, as well as have any of their queries answered."

"People are welcome to bring their own orchids along during the day."

"I'll be able to give them a free orchid MoT during my orchid clinic."

The Orchid Day will take place from 10.30am until 4.30pm.

Mr Channon will host a combined Tropical Orchids for Beginners talk and reporting demonstration at 11am and again at 2pm.

Quiz evening

A QUIZ and social evening will be held at Oswestry Senior Citizens' Club in Lorne Street on March 6, starting at 7pm. The event, which will include a ploughman's supper, will cost £2.

Catching up with county's most famous beauty queen

by Toby Neal

SHE was a girl from St Martins who conquered Britain

Suzanne Younger was Shropshire's most successful beauty queen.

She won the Miss Wales and Miss United Kingdom titles in quick succession, then finished sixth in Miss World, in 1989.

Her face and figure were all over the papers. And while that brought its own rewards, it also helped lay the foundations for a successful career as a businesswoman.

Although Suzanne was brought up on her parents' farm at St Martins, she is actually Welsh, having been born in Chirk in 1965 and having a Welsh father.

She went to school at Chirk Convent (now demolished), and then Queens Park Girls School, Oswestry (also now demolished), where she chalked up a host of GCSEs. Both were small private schools. Then she attended Oswestry College and did a National Diploma and studied computers.

She worked for seven months as a computer demonstrator before becoming a full-time model at the age of 19.

Her various beauty titles – which included Miss Manchester United – were a source of pride.

"It was an excellent thing for anybody to win and financially it was very good for me. I had to take a year off to do Miss UK and once that was over I started modelling again. It didn't really help my modelling as it's two very different images and when my title had finished I cut my hair short and changed my image," she once said.

Aware her modelling career couldn't last forever, she set up Model Match model agency, specialising in fashion show production and photographic work, and later set up

Suzanne Younger becomes Miss UK in April 1989, only a week after winning the Miss Wales crown.

Intext, specialising in event co-ordination, corporate hospitality, product launches and so on.

Suzanne Jenkins, as she now is, is these days, according to her LinkedIn entry, co-director of Fabulous Fashion Shows and independent consultant with Arbonne International.

"I am an image consultant advising on clothes designs/styles and colours that suit the individual," she says on LinkedIn, and her specialities are listed as 'event organising, image consultant, hospitality, fundraising, consumer networking.'

As it happened, Suzanne's win in Miss UK in 1989 had a bonus for another local girl, as her Miss Wales crown passed to the runner-up, her friend Andrea Jones, of Ellesmere.

Town's car parks to be spruced up

TWO CAR parks in Oswestry are in line for a spruce-up.

Town councillors in Oswestry have agreed to spend a total of £2,865 in repainting all of the white lines on the Smithfield Street Car Park and the disabled bays and yellow hatching on the Central Car Park.

Work will also be done to replace heavy duty drainage channels on the Smithfield Street Car Park.

A report to councillors said the repainting was required to "enable structured parking and parking enforcements to be issued without compromising drivers or attendants."

It added: "The majority of the work is intended to be carried out on Sundays with some additional painting on Mondays or Tuesdays as appropriate."

Church hosts concert date

A PRE-EASTER concert of Bach and Brahms will be held near Oswestry.

The music recital will be held on March 23 from 7.30pm at Whittington Parish Church.

Music will be provided by international soloists James Barralet on the cello and Simon Callaghan on the piano.

Tickets cost £12 and are available from Whittington Post Office, by emailing whittingtonmusic@btinternet.com or by calling (01691) 657986.

Businesswoman Suzanne has enjoyed a long career in the modelling and fashion industry.

Osfest secures more big names for festival spots

by Chrissy Symmons

MORE NAMES have been added to the bill for Shropshire's star-studded festival Osfest.

Benjamin Francis Leftwich, who has been booked to play in Radio One's Live Lounge, and Dellah, who has sung vocals on chart-topping group Chase and Status' song Time, will be playing on the Saturday.

Osfest will take place from June 1 to 4 at the showground in Park Hall with rock group Razorlight already named as one of the main headliners.

Other acts during the weekend will include Hard-Fi and The Big Pink.

Organisers have been celebrating after selling hundreds of early buy tickets for the event, even before the main acts were announced.

This year will be the third annual festival and bosses claim it will be even bigger and better than before.

The event will also include a number of local bands performing on the stage with more than 500 unsigned bands already asking for a slot at the festival.

Organiser Carly Jackson said she was looking at unsigned acts from outside the county to take part too.

Tickets cost £69.50 for adults or £65 for under 16s from www.osfest.co.uk or by calling (01691) 680468.

The website also features a countdown clock so people can see how many days are left until the festival kicks off.

Artist to hold workshops

PEOPLE WISHING to develop their artistic skills are being invited to attend a series of art workshops near Oswestry.

Artist David Walker will host full day workshops at Kinnerley Parish Hall.

For more information call (01691) 682169.

Dave Sharp, on his way to Oswestry.

HE HAS shared the stage with Billy Bragg and The Right Reverend Jessie Jackson and tonight, he comes to Oswestry.

Dave Sharp, co-founder of punk-rock band The Alarm, will be performing at The Ironworks, in Church Street. His music has been described as 'everything from folk and blues to rock, country and punk'.

In the 1990s he started his solo career by making albums and touring America. In 1993 he played alongside other musicians in New York with an audience of 25,000 to celebrate the 80th birthday of folk legend Woody Guthrie.

In 2002 he returned to the UK to record his third solo album, The Power of Soul, which earned him solo recognition across the UK with British music critics.

Doors open at 8pm and the night costs £7 on the door or £5 in advance.

Thursday night is open mic night at Oswestry's The Griffin Inn from 8pm. This will be a regular event for people to play some music, sing a song and socialise with other musicians.

A night of live music will be taking place at The Ironworks on Friday with some local talent from Across Mid Wales. This week's instalment will see The Misty Blue Trio, String The Marionette, This Wicked Tongue and A Poetic Yesterday.

Friday night near Welshpool will see musician Joe

by Graham Breeze

Seager playing at the Lowfield Inn at Marton, near Welshpool. Seager plays and sings both old and new covers including hits from The Beatles, Snow Patrol, Razorlight and Rolling Stones. The free event starts at 8pm.

Sunday night near Llanymynech Rob Cook Williams Band will be at Golden Lion Hotel, in Llandysilio. They will be playing every Sunday night and for more information visit www.goldenlion.org.uk Theatre-lovers are invited to of Llanrhaeadr village hall for their latest production Billy Liar.

The Tanat Theatre is celebrating its 30 birthday and will be performing the play from tonight to Saturday and then March 8-10.

Tickets cost £5 for adults and £3 for children.

They can be bought from The Paper Shop, Post Office and Greatorex Stores in Llanrhaeadr and Upstairs Downstairs, in Oswestry or by calling (01691) 860497.

Enjoy Italian experience

ITALIAN FOOD and live music will take place at an art gallery in Oswestry.

The Willow Gallery is holding the Italian-themed event from March 24 until May 5. It will include artist talks and demonstrations in the gallery.

A spokesman for the event said: "Be transported to Italy through this exhibition of paintings, sculpture, prints and glass work by renowned British and International artists inspired and influenced by Italy and Italian Art."

Best seats in house for 41 Club

MEMBERS of Oswestry 41 Club had the best seats in the house when they learned about the history of the town's incredibly successful Attfield Theatre Company.

Theatre company vice chairman Peter Danby treated members to a potted history of the Attfield, which has been around since 1928 and they heard first hand from director Malcolm Congreve, of the many problems in organising a production.

The 41 club members were given a tour backstage, visited the suspended light and sound room and were shown the dressing rooms, before retiring to the Simla Restaurant.

Petition to reopen line

RAIL campaigners have launched a petition calling for the reopening of a branch line from Oswestry to Gobowen and onto Llangollen which was closed more than 50 years ago.

Oswestry residents want to see the link restored after it fell victim to line closures and massive reorganisation following the Beeching report in the 1960s.

Flea market

A FLEA market is being held at Welshpool Livestock Market on Saturday by campaigners against pylons, sub stations and wind farms. Opens 8.30am, £2 entry.

Peugeot hybrid is packing away awards for its eco-credentials

with Graham Breeze

It's not easy to claim a world first in today's ever changing motor industry but Peugeot have done just that.

The new Peugeot 3008 HYbrid4 is the world's first full diesel hybrid introducing a combination of diesel and electric power to UK roads.

The hybrid represents a breakthrough in technology and delivers huge benefits in cost of ownership. The drawback is a starting price of £26,995 meaning you'll need to do some careful sums to make sure the running cost savings are enough.

The combination of the fuel efficient 2-litre 163 HDi engine and a 37bhp electric motor is the optimal combination for a hybrid vehicle.

Previous hybrids have gone for a less fuel efficient petrol engine but this Peugeot gives you 74.4mpg, CO2 emissions from just 99g/km, reduced vehicle excise duty.

It's a strange sensation travelling without any sound in the electric mode but there are huge cost saving benefits.

The 3008 HYbrid4 is already packing away the awards. Following on from the coveted Diesel Car Magazine, 'Best Eco Car of the Year 2011', it has also been awarded a 2011 What Car? Green Car Award for the SUV category.

Having already sold out of the limited edition, the range now offers two versions: a 99g/km CO2 at £26,995 and 104g/km CO2 at £28,495.

New technology, an extensive list of features available as standard and a new driving experience are all virtues that will help retain a high level of desire in 3008 HYbrid4.

The model offers big benefits for the company car user with low fuel costs, low emissions, low BIK and for the company lower Employer National Insurance contributions, alongside an allowance for the company to offset 100% of the list price, in the first year, against its taxable profits.

In addition the 3008 HYbrid4 delivers 74mpg, 200 BHP, four wheel drive and electric mode. Peugeot's new HYbrid4 models represent a great opportunity for businesses and individuals to actively reduce their impact on the environment without the compromises normally associated with a low emission vehicle.

There's a chance to choose from four different modes of operating the car. There's auto, ZEV (zero emission vehicle), four wheel drive and sport – and changing from one style to the other is at the flick of a switch.

Changeover from the HDi diesel to the electric motor happens automatically due to a stop start system. The electric motor is fitted at the rear of the vehicle.

The model is distinguished because of headlamps with an integral bar of LEDs, providing daytime lighting. At the rear the spoiler has a two tone finish and chrome badging.

Inside the HYbrid4 breathes quality with aircraft cockpit looks and lots of space now expected from the crossover brand.

The gear lever is a key feature as well as the 7" colour display providing information on the flow of energy. The steering wheel, bearing the signature of the HYbrid4 is also an outstanding feature and I love the heads-up display which appears in front of the driver.

This really is a multi-purpose vehicle with a selection of different seating configurations and huge boot space. Dropping the split rear tailgate reveals the flat-floored boot. There's a parallel park assist for those tight spaces.

Peugeot has proved that it is possible to combine uncompromising environmental demands with driving experience – something not previously seen in a hybrid.

The model offers big benefits for the company car user

Sales controller Ben Phillips is pleased with Arthurs' performance

A record-breaking performance, again

The Oswestry and Newtown branches report record March registrations which has delighted both sets of sales teams.

Recently appointed Oswestry sales controller Ben Phillips was particularly pleased with the performance, especially as the 12 plate was the first new registration to be experienced since he joined Arthurs. He said the dealership had achieved a record order bank across the range and in particular through the new Astra GTC and 0% Flexible Finance.

"Customers have taken a special liking to the new Astra GTC, mainly due to its sporty looks and sporty drive. And the 0% Flexible Finance offer is proving to be a roaring success," he said.

Arthurs was now looking forward to the forthcoming launch of the new Zafira Tourer, a five door seven seater with a brand new specification range and new engine range.

"We believe this much anticipated new vehicle will also be highly popular with people who are already Vauxhall customers, but also those who haven't previously experienced the brand.

"I am pleased to say that Vauxhall cars are continuing to enjoy a truly purple patch in what is still a difficult market place and this is an extremely exciting time for the brand," added Ben.

Arthurs will shortly be receiving an award for their performance as Vauxhall's number one dealer in their district and for being in the top 25 dealerships throughout the country for Vauxhall customer excellence.

Isuzu takes pick-up model to the D-Max

Isuzu UK will launch an all-new pick-up in June 2012. In recognition of its fundamental upshift in performance, quality, efficiency and refinement, the new model bears a fresh name for the UK pick-up sector: Isuzu D-Max.

Building on the solid reputation that its predecessor created for the brand as a manufacturer of highly capable, robust, dependable pick-ups, the new Isuzu D-Max is the result of the most comprehensive new product development programme in the Japanese company's history.

The new Isuzu D-Max features aggressive and imposing exterior styling that reflects its exceptional load-lugging capacity, towing capabilities and off-road performance.

Emissions

Inside, driver and passengers will find a spacious and refined cabin featuring high-quality materials and an impressive standard specification.

Isuzu's new pick-up sees the introduction of extensively redeveloped common-rail diesel engines, which will deliver significantly improved emissions and fuel economy together with more flexible and accessible power and torque.

"The result of an exhaustive development process that included extensive research amongst customers around the world, the all-new Isuzu D-Max is an incredibly appealing package that will deliver in every key area that matters to those in farming, construction and other outdoor industries," said William Brown, General Manager of Isuzu UK.

"Available from June through a dedicated, expanding dealer network, this new model will reinforce Isuzu's strong reputation as the pick-up professionals. I'm confident that the new Isuzu D-Max will continue the record of impressive year-on-year sales growth that has seen the UK become the brand's number one European market," said Brown.

Spotlight on the Isuzu D-Max – more details will be released in March

Further specifications and details of the Isuzu D-Max will be released next month.

Mum's the word for comfort in Kia Carens

There are times when you need a vehicle that can be utilised for very different roles and one of these is a vehicle with easy access for my mum who is a little unsteady on her feet and finds it quite difficult to get in and out of cars.

The Kia Carens fitted the bill perfectly and she found no trouble whatsoever with wide sliding doors and lots of legroom in manoeuvring herself even with a walking stick adding an extra element of difficulty. In this respect the Carens was a God send. However, whilst this had been my major reason for using the

By Neil Ward

Carens I was struck by what a capable vehicle it is.

I had a long drive to the West Country so I was in a great position to test the comfort of the Carens. It performed flawlessly and was extremely comfortable with passengers in the rear making similar comments.

The engine fitted was the 1.6 CRDi which produces a respectable 126bhp. Coupled with an easy to use six speed box, which contains surprisingly high ratios the Carens is able to eat up motorway miles with consummate ease and makes this a very practical proposition for long haul journeys with the whole family. With fuel consumption of around 49 to the gallon it also doesn't need to break the bank.

Handling wise the Kia is fitted with 16inch alloys and 205 tyres and felt stable and planted a position that did not change when you added passengers and luggage.

Body roll which can be a problem on MPVs was minimal. Also on some of the roads on which we travelled which were a little potholed and that is being kind the suspension absorbed the bumps without protest and never felt unsettled which is a tribute to the Kia engineers.

Privacy glass

On the outside the Kia also looks a little different from the usual run of the mill MPVs and with the Quartz Black and the privacy glass it certainly stands out.

The rear side doors are operated electronically and provide great access to both the second and third row of seats. With the third row in the upright position there is some compromise in boot space but they are easily folded down and then you can put in pretty much anything you want. On the inside the black leather seats add to the overall quality feel of the car.

The dashboard is well laid out and everything falls easily to hand. The stereo was a little disappointing and although it was fitted with a six speaker system seemed to lack the eye for detail that the rest of the Carens has enjoyed.

Overall I enjoyed driving the Carens which surprised me as I am not a great fan of MPVs as they are usually a compromise too far but the Kia is different in that it feels a lot more of a car than the £18,995 on the road price would have you believe.

After a week of combined long distance and town driving with loading and unloading of copious amounts of luggage, plus dog and mum it performed perfectly and kept my stress levels down to a minimum. I cannot recommend it more highly than that.

Plenty of room for shopping or holiday luggage

Bluetooth and a super sat nav come as standard

Admiring glances – for the great value Legacy

By Sharon Walters

As I arrived back at the car park after shopping I noticed a couple of people pointing at my test car, nodding their heads in an approving way.

Putting my bags by the rear ready to load up they commented on how attractive the car was and asked me a few questions about it. Aside from the looks they were also impressed by the all-wheel drive system.

This wasn't the first time I had been asked questions about the Subaru Legacy – and all responses had been very encouraging on this smart tourer.

And I had to agree and also praise the way it handles, the interior finish and general adaptability. Put up against its opposition in the sector this is a car that does very well indeed, especially for the price.

I was driving the entry level in the Legacy Tourer range, the ES Nav, although you would never dream it was at 'bottom' of the pile for all that it offers which includes Sat Nav as standard and a choice of manual or CVT transmission.

At £21,995 on-the-road its specification is much higher than rivals.

It has a 150PS 2.0 litre petrol engine with the choice of a six-speed manual gearbox or Subaru's optional Lineartronic CVT transmission. I have driven both and cannot really put one above the other, although the CVT is so easy to drive.

Like all Subarus, the Legacy has permanent Symmetrical All-Wheel Drive system which makes it much more sure-footed than two wheel. Add to that the horizontally opposed Boxer engine with its lightweight and low centre of gravity and you get an excellent drive with plenty of driving engagement, comfort and safety.

Now back to that Sat Nav and no cheap version this. It is full colour with a long list of features including touch screen control, CD/DVD playback, integrated Bluetooth hands-free connectivity and steering wheel mounted controls. And the Bluetooth is easy to set up and use with very clear sound. Other standard features on the ES Nav model include automatic headlights and windscreen wipers, remote control central locking, dual zone climate control, one-touch fold down rear seats, alloy wheels, electrically adjusted driver's seat and a Thatcham category 1 alarm and immobiliser.

And yes, all for £21,995. Quite a list and I had to check all that on the price sheet as I couldn't quite believe it was standard.

The finish inside is a good standard, although perhaps a little bit plasticky in places, and there is so much room in front and rear and in the boot.

The engine produces 196Nm of torque and the six-speed manual takes 9.8 seconds to get to 62mph with a maximum speed of 120mph.

Official figures say it returns 32.8mpg on a combined cycle and I would say that is about right, and it produces 199g/km CO2. The CVT model has a 0-62mph time of 11.3 seconds and a maximum speed of 120mph. It produces 187g/km of CO2 and has a combined fuel consumption cycle of 34.9mpg.

It also has 5-Star Euro NCAP crash safety rating. A great car and well worth a test drive if you in the market for a reasonably priced tourer.

"Like all Subarus, the Legacy has permanent Symmetrical All-Wheel Drive system"

Rhianne on target for medal double

A TEN-STRONG team from Croesoswallt Archers took part in the North Wales Archery Championships in Deeside.

They acquitted themselves well, collecting two gold and four silver medals.

The junior archers were, again, the most successful with Rhianne Duggin winning a gold and silver medal in the Junior Double and Single Recurve Bow classes, scoring 471 in the latter. Natalie Grover was second in the Single Recurve Bow class with a score of 296.

The Owen brothers claimed a gold and silver medal each.

Thomas won the Junior Longbow category scoring 285, while his brother James took the silver in the Junior Recurve Bow competition with 505 points.

One of the most pleasing performances of the day was the silver medal awarded to Ian Grover who secured second place in the seniors' Compound Bow competition with a personal best score of 565 points out of a possible 600.

Ian took up the sport less than a year ago, which makes this performance quite exceptional.

Ian Glover – remarkable

Davies a winner in Wrexham

FORDEN runner Andrew Davies has been confirmed as the winner of last weekend's Wrexham Half Marathon, despite confusion caused by someone changing route signs.

Organisers have apologised after accusing "someone with malicious intent" of changing signs to send runners the wrong way.

Davies, who also plays football for Montgomery Town, finished sixth on the day but organisers realised that the five runners in front of him had taken the shortened route as a result of the sign change.

"Wrexham AAC apologies for the disappointing events at the 2012 Wrexham half marathon," said a statement.

Adele putting champion form to the test

Adele Nicoll – record breaking start to the season.

RECORD-breaking shot putter Adele Nicoll has been in champion form with some stunning displays to underline her credentials as one of the country's top young athletes, writes JOHN BRIDGWATER.

The 15-year-old from Welshpool, who now flies out for the World Indoor Throws Challenge in Vaxjo, Sweden, has enjoyed an exceptional indoor season with a string of personal best performances.

Her latest achievement came just a few days ago when she won the ladies under-17 shot putt crown in the England Indoor Championships at the NIA in Birmingham with a throw of 13.14m.

It underlined her ranking as No1 in the UK for the age group, and is now seventh in the all-time UK rankings.

Adele, a former Oswestry Olympian who is now a member of Birchfield Harriers, started the year by winning the under-17 shot putt at the Indoor North Wales regional championships at Deeside with a personal best throw of 12.78m with the 4kg shot. This throw was also a new championship best performance.

The Welshpool High School pupil, coached by Andy Brittain, was then invited to guest in the senior ladies shot putt competition in the Indoor Celtic Cup at UWIC in Cardiff.

She threw a new personal best of 13.33m and went on to win the competition, which is a massive achievement for someone of her age.

This month, again in UWIC in Cardiff, Adele took part in the Indoor Welsh Championships, and won the under-17 shot putt by setting a new championship best performance of 13.04m.

She went on to take part in the under-17 shot putt in the Indoor Midland Counties Championships held at the NIA in Birmingham where she won gold with a personal best throw of 13.49m.

The youngster has now won every indoor championship title for each competition she has taken part in, and her progress has put her well on target for throwing 14 metres this year.

Adele has been given a boost after landing sponsorship from Midlands leading private equity provider LDC, while she has also received sports awards from the Ron Pickering Memorial Fund and Montgomeryshire District Sports Council.

Medals joy for border students

WELSHPOOL High School have topped the medal table at the Powys Secondary Schools Judo tournament.

Their students picked up three gold and two silver medals at the tournament that was hosted by Newtown Judo Club.

Crickhowell High School took second place overall with Llandrindod High School in third.

The competition is the latest event to be completed in the Powys Games - a series of competitions inspired by London 2012.

Gareth Oldham, Powys County Council's sports development manager stated: "Judo continues to go from strength to strength in Powys. We are fortunate that there are some very dedicated coaches in our judo clubs which has resulted in good participation levels as well as some outstanding talent."

Richard Jones from Irfon Judo Club added his appreciation to the organisers of what he felt was a fantastic event.

"The tournament was very well organised," he said.

"And the Gemau Powys Games medals were really appreciated by all the young judokas that made it onto the podium."

Adrian is on cue for European challenge

AN OSWESTRY hot-shot has earned his place in the Welsh team that will be competing in the European Eight Ball Pool Championships in Yorkshire at the end of March.

Adrian Nagington, who lives in the town, qualified following consistent displays in the North Wales Open tour last year.

The 24-year-old will now take his place in the team for the Black Ball rules competition which will be held in Bridlington from Tuesday, March 27 to Saturday March 31.

Adrian currently represents the south Clwyd county team who play their home games at the Stanton in Chirk.

He has played for Wales in the past in world rules at under-21 level, but this will be his first appearance under the Black Ball rules when he will be competing in the B2s.

Also getting recognition is Oswestry's John Vaughan who will have the honour of managing the Welsh B2 team against the likes of England, Scotland, Ireland and France.

Both players will be keen to make an impression in the tournament later this month.

Olly Olympics hopes boost

NORTH Shropshire's Olympic hopeful Oliver Townsend made a flying start to the eventing season by winning the Ballindenisk CCI three-star event in Ireland.

Duddleston Heath-based Townsend guided Arctic Mouse to victory with a points score of 43.6.

Weakened Oswestry pegged back as title race warms up

PROMOTION hopefuls Oswestry remain top of the South Lancs/Cheshire Two despite their 18-3 loss at Crewe and Nantwich – but the title race is hotting up with just two points now separating the leading three sides.

The Eagles knew they had a fight on their hands against their title rivals who are unbeaten at home this season, and their cause was not helped by the absence of six players.

Undaunted, the border side were up for the battle as third placed Crewe made a rousing start with a large, noisy crowd behind them as well as having the wind in their favour.

The Oswestry defence held strong with Gaz Jones and Sam Martin making numerous tackles as they weathered the early storm.

They started to have some good ball, and excellent out-of-hand kicks from Andy Howell, and the hard running of Ollie Wilford, Mike Keavney, Nathan Parker and Andrew Smith made good yardage, taking their side into the hosts' half as the game started to level out.

However, Crewe took the lead midway through the half with a dubious penalty awarded 35 metres out in front of the posts.

Moments later, the hosts were back on the attack and, after numerous tackles by the Oswestry side, they spun the ball wide for a try in the corner to make it 8-0.

Reliable Oswestry were in no mood to surrender, and soon Andy Howell had the backs of Luke Parks, Gaz Morris and Gaz Hughes making yards out wide and linking well with the back row of Guy Howell, Graham Fox and Sam Wright.

Just before half-time, their efforts paid off when they were awarded a penalty 40 metres out and the reliable Andy Howell duly converted.

Head coach Scott Sturday made some positional changes moving three players around and Oswestry were on the attack after the break.

Shield hammering for Eagles seconds

OSWESTRY II crashed out of the Raging Bull Shield in emphatic manner after suffering a 77-0 quarter-final exit at the hands of Rochdale.

After losing several players to the first team who were short on numbers, the Eagles were always going to be up against it even before the first whistle last Saturday.

And they had little to show for their efforts in the long trek to Lancashire with a strong Rochdale side dominating much of the encounter.

Oswestry will be anxious to shrug off that defeat when they host high flying Wiltshire III in the University of Salford NWL League Division Four (south) on Saturday as they bid to keep their promotion bid on the boil.

and Guy Howell were held up close to the line and just as they looked like a score was going to come, the referee intervened to release the constant pressure.

The Crewe defence continued to hold strong and they gave themselves some breathing space midway through the half when their right wing went over following a move from deep and a mix-up in the visiting defence.

Trailing 13-3, the Eagles came back at Crewe with the centres Martin and Wright making good runs only for the home side's scrambling defence to keep them out.

But it was Crewe who sealed an 18-3 win with the try of the match when the Oswestry defence was cut apart.

Oswestry now have a one-point lead over Ruskin Park.

"We have got Dolgellau in our last game of the season, but we need them to slip up before then," he added.

"I can't see them losing their games before they play us, all we can hope for is that they don't pick up bonus points which will give us something to hang onto for when we play them."

COBRA will look to keep up the

Rugby legend at school

ELLESMERE College Sevens rugby team had the opportunity to have a training session with a former rugby union fly half who played for both Argentina and Italy.

Diego Dominguez spent an afternoon with senior rugby players at the school, and joined a training session, leading a few of the sessions in which he shared his expertise much to the delight of the young players.

After two appearances for Argentina, Dominguez made his Italian debut in March 1991 against France and was their fly half in three World Cups in 1991, 1995 and 1999.

He achieved 74 caps for Italy and although he announced his retirement in 2000 he was persuaded to return as there was no heir apparent.

He played his last game for Italy in 2003 against Ireland and since then has spent much of his time encouraging young players around the world to develop their rugby playing skills.

Ian Williams, College director of sport, commented: "The visit and training session was very worthwhile."

"It was very motivational and thorough emphasising the need for team-play, he will have had a good effect on those who participated."

Ton-up COBRA celebrate biggest victory

RECORDS tumbled as COBRA shrugged off their recent cup woes with an eye-catching 107-0 hammering of struggling Wrexham to maintain their title bid in the Welsh League division two (north).

Having seen their Swalec Bowl hopes dashed with the previous week's disappointing 22-14 exit to Tycores, the Meifod men made the perfect riposte in their biggest win in their history.

Wrexham, propping up the bottom of the table, were put to the sword as they head towards certain relegation after suffering a 17-try blitz, 11 of which were converted.

COBRA coach James Watkin said it was the perfect way to bounce back, with victory keeping his second placed side hard on the heels of leaders Dolgellau.

"Having not put in a performance in the Swalec Bowl the week before, it was good to put it behind us and get a win like that," he said.

"Wrexham have lost a lot of players, they were unrecognisable from the side we played earlier in the season."

"But we played well, it was a good, disciplined performance. The tendency is when the tries flow, players start to take liberties, but credit to the lads, they were very disciplined."

"We've scored 80 points a few times, we may have scored 90 but we have never got past the 100 mark so it was pleasing to do it."

The victory sees COBRA move to within a point behind leaders Dolgellau who have a game in hand, and Watkin believes his side are still very much the title outsiders despite last week's romp.

Bonus

"We have got Dolgellau in our last game of the season, but we need them to slip up before then," he added.

"I can't see them losing their games before they play us, all we can hope for is that they don't pick up bonus points which will give us something to hang onto for when we play them."

COBRA will look to keep up the pressure when they entertain Colwyn Bay on Saturday, a side they have already defeated in the Swalec Bowl this season.

Having scored so many points last week, they will be wary of being over-confident against a side with little to play for.

The tries were shared out last week, with COBRA 50-0 up at half-time and were 100-0 ahead before scoring a converted try with the last play of the game.

Wrexham rarely threatened, although they did knock on from one opportunity, but most of the action was at the other end of the field.

There were seven tries for the forwards with prop Andy Evans and No8 Dorian Lloyd both scoring two touchdowns, while flanker Aled Davies, hooker Endaf Jones and second row Rhodri Evans also went over.

In the backs, scrum half Alwyn Williams crossed twice while also landing 11 conversions in a personal 32-point haul.

Centre Frazer Roberts and wing Richard Jones also went over twice, while the tally was completed by further scores from full back Rhodri Davies, fly half Matthew Jones, winger Matthew Griffiths and replacement wing Jordan Henderson.

The night before, COBRA's second string went down 42-5 at Llandudno II.

Morda title hopes rekindled after Newport slump

TITLE outsiders Morda United look to seize their chance when they travel to high flying Newport in Saturday's crunch County League premier division clash.

Despite trailing Newport by 13 points, they still have three games in hand and have a flicker of hope after the leaders suffered a 2-0 defeat at Church Stretton last week.

And the Weston Road men can make the trip in good heart after defeating their rivals in the Shropshire Challenge Cup just two weeks ago.

"With Newport losing last week, it has given us a glimmer of hope so Saturday is a massive game," said boss Craig Rogers. "If we can win, we're right back in it."

Morda go into the encounter on the back of a comfortable 4-0 victory over Broseley Juniors last week that saw them consolidate their top seven position.

The hosts won at a canter, with three first half goals putting them in charge, two from Dan Graham and one from Shaheen Miah.

Despite playing the second period with 10 men, Broseley restricted United to one further goal with Guy Guilford capping a fine debut with a superb effort midway through the half.

Buoyed by their County Cup victory over Newport, Morda dominated play from the start with Dan Graham and Harry Davies both going close before the former shot home the opener on 25 minutes.

As in the reverse fixture, George Turner was forced to leave the field following a tackle, with his replacement being debutant Guilford.

Miah, who scored directly from a corner against Newport the previous week, then showed that his left foot was equally deadly when he fired home a direct free kick on the half-hour.

A deliberate handball on the line by Broseley substitute Mark Gallagher gave referee Graeme Sutton no option but to issue a red card and a penalty, Dan Graham making no mistake from the spot for a three-goal interval lead.

The Weston Road men continued to take the game to the visitors after the break with Miah taking advantage of the extra man with some surges upfield.

Dan Graham was unlucky to see a header deflected for a corner, Jack Hughes shot over and Dean Graham had a shot saved before hard-working substitute Guilford marked a fine debut goal when irring home after waltzing past three defenders.

Miah was unlucky to see another free kick deflected for a corner before substitute Carl Harris saw his shot cleared off the line.

Saints in last four again as they stay on silverware trail

FOOTBALL
by John Bridgwater

Airbus UK 0 The New Saints 1 (agg 1-3)
THE New Saints sealed their second semi-final place in the space of just four days with a slender victory at the Airfield in the Welsh Premier League Cup.

Having reached the similar stage in the Welsh Cup last Saturday, the Saints stayed on course for more silverware on Tuesday night as Sam Finley scored his first goal for the club since signing in the January transfer window.

Chris Seargeant's 13th minute corner from the left was hooked back across goal from the byline by Phil Baker, and Finley stabbed the ball across the line from close range despite being on the ground.

The only goal of the game was enough to earn TNS a 3-1 aggregate passage in the quarter-final tie as the holders look to lift the trophy for the fourth successive season.

Comfortable

Craig Jones went close to adding to the tally when twice denied by the woodwork in the first-half of a comfortable win.

First, his stinging angled drive from the edge of the box was tipped onto the bar by Airbus keeper Niki Lee-Bulmer and Jones then lobbed the keeper only for his effort to rebound off the far post.

In an uninspiring second period, Finley again went close and Chris Marriott powered a 22-yarder over the bar. Jones had another effort well saved by Lee-Bulmer and then brought another super save after a good run into the box.

Airbus created half chances for Jon Bathurst and Eddie Hope but keeper Paul Harrison was rarely troubled, although substitute and former Saint Craig Whitfield almost nicked a goal in the final moments.

Also through to the last four were struggling Newtown who were 5-1 (6-2 aggregate) winners over Bangor City at Latham Park, Luke Boundford netting twice for the Robins

The New Saints march in to semi-finals

The New Saints 1 Neath 0
NEW SAINTS head coach Carl Darlington hailed mission accomplished after his side marched through to the Welsh Cup semi-finals with a solid victory at Park Hall.

With chances few and far between, the Oswestry hosts produced the main moment of note on 37 minutes when top scorer Greg Draper netted from close range.

Ryan Fraughan played a short corner with Tom Roberts, the winger then curled his cross from the right to the back post for Steve Evans to head across goal, with Draper there to nod in from point blank range.

Darlington hailed the disciplined showing, as the TNS sent Neath slipping to their first defeat under new boss Kristian O'Leary.

As well as booking their ticket for the last four, victory also avenged a disappointing 2-1 loss against Neath a month before.

Darlington said: "When we played Neath in the league, we conceded a couple of poor goals, but we defended very well on Saturday and were well organised."

"It was a good performance from everybody and, most importantly, we kept another clean sheet.

"It was a tight game, but I felt we were in control for most of it."

Both sides made a lively enough start, but the tie never really came to life as defences ruled the roost for the most part.

Draper was presented with a golden chance on five minutes, but forced a fine low one handed save from Lee Kendall with just the goalkeeper to beat from 10 yards.

Former Wrexham and Swansea City star Lee Trundle produced some early sorties for Neath, the striker blazing one effort over while seeing a deflected free kick well saved by diving home goalkeeper Paul Harrison.

Trundle forced Harrison to parry another powerful effort, before Neath's early promise began to fade as the encounter became something of a stalemate.

Defender Steve Evans, back in the starting line-up, sent a powerful header just wide from a Fraughan corner, with Draper picking up a knock to the head in the same incident.

Fully recovered, Draper - having previously given the Saints the lead - also planted a free header over the bar moments later from another Fraughan corner late in the first-half.

The second period witnessed little goalmouth incident of note, as both defences moved to snuff out any real threat.

Chris Jones did produce a couple of promising runs for Neath but there was no end product, as the visitors struggled to up their game despite forcing Harrison into one timely save.

At the other end, Draper, Roberts and Nicky Ward all went close to killing the game off with a second goal.

Rhyn closing in at top Rousing Rangers rally

WESTON Rhyn lifted themselves into second spot in the County League division one after recording a 4-1 home success over lowly Hopesgate.

With Hanwood reserves only managing a 3-3 draw at Brown Cle, Paul Lunt's side took full advantage to stay in range of unbeaten leaders Alliscot who were 4-3 winners at Wroxeter Rovers.

Alliscot's lead has been trimmed to four points after being deducted three points for fielding an ineligible player, ironically against Weston Rhyn earlier in the season.

With the incentive of booking their place in next season's newly-formed league for premier division clubs, Rhyn will be keen to keep up the pressure on Saturday in a crunch clash at close rivals Hanwood.

They took the game to their visitors right from the off last week, and carved a succession of chances before eventually going ahead midway through the half when Mark Lunt converted after Ryan Leightwood had crossed following good work from the right.

Lee Phelan then struck the post before Leightwood added a second in bizarre manner just before half-time. After being refused a free kick when he appeared to be fouled just outside the box, he lashed out at the ball in anger and his shot deceived the keeper and flew into the net.

Hopesgate pulled one back after the interval with a harshly awarded penalty, but Rhyn continued to carve chances and scored twice more to seal the win.

Lunt got his second of the game when firing across the keeper from the left and substitute Jordan Gerrard bagged the fourth late on.

HAVING made a dreadful start, Ellesmere Rangers reserves roared back to salvage a 4-4 draw at Ketley Bank in the County League premier division.

Three goals inside the first nine minutes left Ellesmere facing a mountain to climb, but they rallied to such an extent that they were left to reflect on not taking all three points.

"When you're three goals down in nine minutes you'd take a point but Ketley Bank would agree that they were fortunate to get a draw at the end as we had enough chances to have won, particularly late on," said boss Dan Stevens.

With several players missing, Rangers - looking to bounce back from their 3-1 County Junior Cup exit to Oakengates earlier in the week - paid the price for some early indecision as the third placed Telford hosts opened up a three-goal lead.

But they hit back with Mike Jordan scoring twice to reduce the arrears to 3-2 at the break and Matt Swift then made it 3-3 after the interval.

Ketley then got their noses back in front, but Kieran Barry earned parity.

Rangers now host form team Church Stretton on Saturday, which Stevens feels will be a good measure for his side who will be out to get back to winning ways. They won 6-0 at Stretton earlier in the season, but the return promises to be far closer.

OSWESTRY LIONS, without a game last weekend, are back on the pitch on Saturday when they host lowly Hopesgate United as they bid to cement their top five position in division one.

Guils face frontline concerns

TWO goals from striker Ian Andrews sentenced Guilsfield to their fourth home Cymru Alliance defeat of the season as they slipped to a 2-0 home reverse to struggling Penyrh.

With their recognised front runners ruled out, the Powys hosts lacked a cutting edge as Andrews struck twice on 42 and 78 minutes to seal a vital win for his side. They huffed and puffed, Mark Davies heading against the bar, but their second half efforts failed to earn any reward as the villagers remain in the lower reaches of the table.

Guilsfield are attempting to solve their striker crisis by re-signing frontman Will Thomas from Rhyl.

The club have put seven days in for the striker who only left them in January, but he is unlikely to return. Defeat was particularly disappointing for local rivals Llannhaeadr who are now six points adrift of safety.

Underdogs Morda set tough task

MORDA United boss Craig Rogers believes his side have nothing to lose after being drawn against favourites Ellesmere Rangers in the Shropshire Challenge Cup semi-finals.

It is the toughest tie possible for the Weston Road men against the highest ranked side left in the competition, but the County League premier division underdogs will give it their best shot against the Midland Alliance outfit.

"Ellesmere are clear favourites, and no-one really expects us to get through as we're the outsiders, so we can go there with the pressure off and nothing to lose," said Rogers.

The tie will be played at Wem's Bowen Sports Field on Wednesday, March 21.

Bridgnorth and Whitchurch Alport have been paired in the other semi-final, the tie to be played on Tuesday, March 20, with the venue to be confirmed.

Lilywhites count to ten after seeing red

WELSHPOOL Town boss Dave Jones admitted his side pressed the self destruct button after their prospects of avoiding the Spar Mid Wales League division one basement faded in dramatic style.

Lying second from bottom, the Lilywhites harboured hope of much-needed points when they travelled to fellow strugglers Towy Brynrcyng.

But, after having two players sent off inside the first few minutes of the second half, including goalkeeper Calum Henegan for a challenge outside the box, they succumbed to a crushing 10-0 defeat.

"It doesn't rain but it pours," said Jones. "Although 2-0 down, we were still in the game at half-time but it all went wrong in the first few minutes of the second half when we had our goalkeeper sent off."

"If that wasn't bad enough, almost immediately we had left winger Gary Kibble sent off for a two-footed lunge and we had to play the last 43 minutes with nine players."

Tywyn took full advantage to rattle in eight more goals past stand-in keeper Ben Hendeman, piling more misery on the Lilywhites who will be desperate for some cheer from their remaining four games.

Jones now has the task of finding a goalkeeper for his team's next action at home to Builth Wells a week tomorrow.

Eagles aim to fly again Pool eye winning return

TABLE-topping Oswestry will be keen to avoid any more slip-ups when they head to Marple in rugby's South Lancs/Cheshire Two on Saturday.

The race for the title and promotion has been thrown wide open after the Eagles suffered an 18-3 loss at third placed Crewe and Nantwich last week, a defeat that means that just two points now separate the top three clubs.

Points again promise to be hard-earned against a Marple side that has lost just once at home this term, but the border side need to get back on track, particularly as title rivals Crewe and Ruskin Park come face to face this weekend.

Oswestry were hampered by the absence of six of their personnel for last Saturday's rearranged encounter at a Crewe side who have not tasted defeat on home soil this term.

"Had we won, we would have been looking good for promotion, but as it is the pack has now closed up again and it's all to play for," said Oswestry chairman Steve Charmley.

"We stuck at it well despite having to make six changes from the previous week."

"Crewe had some strong running backs, but did not take what opportunities we had."

"But we now need to put that result behind us, and focus on the task ahead and winning Saturday's game against Marple. We've done it before this season, and I'm confident we can do it again."

AFTER a six week lay-off, Welshpool's rugby players return to the pitch in confident mood as they bid to maintain their improvements in the Welsh League division three (north).

Before their enforced break, the Maesyddre men reeled off back-to-back wins and will be hoping to make it three in a row at home to Menai Bridge on Saturday as they look to push into mid-table.

Victory would take them above their visitors who lie just one point above, but having played one more game.

"They were not a bad side when we played them there, but like a lot of teams we're hoping they don't travel too well," said Pool coach Frank Johns, whose team's last action was back on January 21.

"When we went there earlier in the season, we had a young experienced side. It is a 100-mile trip, and we ended up losing 39-15, but a couple of late tries made the score look worse than it was."

"We're a lot stronger at home than away, and we're looking to turn that result around on Saturday."

Pool have four games remaining this season, with three at home to Menai Bridge, Harlech and Flint which they will be confident of winning to finish the campaign on a high.

Despite the lay-off, Welshpool have trained when possible, and when the weather has been against them using the pitch, they have also had run-outs in the gym.

While the Powys hosts have been kicking their heels, Menai Bridge have managed a couple of outings, both of which they have lost by narrow margins.

Rangers rocked by late winner

THERE was late heartbreak for Ellesmere who fell to a 2-1 Midland Alliance defeat at home to Causeway in mid-week, with the visitors snatching a 92nd minute winner.

Steve Towers had given the hosts a first half lead with a header, only for Causeway to level with a deflected goal after the break.

The game turned with 20 minutes remaining when Dan Griffiths was controversially dismissed for a challenge, and the visitors' late winner made for a disappointing night for Ellesmere.

"The lads put so much in and to lose so late was gutting," said boss Matt Burton.

"I feel really sorry for Dan because it was just a whole-hearted challenge and I didn't even think it was a foul."

Meanwhile, Burton hailed Ellesmere's spirit after they scraped a last-gasp 1-0 victory against Loughborough last Saturday.

Kevin Renshaw's 86th minute penalty - after Craig Farr was pushed in the box - sealed a narrow win to keep Rangers clear of the Midland Alliance drop zone.

Bell book Cup place

OSWESTRY BELL have taken the last place in the quarter-finals of the Shropshire Sunday Premier Cup.

A penalty from Andrew Webb and goals from Shaun Humphreys and Dan Graham helped the Bell run out 3-0 winners over Telford Sunday League outfit Malar.

And the North Shropshire Sunday League side now face a tough task against Shrewsbury Sunday League Premier division champions Instones in the last eight.

Welsh call-up for Sarah

Welsh chance - Sarah Grace Spencer

MORETON Hall student Sarah Grace Spencer has landed international recognition after being selected for the Welsh lacrosse squad.

The 15-year-old has been called up for the Wales under-18 B squad for the home international after making her mark in recent trials.

Sarah, from Hope in Flintshire, has played lacrosse for four years, and needed to be at her best during three selection weekends held over a period of two months. Around 50 girls took part with only 25 selected in total.

The teenager feels playing at Moreton Hall School has helped her in her international ambitions.

"Moreton has the strongest team I have played with, or against," said Sarah, who also plays for the Wirral Lacrosse Club twice a week with a match every week, combined with the same schedule at Moreton.

"The World Championships are held in four years, it is my ambition to play in the squad."

Denro keeping it in the family to achieve success

Advertisement feature

FORMED in 1985, Denro Power Services Ltd prides itself on being a family owned and controlled company, which has experienced annual growth by offering a specialised and comprehensive range of services.

In 1995 Denro Power Services purchased a property on the Battlefield Enterprise Park from where the company still operate from and supply a range of products and services which satisfy the industrial, commercial and agricultural markets.

Managing director Denver Rogers said: "Our value is simply to offer our customers a personal and competitive service"

"We became a Donaldson Filtration distributor in 1998 and awarded 'Premier Distributor' status when Donaldson reorganized their network from 52 to 12 UK distributors."

Manufacturers

Donaldson Filtration are 'original equipment' to the majority of engine and equipment manufacturers such as Caterpillar, Perkins, JCB, DAF, Volvo, Massey Ferguson, Yanmar, John Deere etc, the aftermarket filters, therefore, are of 'OE' quality. Denro power Services are also filtration distributors for Baldwin, Luber Finer and Sogefi.

Power generators are a major part of the company, power range from 1kva to 1000kva can be supplied and installed if required with various options such as open or silenced canopied, automatic mains failure, Synchronized etc.

The list of companies and organisations Denro Power Services has supplied and installed power generators to is comprehensive, including the SAS in Hereford, Southern Water, Bromsgrove District Council, Shrewsbury Council, RAF, Harper Adams, London Fire Brigade, AGA and many more.

Mr Rogers added: "We are prepared to carry out an on-site visit and evaluate the customer's requirements. We will then advise the customer and submit a technical quotation report." Systems offered include a generator, battery bank and an inverter. This system is designed for properties with no incoming mains and once the initial outlay is made the system operates very economically. If onsite portable power is required then Denro Power Services operate a fleet of road tow silenced generators from 15kva to 60kva, cables and distribution boards are also supplied.

These generators are ideal for outside functions such as marquees, shows and festivals and since they are enclosed within a silenced canopy noise pollution is minimal.

Denro Power Services are suppliers of Perkins engine parts, Generators parts, control modules, industrial batteries, inverters, welder generators, petrol driven water pumps and much more. "We will be exhibiting at several agricultural shows in Shropshire throughout 2012 and will be pleased to meet and discuss with anyone interested in the services we have to offer," said Mr Rogers.

Fine bathrooms and kitchens to suit all budgets

AFTER five years at a showroom in Lancaster Road, Shrewsbury, Enigma Kitchens and Bathrooms took the step to move to new, larger premises and bought a purpose-built showroom on Battlefield Enterprise Park.

"We have never looked back," said Elka Gregory, who with her husband Dave owns and runs the successful kitchen and bathroom installation retailer.

"Obviously, the last few years have been more challenging than the previous 12 years, but it's been an interesting challenge.

"In fact it has made us look closely at the product range we offer our customers and we have sourced more competitively-priced products to meet the general tighter budgets people are working to."

The one range which has remained a firm favourite throughout the 15 years is Crown Kitchens.

The company is still a family-run kitchen manufacturer, from Kent, and it offers luxury in-frame with granite to basic excellent value-for-money laminate ranges.

It is with these ranges that it currently has its best offer to date. Not only are there discounts off the kitchen furniture, but Enigma is also offering a free single oven, gas hob, chimney hood and integrated dishwasher if kitchen units are over £4,000. If a customer would like a different configuration of appliances the firm can allow the cost of the free appliances to offset against their chosen appliances, so it is a very flexible deal.

Enigma Kitchens and Bathrooms also offers a choice of two other kitchen ranges, Sheraton and Mackintosh, where there is again a wide variety of design and price options.

As the name suggests Enigma Kitchens and Bathrooms also offers a full range of bathrooms, including an enormous range of bathroom furniture from Utopia and Ellis.

This, together with full range of sanitary ware, tiles, shower enclosures etc. Enigma offers the complete service from design through to a stunning 'wow' factor bathroom and all at very competitive prices.

It offers the same free, no-obligation design service with a complete installation which, if necessary, can include building work.

Enigma will oversee your installation and can ensure smooth running as the professional fitters are employed by the company.

If you would like to book a home visit, ring Elka or Luke on (01743) 441551.

Mid West Displays ensures an eye-catching experience.

The firm offers the very latest state of the art technology.

Year of success as firm displays right attributes

Advertisement feature

THE past 12 months have been a very busy time for Mid West Displays, with a 40 per cent increase in sales since 2010.

We have been working with some top high street retail brands and have produced some extremely exciting displays. You may have seen via our Twitter page (@MidWestDisplays) and Facebook groups that we have been busy designing and installing displays up and down the UK.

Our displays have also crossed the Channel and the Pond, ending up in Norway, Denmark, Portugal, Spain, New York and Pennsylvania to name a few.

Some of our best success stories of 2011 have involved one of our newest products, light panels. Light panels are the latest in display technology and are the must have product for 2012.

The panels are double sided and only 14mm deep, using extremely bright, low voltage LEDs which have a minimum life of 60,000-100,000 hours, therefore they are completely maintenance free.

High

The light panels evenly illuminate any graphic and are safe to leave on day and night, drawing potential clients to your windows all day, every day.

Since we launched our light panels, we haven't stopped making them. In fact, demand was so high that we decided to extend our team by creating our very own in-house silk screen department.

We are very pleased to announce that our light panels are made in our state of the art, custom-built warehouse in Shrewsbury. As the panels are made in house we are able to offer a made to measure service.

"We are looking forward to what the rest of 2012 holds for Mid West Displays. We are continuing to develop our products and can't wait to share the end result with you," said Mark Newman, managing director.

For more information on Mid West Displays products visit www.midwestdisplays.co.uk or phone sales on 01743 465531.

WOMAN

It's time to take control and get yourself more organised

People need variation and change to keep themselves motivated, says TV fat-loss expert Steve Miller.

If it feels as though the year's rushing too fast, it could be time to take control. Experts reveal simple ways to dictate the pace and make yourself feel more organised

IT'S not uncommon for many of us to struggle with the pace of life and feel overwhelmed by all the demands placed upon us.

"We all have busy lives and while email and mobiles are useful in keeping us in contact at all times, they can be an added pressure, making it harder to switch off from responsibilities and keep work and leisure separate," says Steve Miller, Sky 1's no-nonsense fat-loss expert.

The result can be many people feeling so stressed that they actually subconsciously slow down to protect themselves from melt down.

"That can result in them taking even longer to deal with work or problems, which results in them feeling worse. It can be a hard cycle to break."

But Miller believes that we can regain control by taking small, simple steps to transform both our outlook and our routines.

"Every morning I ensure when I wake up that I'm not mentally telling myself it will be a difficult day. Instead, I make a point of telling myself it will be 'interesting, challenging and there'll be a good outcome'."

"It may sound silly to try to programme yourself, but if you mentally predict problems - and give off negativity - you're much more likely to encounter them."

Miller, who has a new motivational weight-loss iPhone App, Gastric Banned, says it's important to refresh routines and try to enjoy new experiences.

"Your mind can get 'fat' and sluggish as well as your body," he says.

"We need variation and change to keep us fresh and motivated and it will help put life into perspective."

Taking up a new interest, he says, can work wonders on morale, whether it's a sport, knitting or bingo, or whatever appeals. "I'm learning how to ride a horse and although it's demanding and out of my comfort zone, it's energising because it stretches me mentally and physically," he says.

Finally, he advises, setting a goal and keeping a weekly or monthly check on steps you're taking to work towards it.

"At the end of the day put worries in proportion by assessing how much they'd bother you in five years time or at the end of your life."

"Many will seem trivial when put them in that light and it will help lighten your mood and allow you to walk taller."

Check out the experts' guidance on gaining control over your life and improving your wellbeing.

BOTTLE IT: "A simple way to help take control of your life is to ensure you are hydrated," says celebrity trainer Ramona Braganza, whose clients include Halle Berry, Jessica Alba and Kate Beckinsale.

"When we are drinking enough (around one-and-a-half to two litres daily), we think more clearly, and have energy for all the demands that come our way."

STRETCH & BREATHE: "Regular yoga sessions help me to focus and unwind - it's important to do something which you enjoy to help you restore clarity and de-stress," says Sarah Chapman, a facialist and skincare expert (www.sarahchapman.net).

"I make a big tureen of traditional Japanese miso soup every weekend so throughout the week I can heat it up to set myself up for the day. It's no hassle and really great for a morning boost. Also, every day, I recommend stopping at some point and doing some deep breathing and clearing your mind for a few minutes."

SEE THE DREAM: "My goal is to be a fitness presenter on TV, so every day I close my eyes and visualise it," says Hannah Cramer, a dance fitness teacher and personal trainer (www.hannahcramer.co.uk). It really helps me through my working day, keeping me motivated and focused. Also, I make lists - things I want to achieve that day, that week, that year - and tick them off as I achieve them."

CLOSET CURE: "Opening your wardrobe is generally one of your first daily actions but if it's a cluttered jumble it will be a constant reminder of a lack of organisation and will contribute to stress levels," says personal stylist Lisa Talbot. "The secret is a capsule wardrobe of clothes where items work on their own or co-ordinate with each other."

She advises sorting clothes into three piles; those you want to keep, those which are seasonal and could be stored, and those which you don't want and could be sold or given to charity.

Regular yoga sessions can help you to unwind after a stressful day at work.

Market chief's thrilled to have Sam's soup on sale

BOSSES behind Shrewsbury Farmers' Market are thrilled to have Gregory's Food at the monthly market.

Sam Gregory set up business four months ago at the West Midland Regional Food Academy based at Harper Adams College in Edmond.

Sam's soup range includes English onion, potato and leek, carrot and coriander and country vegetable.

Market organiser Stuart Jones said: "We are really pleased to have Sam on board. Her soups are absolutely fantastic using only seasonal produce purchased from Shropshire farms."

"All her ingredients are suitable for diabetics, gluten and dairy free. These appeal to a wide range of people and are proving very popular."

"March will see Sam launch an increased range of pasta bakes, vegetarian burgers and lentil dishes."

The market runs on the first Friday of every month in The Square. Stuart added: "The next market takes place tomorrow, Friday, between 9am and 3.30pm, where there will be 36 producers aiming to wow the public with a wide array of award-winning food and drink."

Sandwich shop opens to give slice of jobs joy

A NEW sandwich shop has opened in Shrewsbury creating about 10 new jobs.

The official opening of Toasty Rack in the Darwin Shopping Centre was held last Wednesday, offering hungry shoppers a range of toasted sandwiches.

The shop is the brainchild of brothers Mark and Paul Morris and will be run by operations director Alun Evans.

Mr Evans said the store would offer an independent alternative to some of the larger chain restaurants and fast food shops in Shrewsbury town centre.

"The town centre takeaway market has traditionally been dominated by the same few major multinational organisations," he said.

"But with Toasty Rack we're looking to bring a real local focus to food and give customers the chance to eat what they really want to, with the speed and convenience of genuinely fast food."

Mr Evans added he hoped the store would find a successful niche for itself in Shrewsbury.

Freedom

"While we will have all the usual breakfast and lunchtime favourites available, it's all about giving our customers the freedom to choose something that will really tickle their own particular taste buds, whether that's 'old favourites' like bacon, egg, sausage, or cheese, or something that little bit different, all freshly prepared and cooked, and ready to eat within three minutes," he said.

Renovation projects ready for your bids

FIVE north Shropshire home renovation and modernisation projects, which are always in great demand, are to go under the hammer at a collective property auction this month.

The properties, which will be sold by auctioneers Halls at the Greenhouse Meadow Stadium, Shrewsbury on March 23 at 3pm, include Rose Villa, Cuddington, Malpas, a period country house with outbuildings, gardens and land extending to nine acres, which has a guide price of £280,000 to £300,000.

Two properties are entered from Lyneal, near Ellesmere. The Hatch is a seven-acre smallholding with outbuildings, pastureland and woodland, which has guide price of £175,000 to £200,000.

Also in the village is Derane, a two/three bedroomed bungalow with great scope for improvement in good-sized gardens, which has a guide price of £120,000 to £140,000.

Former country public house, The Royal Oak at Dovaston, near Oswestry, has full planning permission for renovation and conversion into a family home with a three-quarters of an acre garden that has potential to be used as a pony paddock. The property has a guide price of £150,000 to £170,000.

Stone Cottage, Lower Road, Harmer Hill, which has a guide price of £75,000 to £100,000, is a detached sandstone cottage of great character requiring total renovation. The property, which has planning permission for extension/alteration, extends to just under a third of an acre.

Also included in the auction is a building plot with full planning permission for a four bedroomed home at Donnington Wood, Telford, which has a guide price of £40,000 to £50,000. Other properties on offer include a 7.5 acres of pastureland at The Wern, Weston Rhyn, which is valued at £50,000 and 0.3 acres of amenity land with affordable home potential at Bings Heath, Astley, which has a guide price of £10,000 to £15,000.

Four pieces of redundant land owned by Severn Trent Water near Llanbrynmair in Powys, Hanbury, near Bromsgrove, and Mickleover, Derby, will also be sold, with guide prices ranging from £1,750 to £12,500.

Halls' director Allen Gittins said there was a shortage of country properties to renovate in Shropshire and to have five on offer at the same auction was extremely rare.

To view any of the properties please contact Halls' Ellesmere office on Tel: 01691 622602.

with Graham Breeze

It's not easy to claim a world first in today's ever changing motor industry but Peugeot have done just that.

The new Peugeot 3008 HYbrid4 is the world's first full diesel hybrid introducing a combination of diesel and electric power to UK roads.

The hybrid represents a breakthrough in technology and delivers huge benefits in cost of ownership. The drawback is a starting price of £26,995 meaning you'll need to do some careful sums to make sure the running cost savings are enough.

The combination of the fuel efficient 2-litre 163 HDi engine and a 37bhp electric motor is the optimal combination for a hybrid vehicle.

Previous hybrids have gone for a less fuel efficient petrol engine but this Peugeot gives you 74.4mpg, CO2 emissions from just 99g/km, reduced vehicle excise duty.

It's a strange sensation travelling without any sound in the electric mode but there are huge cost saving benefits.

The 3008 HYbrid4 is already packing away the awards. Following on from the coveted Diesel Car Magazine, 'Best Eco Car of the Year 2011', it has also been awarded a 2011 What Car? Green Car Award for the SUV category.

Having already sold out of the limited edition, the range now offers two versions: a 99g/km CO2 at £26,995 and 104g/km CO2 at £28,495.

New technology, an extensive list of features available as standard and a new driving experience are all virtues that will help retain a high level of desire in 3008 HYbrid4.

The model offers big benefits for the company car user with low fuel costs, low emissions, low BIK and for the company lower Employer National Insurance contributions, alongside an allowance for the company to offset 100% of the list price, in the first year, against its taxable profits.

In addition the 3008 HYbrid4 delivers 74mpg, 200 BHP, four wheel drive and electric mode. Peugeot's new HYbrid4 models represent a great opportunity for businesses and individuals to actively reduce their impact on the environment without the compromises normally associated with a low emission vehicle.

There's a chance to choose from four different modes of operating the car. There's auto, ZEV (zero emission vehicle), four wheel drive and sport - and changing from one style to the other is at the flick of a switch.

Changeover from the HDi diesel to the electric motor happens automatically due to a stop start system. The electric motor is fitted at the rear of the vehicle.

The model is distinguished because of headlamps with an integral bar of LEDs, providing daytime lighting. At the rear the spoiler has a two tone finish and chrome badging.

Inside the HYbrid4 breathes quality with aircraft cockpit looks and lots of space now expected from the crossover brand.

The gear lever is a key feature as well as the 7" colour display providing information on the flow of energy. The steering wheel, bearing the signature of the HYbrid4 is also an outstanding feature and I love the heads-up display which appears in front of the driver.

This really is a multi-purpose vehicle with a selection of different seating configurations and huge boot space. Dropping the split rear tailgate reveals the flat-floored boot. There's a parallel park assist for those tight spaces.

Peugeot has proved that it is possible to combine uncompromising environmental demands with driving experience - something not previously seen in a hybrid.

The model offers big benefits for the company car user

Mum's the word for comfort in Kia Carens

Fold down the Carens' seats for a spacious boot

By Neil Ward

There are times when you need a vehicle that can be utilised for very different roles and one of these is a vehicle with easy access for my mum who is a little unsteady on her feet and finds it difficult to get in and out of cars.

The Kia Carens fitted the bill perfectly and she found no trouble whatsoever with wide sliding doors and lots of legroom in manoeuvring herself even with a walking stick adding an extra element of difficulty. In this respect the Carens was a God send. However, whilst this had been my major reason for using the Carens I was struck by what a capable vehicle it is.

I had a long drive to the West Country so I was in a great position to test the comfort of the Carens. It performed flawlessly and was extremely comfortable with passengers in the rear making similar comments.

The engine fitted was the 1.6 CRDi which produces a respectable 126bhp. Coupled with an easy to use six speed box, which contains surprisingly high ratios the Carens is able to eat up motorway miles with consummate ease and makes this a very practical proposition for long haul journeys with the whole family. With fuel consumption of around 49 to the gallon it also doesn't need to break the bank.

Handling wise the Kia is fitted with 16inch alloys and 205 tyres and felt stable and planted a position that did not change when you added passengers and luggage.

Body roll which can be a problem on MPVs was minimal. Also on some of the roads on which we travelled which were a little potholed and that is being kind the suspension absorbed the bumps without protest and never felt unsettled which is a tribute to the Kia engineers.

On the outside the Kia also looks a little different from the usual run of the mill MPVs and with the Quartz Black and the privacy glass it certainly stands out.

The rear side doors are operated electronically and provide great access to both the second and third row of seats. With the third row in the upright position there is some compromise in boot space but they are easily folded down and then you can put in pretty much anything you want. On the inside the black leather seats add to the overall quality feel of the car.

The dashboard is well laid out and everything falls easily to hand. The stereo was a little disappointing and although it was fitted with a six speaker system seemed to lack the eye for detail that the rest of the Carens has enjoyed.

Overall I enjoyed driving the Carens which surprised me as I am not a great fan of MPVs as they are usually a compromise too far but the Kia is different in that it feels a lot more of a car than the £18,995 on the road price would have you believe.

After a week of combined long distance and town driving with loading and unloading of copious amounts of luggage, plus dog and mum it performed perfectly and kept my stress levels down to a minimum. I cannot recommend it more highly than that.

Fuel consumption is around 49 miles to the gallon

Plenty of room for shopping or holiday luggage

Bluetooth and a super sat nav come as standard

“Like all Subarus, the Legacy has permanent Symmetrical All-Wheel Drive system”

Admiring glances – for the great value Legacy

By Sharon Walters

As I arrived back at the car park after shopping I noticed a couple of people pointing at my test car, nodding their heads in an approving way.

Putting my bags by the rear ready to load up they commented on how attractive the car was and asked me a few questions about it. Aside from the looks they were also impressed by the all-wheel drive system.

This wasn't the first time I had been asked questions about the Subaru Legacy – and all responses had been very encouraging on this smart tourer.

And I had to agree and also praise the way it handles, the interior finish and general adaptability. Put up against its opposition in the sector this is a car that does very well indeed, especially for the price.

I was driving the entry level in the Legacy Tourer range, the ES Nav, although you would never dream it was at 'bottom' of the pile for all that it offers which includes Sat Nav as standard and a choice of manual or CVT transmission. At £21,995 on-the-road its specification is much higher than rivals.

It has a 150PS 2.0 litre petrol engine with the choice of a six-speed manual gearbox or Subaru's optional Lineartronic CVT transmission. I have driven both and cannot really put one above the other, although the CVT is so easy to drive.

Like all Subarus, the Legacy has permanent Symmetrical All-Wheel Drive system which makes it much more sure-footed than two wheel. Add to that the horizontally opposed Boxer engine with its lightweight and low centre of gravity and you get an excellent drive with plenty of driving engagement, comfort and safety.

Now back to that Sat Nav and no cheap version this. It is full colour with a long list of features including touch screen control, CD/DVD playback, integrated Bluetooth hands-free connectivity and steering wheel mounted controls. And the Bluetooth is easy to set up and use with very clear sound. Other standard features on the ES Nav model include automatic headlights and windscreen wipers, remote control central locking, dual zone climate control, one-touch fold down rear seats, alloy wheels, electrically adjusted driver's seat and a Thatcham category 1 alarm and immobiliser.

And yes, all for £21,995. Quite a list and I had to check all that on the price sheet as I couldn't quite believe it was standard.

The finish inside is a good standard, although perhaps a little bit plasticky in places, and there is so much room in front and rear and in the boot.

The engine produces 196Nm of torque and the six-speed manual takes 9.8 seconds to get to 62mph with a maximum speed of 120mph.

Official figures say it returns 32.8mpg on a combined cycle and I would say that is about right, and it produces 199g/km CO2. The CVT model has a 0-62mph time of 11.3 seconds and a maximum speed of 120mph. It produces 187g/km of CO2 and has a combined fuel consumption cycle of 34.9mpg.

It also has 5-Star Euro NCAP crash safety rating. A great car and well worth a test drive if you in the market for a reasonably priced tourer.

G.B. Builders are part of GB installations Ltd and are recognised in Shropshire and the Midlands as one of the best home improvement companies in the area.

As we aim to complete every job to the customer's requirements and 100% satisfaction whether it be as simple as a leaking gutter or a broken double glazed unit. To a full house extension or garage conversion. As a company we are aware that the current economic climate has had an effect on the general home owner.

As the customer you need to feel the company you are employing to complete your specific project is offering value for money. So we aim to give a no nonsense price for the work which is to be undertaken. We will not inflate the price just to be able to discount it at a later date. The price quoted is the price you pay.

We do not employ salesmen to sell to potential customers you will only deal with one of the directors or site managers at G.B. who on your invitation will come to your property and discuss your exact requirements and offer free and impartial advice to obtain your desired specification in the most cost effective way.

We Also offer landlords gas Safety checks and boiler servicing. Carried out by a qualified gas safe engineer. If you are looking for any type of property improvement please contact us on 01952 275502 and we will be more than happy to help. Or you can visit www.gbinstallations.com

Active Cleaning Services

Are your carpets or upholstery in need of a professional deep clean?

Active Cleaning Services is a Shropshire-based carpet and upholstery cleaning business which offers a friendly and reliable service.

Offering the most up-to-date wet extraction equipment which is backed up by hard work and a genuine enthusiasm to achieve the best possible results, Active guarantees you 100 per cent satisfaction with the service you receive.

The wet extraction equipment used not only cleans deep down to the bottom of the pile, leaving your carpets clean and fresh, it also extracts up to 80 per cent of any moisture placed into the carpet, reducing the drying time substantially.

Serving both the domestic and commercial sectors, we fully understand the requirements of both and adapt our services accordingly.

For the domestic householder every effort is made to ensure that there is minimal disruption, and we will remove and replace most items of furniture.

All cleaning is undertaken at a time to suit the individual household. On the commercial side, we offer our services to offices, restaurants, public houses, schools and nurseries. Our aim at Active is to limit the disruption to business as much as possible, with out-of-hours and weekend schedules available.

All staff are 'Prochem' trained and all work undertaken is fully insured.

References are available upon request.

NOTICE TO READERS

Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer.

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with its Mother.
 2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
 3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
- Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Foundation Stage 1 (Nursery) Manager / Lead Teacher

Required September 2012

Due to the retirement of our highly regarded and respected Early Years Leader, our governors are seeking to appoint an inspirational, highly committed, ambitious, hardworking Early Years teacher colleague to lead our Foundation Stage One/Nursery Team, working in partnership with our Foundation Stage Two/Reception Leader and the Manager of our Start Early Learning and Childcare Centre.

This is an excellent career development opportunity in a first class Early Years setting which caters for children from birth to 5 years.

Closing date: Friday 16 March 2012.
Interview date: Monday 19 March 2012.

School Improvement Facilitator for Mathematics

Required September 2012

We are looking for a new School Improvement Facilitator of Mathematics to lead a team of five specialist Maths teachers.

Closing date: Thursday 22 March 2012.
Interview date: Wednesday 28 March 2012.

If you would like to work within an environment which provides excellent professional development and in a school with committed staff, then please contact us:

Please apply via the Priory School web-site: www.priory.shropshire.sch.uk

Please see individual adverts for application details.

To view all of our vacancies, visit www.shropshire.gov.uk/jobs

Shropshire Council and local schools will safeguard and promote the welfare of children and young people and expect all staff to do the same. There is no upper age limit for applicants. Committed to Equality in Service Delivery and Employment.

Founded by Sport England, EnergiZe Shropshire, Telford & Wrekin is part of a national family of 49 accredited County Sports Partnership teams. Like many others we are considering becoming an independent 'social enterprise' and as such will need two new members of staff to help us fulfil our objectives.

Senior Business Manager - f/t 37 hrs per week
annual salary circa £31,500

Office Manager - p/t 25 hrs per week
annual salary circa £13,500

As part of a small team working in partnership with local authorities, sports' governing bodies and community organisations, the Senior Business Manager will ensure that the partnership effectively maximises its ability to drive participation through enterprising projects which target specific communities of need. You will take a role in supporting the delivery of National Governing Body of Sport plans by linking them to local networks as well as advising others on external funding and providing a lead in terms of the partnership achieving the Equality Standard. We have recently won a contract to promote Community Games and you will play a lead role in promoting the benefits of this exciting project which has close links with London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games. But the key will be whether you can do this in an 'enterprising' way by adding value both for the community and for the Partnership.

The Office Manager will be a central role in our team, ensuring that the operation is efficient to modern standards, fulfilling important financial book keeping responsibilities for the company whilst maintaining website and e-communications. Customer care and attention to detail are paramount in this role and we would welcome applications from people who have previous experience as company administrators or secretaries.

If you are passionate about the power of sport and physical activity, highly motivated, with excellent interpersonal skills and significant relevant business experience, we want to hear from you.

Interviews will take place on Monday 2nd April for the Office Manager and Tues 3rd April for the Senior Development Manager.

For a copy of the application pack (inc job description) please contact energize@shropshire.gov.uk or tel 01743 255082.

For an informal discussion, please call Chris Child or Alison Evans (current post-holder), on 01743 255091.

THE SHROPSHIRE COUNCIL (PROHIBITION AND RESTRICTION OF WAITING AND PARKING PLACES) (CONSOLIDATION) ORDER 2009 (NETTLES LANE, SHREWSBURY) (AMENDMENT) ORDER 2012

On 29 February 2012 Shropshire Council made an order to place No Waiting At Any Time parking restrictions on the north-east side of Nettles Lane, Shrewsbury from its junction with Whitehorse Passage for its entire length.

These changes will come into effect on 5 March 2012. A copy of the order and the relevant plan may be examined during normal office hours (8:45am-5:00pm Monday to Thursday, and 8:45am-4:00pm on Fridays) at Shropshire Council, The Shirehall, Abbey Foregate, Shrewsbury SY2 6ND.

If you wish to question the validity of the Order, or any provisions in it, on the grounds that they are not within the powers conferred by The Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, or on the grounds that any requirement of that Act or of any instrument made under it has not been complied with in relation to the Order, you may, within six weeks from 29 February 2012, apply for that purpose to the High Court. 1 March 2012

Notice of Confirmation and Coming into Operation of Public Path and Definitive Map and Statement Modification Order
Highways Act 1980

Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981
The Shropshire Council (Footpath 4A and Footpath 4 (part), Parish of Condover) Public Path Extinction Order 2012

On 23rd February 2012, The Shropshire Council (the 'Council') confirmed the above named order made under section 118 of the Highways Act 1980 and section 53(2) of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981.

The effect of the order as confirmed is to extinguish: FP4A of 775 metres in length from the parish boundary south of The Vinnals between S44527 0461 and S44494 0393 and 216 metres of FP4 from S44501 0370 to Newhouse Lane at SJ 4487 0352.

A copy of the order as confirmed and the order map have been placed and may be seen free of charge at The Shirehall, Abbey Foregate, Shrewsbury during normal office hours. Copies of the order and map may be bought from the Council at the above address at a charge.

Shropshire Council certifies that the terms of paragraph 4 of the order have been complied with and the order becomes operative on 23rd February 2012, but if a person aggrieved by the order wishes to question its validity, or that of any provision contained in it, on the ground that it is not within the powers of the Highways Act 1980, as amended, or on the ground that any requirement of the Act, as amended, or any regulation made under the Act has not been complied with in relation to the order, he or she may, under paragraph 2 of Schedule 2 to the Act as applied by paragraph 5 of Schedule 6 to the Act, within 6 weeks from 23rd February 2012 make an application to the High Court.

Draw is reward as team improves

IMPROVING Shrewsbury under-15s underlined their progression this season by holding Whitchurch to a 15-15 draw.

This was a landmark result for a team that had come out second best in all their previous encounters with their north Shropshire neighbours.

This time, though, they matched their opponents blow for blow, coming back from behind on three occasions.

Whitchurch started brightly and, while Shrewsbury repelled an early attack, it was not long before the well-drilled home side took the lead, their No 8 charging over the line from close in. It looked like it was going to be the same old story – and that perhaps is what the home side were thinking too.

But Shrewsbury had other ideas. Good work by the pack saw flankers Regan Jordan and Finley Hughes together with No 8 Sam Hill all make good ground and, with the defence sucked in, fly-half Ben Smith was set free to level the scores.

Whitchurch may have been ruffled but they stuck to their game plan. When a perfectly weighted kick from their fly-half was allowed to bounce, it fell kindly for the home side and their lightning-quick right wing was on it in a flash to restore the lead.

Sustained

But once again Shrewsbury found a way back. It took a sustained, determined effort but the try eventually came. Ollie Greenhouse, who had an excellent game at inside centre, went on a penetrating run that took him deep into Whitchurch territory.

His outside partner Rufus Litchfield was equally impressive and almost broke through too after beating a succession of tackles.

Mixing these runs with drives from the forwards, Shrewsbury edged closer to the line. When they executed another disciplined set-piece close-in, there was enough room for scrum-half Roan Kirkby to dive over.

Having made such a big effort to get back in the game, Shrewsbury relaxed just a little too much. They failed to claim the ball from the kick-off and then did not deal with the rush of red shirts as Whitchurch seized the opportunity to put their winger over again.

That made it 15-10 at the break to the home side. The second period was a much tighter affair with both sides determined not to give any ground.

Shrewsbury cut out the errors, defended sternly and effectively and continued to dominate the scrum. Having frustrated their attacks, they now took the game to their hosts. One rapid exchange by the backs almost led to a score, but Whitchurch were equal to it.

The equaliser finally came and once more from foundations laid by the pack. After several phases of play, Shrewsbury forced Whitchurch back onto their goal line and Kirkby – who had another superb game at the base of the scrum – was able to nip into the gap to score his second.

All six tries had been scored close to the corners and on a breezy day at the Edgeley Park ground, none of the conversion kicks went over, so the scores remained tied. It was a result to give Shrewsbury great heart for the rest of the season.

Search for win goes on despite improvement

WITH the club's first and second teams inactive, Shrewsbury's 3rd XV took centre stage as they went down 22-10 at their Bridgnorth counterparts.

Shrewsbury were unable to avenge their recent heavy defeat by Bridgnorth despite a marked improvement from their last two outings.

Bridgnorth fielded another strong side while Shrewsbury resisted the opportunity to utilise second team players during their free weekend. The exception was Ash Slater who stepped in to cover for the absent Dave Myatt in front row.

Dave Roberts and Lawrence Bayley returned for their first games of the year with the Millard brothers, Cian and Jace, making a rare appearance. Aidan Forth stepped up from the backs to flank, adding to an experienced and strong pack.

In Paul Dailly's absence, Angus McKerracher donned the number nine shirt for another reliable game and the ever-improving Ross Griffiths came into the centre.

The game was initially evenly contested but Bridgnorth took the lead after ten minutes with a well-worked try, although the conversion proved too difficult out wide.

Shrewsbury regularly ventured into the final third but could not make the possession count.

Bridgnorth were more committed at the break down and succeeded in stealing the ball on several occasions, putting Shrewsbury back in their own half.

Chris Child was again targeted for the second time in two weeks with a late tackle which went unpunished and soon afterwards Bridgnorth added a second try followed by a conversion which dampened Shrewsbury's spirits.

Confident

But having reached half-time with no further score, Shrewsbury were confident of redressing the balance.

The Millard brothers provided some fresh legs in the backs, replacing Steve Churchill and Steve Newbury, who had both put the work in, and Lawrence Bayley added a little extra weight to the pack by replacing Giles Alton.

Shrewsbury started to dominate proceedings and a series of attacks disrupted the home defence. Roberts burst through out wide into the 22 yard line and deftly chipped the ball behind Bridgnorth's line.

A cynical off the ball tackle prevented a fine try for the flanker although a penalty was awarded.

Bayley took a quick penalty and caught the defence napping, driving over from five yards but Child was unable to add to his season's tally with a difficult kick for the extras.

Shrewsbury continued to pile on the pressure and it finally paid off as McKerracher skipped through to reduce the deficit to two points.

Another difficult conversion failed to even the score.

Bridgnorth were finally reduced to 14 men when their centre was sin binned for kicking the ball away which prevented a quick penalty for Shrewsbury.

Confidence was growing but Bridgnorth calmed down when the were restored to full strength and got back to their best.

They moved further clear with a try and, although Shrewsbury looked like drawing level on a couple of occasions, they were thwarted by the hosts who caught them on the break and added another try to secure the victory.

The defeat leaves Shrewsbury's third string still seeking their opening win of 2012.

Ten-win streak puts title in sight

TELEPOST A have put one hand on the Shropshire Chess League division one trophy after chalking up their 10th straight win after beating Newport A in the top-of-the-table clash, writes PETE KITCHEN.

Victories for Nigel Ferrington over Shropshire's top player Nick Rutter on top board, for captain Richard Bryant over Gavyn Cooper on board two and for the in-form Philip Zabrocki over Chris Lewis on board four moved Telepost three points clear with just three games remaining.

The result, which ended their hosts' own seven-match winning streak, means Telepost could clinch the league title before facing defending champions Shrewsbury A in the final round of fixtures.

Elsewhere Dave Bates was the latest victim of Nathanael Paul's hot streak on board three - nine wins and two draws from his 11 games for Newport A this season. Peter Crean and Danny Griffiths drew on bottom board.

Church Stretton A have secured top flight status for another season after beating lowly Wellington A 4.5-0.5.

The hosts were retaining hopes of carrying off a Great Escape of their own after narrowly missing out on victory against Shrewsbury A last time out. But wins for Trevor Brotherton, Karl Wakefield, Tiago Faustino and Graham Shepherd saw Stretton home comfortably. Captain Steve Rooney drew with Toby Neal on board two.

Scraped

Shrewsbury A moved back into second place in the division - but were once again unimpressive as they scraped a 3-2 win over relegation-threatened Ludlow.

It looked like David Everington's side would pay for missing their chances as they slipped 2-1 behind with two matches to play.

Norman O'Connor let a winning ending slip to draw with Ken Thomson on bottom board. And Francis Best, despite building up a commanding position, lost his way in time pressure and suffered a shock defeat against Richard Woodley on board three. Everington drew a quiet game with John Whittaker on board two to leave Ludlow on the brink of victory.

Peter Kitchen equalised with a comfortable win over Paul Munday after some tactical fireworks on board four and Jamie Hopkins spared the hosts' blushes by beating Joe Watson in the deciding game on top board.

In division two Telepost C have given themselves a real chance of survival after picking up a second straight win, this time upsetting promotion-chasing Priorslee Lions B 3-2.

Noel Kiffin beat Munroe Morrison on top board and Vinnie Crean won against Marvin Carbin on board three. John Westhead lost to Gary White on board four but draws for Charles McAlleef and John Casewell weren't enough for the visitors.

Telepost C now lie just a point behind Oswestry A and Priorslee Lions C - who they face in their next two fixtures.

Telepost B have maintained their promotion push after a 4-1 win over Oswestry A. Shrewsbury B have kept their outside chance of a top two finish alive after beating Priorslee Lions C away 3.5-1.5.

A family affair from the Elseys leads the Belvidere to the title

BROTHERS Jim and Matt Elsey led the Belvidere to the league title in superb style in the CRF UK Ltd Shrewsbury Premier 501 Darts League.

The Belvidere held a slender four game aggregate advantage over the reigning champions The Crown going into the final week.

Jim gave them the perfect start averaging over 30 in his 2-0 win over the Brookland's Steve Felton. In the first leg he checked out in 17 darts which included three 100 plus scores, the second leg was even better hitting 135-97-125-100-40 to record a 15 dart leg and average 31.31.

Not to be outdone by his brother, Matt hit 16 and 14 dart legs in his 2-0 victory over Steve Hollinger. Matt hit a maximum 180 in both legs to record his best ever average in the league, a score of 33.40. Further wins for captain Neil Southern (20.44), Paul Rowley (22.46) and Vaughan Owens (19.20) sealed the league title.

The only consolation for the visitors was a win for Steve O' Callaghan who was their only winner but, in doing so, won the individual players league title for the second consecutive season.

O'Callaghan went through the whole season only losing one game.

Crown 5 Red Castle 3

The reigning champions had a slim chance of retaining the title by hoping the Belvidere would slip up.

But, after Red Castle's Paul Vickers defeated Chris Thompson in the first game, all hope had practically gone. Wins for Ian Evans and John Roberts, which included a 12 dart leg (100-180-85-136) in his 2-1 victory over teenager Matt Price, put the home side into a 2-1 lead.

But victory for the Red Castle's captain Dave Price, in the next game over Darren Lane, meant there was no way back for the home side and the their title reign was over.

To their credit, wins for Sarah Thornbury and Steve Rowlands in the singles and doubles gave them a winning end to the season.

Admiral Duncan A 5 Woodman 3

The Admiral Duncan's player of the season Nick Pritchard finished the regular season in fine style averaging 26.36 in his 2-0 victory over Jon Guntrip. Wins for Kev Rogers (18.55), Dave Beesty (16.85) and captain

DARTS by Neil Southern

Lee Davies (18.55) gave the home side a 4-0 lead. Alan Stubbs (16.70) and Stu Patrick (19.40) reduced the deficit to 4-2.

But Simon Dodd and Pritchard secured the win with a 2-0 victory over Len Earl and Brian Haynes.

Wheatheaf 4 Compasses Ditherington 4

The Wheatheaf finished the season as the form team, for much of the season they were at the foot of the table but two wins and a draw in their last four games lifted them off the foot of the table.

Compasses' teenager James Mansell gave the visitors the lead in the first game, with a 2-0 victory over Scott Jones which included a maximum 180. Neil Griffiths made it 2-0 beating Andy Kynaston.

Andy Morris pulled one back for the home side hitting the best average of the match, 20.45 in his victory over Shaun Watton. Kieran Walker restored a two game lead for the away team, beating Tony Howell 2-1.

There were wins for David Hughes (18.22), Steve Dougal (15.96) in the singles, before they teamed up to win the last game to win a point for the home side.

Compasses Bayston Hill 5 Admiral Duncan 3

In the deciding leg, Morris checked out on double seven with his first dart to record a memorable win.

Other winners for the home side were Andy Williams (20.04), Rachel Williams (17.21) and Martin Morris (23.85), which included 3 scores of 100 plus.

Ed Jones (18.21) and Neil Proctor (19.25) replied for the visitors. The doubles were shared, leaving the final score 5-3 to the team from Bayston Hill.

Next week is the first round of the doubles and the draw can be found on www.shrewsburypremierdarts.co.uk

SHREWSBURY & Severnside Amateur Boxing Club saw all five host club fighters make it into the ring and celebrate victory at the Lord Hill Hotel.

The five local lads all made the most of their chance to impress on a bumper 13-bout bill, with two junior and three senior triumphs.

Connor Lewis set the standard for the Severnside contingent by out-pointing Jack Lindley from Ross on Wye's Tudorville ABC.

In a clash of two debutants, the 13-year-old Salopian proved too strong as he secured a unanimous verdict.

Severnside trainer Colin Hough said: "Connor was focused, didn't get rattled and kept his head and I pleased with the way he boxed."

Lewis Milner maintained the feel good factor for the host club by getting the better of Kevin Stokes from Winsford ABC.

A clash between two tall boxers got a little untidy at times, but it was Milner who boxed well off the jab to get the nod on a majority.

Welterweight Luke Smith delivered a stoppage against Welshpool's Stephen Gray. Avenging a previous defeat to Gray, Smith set the pace throughout and produced a final round knockout.

The success did not end there for Severnside middleweights Jack Roberts and Shane Richards, who both claimed victories to make it a full house for the hometown club.

Roberts proved too strong for Newtown's David Jones, while Richards outpointed Ross Taylor of Ludlow.

Hough said: "Both Roberts and Jones gave it a really good go but I thought Jack was in control throughout. Taylor took the fight against Shane at late notice, which we were very grateful for."

"Taylor was throwing punches from all angles, but Shane kept him at bay and won on a unanimous decision."

The evening was a major boost for Shrewsbury & Severnside ABC who had endured a difficult three months after their previous show – a rare open rather than dinner event – was marred by trouble outside the boxing room.

Hough added: "We had support from a number of people including the Mayor of Shrewsbury Tony Durnell, who attended."

Ladies are still seeking first win

A FIRST win of the season continues to elude Midland Feeder League West backmarkers Shrewsbury Ladies II after two more defeats last weekend.

Now captain Sally Taylor hopes it will come from another double header with Shrewsbury hosting Telford & Wrekin on Saturday before travelling to Edgbaston 24 hours later.

Shrewsbury gave a decent account of themselves in the first half of both their matches before capitulating in disappointing fashion to lose both games by significant margins.

Beaten 6-1 at Bromsgrove on Saturday, the following day brought a 6-0 defeat, this time at home to Stourport.

Shrewsbury started brightly against Bromsgrove, displaying some textbook pass and move hockey to take control of the early stages. The reward was an early lead from a perfectly executed penalty corner with Lisa Spandryk converting Caroline Dalton's drive.

The home side responded quickly with a series of attacks and Shrewsbury could have been forgiven for believing their luck was in when defender Lesley Thomson made an outstanding goalline clearance, a defensive deflection hit the keeper rather than the back-board and the home side missed a penalty stroke.

Unstoppable

But the tables soon turned when Bromsgrove equalised with an unstoppable deflection and then took the lead following a defensive error on a penalty corner.

The visitors took to the pitch full of determination for the second half. But when the home side extended their lead Shrewsbury's self-belief rapidly ebbed away and Bromsgrove took full advantage of the ever increasing space and time they found, taking their goal tally to six.

Captain Taylor said: "While the scoreline may have been a fair reflection of Bromsgrove's dominance in the second half, it belied the quality of our first half performance which included some excellent work by a number of players, including Helen Plastow and Zoe Evans who shared the player of the match accolade."

Shrewsbury were soon back in action as Stourport headed to Meole Brace.

The visitors had by far the lion's share of the possession but an outstanding display from the Shrewsbury back four kept the back door firmly shut for much of the half.

Stourport's pressure eventually broke the deadlock with an attacker reaching the backline before skillfully passing a number of defenders and the keeper to drive home.

The second half was a case of deja vu as the home side seemed unable to find first gear while the visitors drove on with pace and skill.

Despite the best efforts of the defensive line and another tireless performance in the middle from Lisa Spandryk, Stourport notched a further five goals. "These were two disappointing results, especially given two strong first half displays," added skipper Taylor. "With only four games left this season our target now is simply to get some points on the board by playing consistently good hockey. We need some performances to be proud of."

Lynsey targets three steps to the crown

LYNSEY Cater has set her table-topping Shrewsbury Ladies side a target of three wins from their final three games of the season to be crowned Midland Feeder West League champions.

Shrewsbury's advantage at the top of the table from second placed Birmingham University III was trimmed to two points after the county towners had a mixed weekend.

Skipper Cater admitted her side let themselves down as they were held to a 3-3 draw by Hinckley last Saturday but normal service was swiftly resumed 24 hours later when Shrewsbury breezed to a 4-1 win at Stone.

She will now hope Shrewsbury hit similar heights at Edgbaston on Saturday.

"It was a much better performance on Sunday," reflected Cater. "The draw on Saturday means we have made things a bit too tight for our liking at the top with only two points between us and Birmingham Uni."

"There's three matches left and really we need maximum points from them so we must remain focused and committed to our objective to achieve the results we need."

"It will be a tough game at Edgbaston. They are a strong side that like to play nice hockey so it is sure to be a good contest."

Cater added: "We let ourselves down on Saturday with a poor performance against Hinckley."

Strong

"We knew they could potentially be a banana skin team for us as they are strong when their full squad is available."

Shrewsbury were in front for much of the game thanks to goals from Georgie Hessey, Freya Wilde and Lucy Ratcliffe, but they were often on the back foot defensively and this allowed Hinckley to draw level each time.

"At least we got a point from the match and, in terms of positives, all three of our goals came from superb attacking open play movements which shows the potential we have when we are on form," stressed Cater.

Shrewsbury produced a much better all round display at Stone the following day as they swept their Staffordshire hosts away with the minimum of fuss.

"It was a completely different story at Stone," added Cater. "We knew we had to improve our game to come away with three points and we certainly did this."

There was no stopping Shrewsbury once Zoe Mortimer and Cheryl Heath struck inside the opening 10 minutes and then a goal from Beth Harrison made it 3-0 at half-time.

Stone played much more defensive hockey in the second half but Shrewsbury continued to link nice, quick passes together to pile on the pressure.

Stone clawed a goal back but the visitors, fittingly, had the final word with an excellent reverse strike goal from Lucy Ratcliffe, impressive in both weekend games.

Shrewsbury go for the leaders after hitting a dozen for win

SHARP-SHOOTING Shrewsbury have unbeaten leaders Bridgnorth next in their sights in a potential classic at the Meole Brace on Saturday at 2pm.

And the county towners enter the game in high spirits after finding the net a dozen times at the expense of bottom side Solihull Blossomfield last weekend.

Shrewsbury, who have reeled off three straight wins, are gunning for a Bridgnorth side a mighty 16 points clear at the top of the West Midlands League Premier Division table.

The Shrews, boosted by the return of Will Phillips, would love to avenge a heavy early season defeat at the hands of their county rivals by ending Bridgnorth's unbeaten record this term.

The table-toppers have won 15 and drawn one of their 16 matches to date, a record which leaves Shrewsbury skipper Simon Taylor fully aware of the size of the task awaiting his own in-form side.

He said: "Anything can happen in a local derby game and it all depends on the day."

"We are looking forward to it and seeing if we can upset the apple cart."

"We fell apart in the away match against them and we will be underdogs once again but, sometimes, that can work in your favour."

Confidence will certainly not be a problem within the Shrewsbury ranks after they cut loose to devastating affect to romp to a 12-1 win at bottom side Solihull Blossomfield last time out.

Rampant

Chris Thorpe led the way with a four-goal haul, including two in the first three minutes which set the tone for Shrewsbury's total domination of the game.

Nick Price weighed in with a hat-trick, skipper Taylor grabbed a brace while Craig Heath, Kevin Harris and youngster Lewis Jowett, from a short corner, completed the tally.

Taylor said: "It was a good feeling. I can't remember the last time we scored that many goals in a game."

"We drew with Solihull at home earlier this season so we knew we had a point to prove - and we went out and did just that."

"I wanted us to hit the ground running and score an early goal and we were 1-0 up after 30 seconds."

"They got it back to 2-1 at

Holmes on the case

DAVID Holmes grabbed both goals as Shrewsbury's fourth team maintained their promotion push with a 2-0 home verdict over Leek.

A competitive first half saw both teams create chances with neither side being able to convert any of them.

An inspired team talk from captain Paul Holmes at the break led to Shrewsbury playing with more determination after the interval.

And it was the turn of David Holmes to step into the spotlight with two well taken goals.

"It was good to get back to winning ways after a disappointing result a week earlier," admitted skipper Paul Holmes, now looking forward to a top of the table clash at Cannock on Saturday.

one stage but we were 4-1 up by half-time and the goals kept coming."

The home side did not help their cause by losing their discipline.

They had a man sent off just before the break for speaking out of turn to the umpire and were down to nine men for a period of the second half.

Taylor added: "We turned the screw and kept going."

"You can sometimes ease off when you get to six or seven, but I was proud of the mental strength of our lads as we kept pushing forward."

"We had to work for all of our goals and it was a very good performance."

"We needed a result like that, a big and positive result, and we are happy where we are, at the moment, but we are still striving to get better."

Double header could be key

PROMOTION chasing Shrewsbury's second team continue their quest for hockey at a higher level with a double header this weekend.

Shrewsbury, comfortable 3-0 winners at home to Stratford last weekend, take on Worcester on Saturday and Redditch 24 hours later.

Currently second in the table, Shrewsbury had few problems sweeping aside Stratford at Meole Brace.

They took an early lead when a well struck pass from Paul Holmes into the five-yard box was tucked home by Jason Harris.

A delightful attack from Shrewsbury 10 minutes into the second half resulted in a key goal for the hosts, finished off well by the evergreen Jon Davis.

Then more great build-up and accurate passing from the whole team resulted in Cameron scoring a third goal to set the seal on a good day's work.

"We fought hard," said happy Shrewsbury stalwart Lyndon Boyden.

John Banks looked in control of his game, with a nice lead coming to the final rods, but Scot Moseley managed to claw back the deficit and was able to take the frame, potting blue and pink. Banks potted the black to keep the aggregate score close but Moseley took the frame 53-40.

Colin Beaman could never get into the second frame and Lee Barker took early control, playing the shot of the night when snookered on one red over the pocket. He played a snookered and scored back onto the red over the pocket, not only potting it but ending up on the black. Barker ran out an easy victor 83-28.

Evison proves a handful as Reman claim a perfect ten

REMAN AFC, inspired by ace in the pack Adam Evison, romped through to the semi-finals of the Shrewsbury Sunday League's J Rogers Cup with a 10-1 demolition of Heathgates.

Evison inflicted much of the damage by sounding a five-goal salvo while further goals from Alex Johnson (2), Phil Edwards, Lee Griffiths and Stuart Steele set up a last four clash for Reman against either Wem Sunday or Cruckton Rovers, who will contest their delayed quarter-final tie on March 11.

The severity of the defeat was a wake up call for Heathgates, going well in the second division, as they were punished for being so adventurous.

Instones United, the holders, are also through to the last four after goals from Gary Price, Carl Evans and Tom Groves saw off Church Stretton, for whom Adam Groom replied, 3-1. Hop & Friar now stand between all-conquering Instones and a place in another final when they meet on March 11.

There was also action in the SHB Hire Management Trophy with SAHA booking a place in the semis with a 4-2 beating of Bull in the Barne. Ian Statham, Jamie Stewart, Nick Richardson and Sam Farley shared the goals.

Saddlers saw off Hop & Friar 5-1 thanks to strikes from Peter Lewis, Craig Blakemore, Dan Morris, Darren Smith and Paul Cowen.

Masonic were made to fight all the way before squeezing past Inn on the Green 4-3, a hat-trick from Miles Fox added by by Nick Higgs. Alex Bradbury and a Levi Thomas double meant Inn on the Green were always in the hunt.

Nerve Red Barn held their nerve to topple Sundorne 4-3 on penalties following a 2-2 draw.

Jonny Wilkinson and Ant Higgins struck for Sundorne as Dave Dunfy got both for the Red Barn who will go on to face SAHA in the last four.

The other semi, also on March 18, will be between Saddlers and Masonic.

In the Jason Bramall Cup, Rock Rovers Youth beat Stretton Galaxy 5-0 with Daryl Rogers, Dean Rogers, Olley Wadger, Hayden Peck and Dominic Hall on target.

Improving Nags Head went down 2-1 at home to the Bird In Hand, an own goal settling the tie.

Ian Roberts and Darryl Williams sent Union through 2-1 at the expense of Union, Rob Skene pulling one back.

The quarter final draw for this competition now reads: St Lucia v Union, Bird In Hand v Two Henrys, Three Fishes v Santos, Rock Rovers Youth v Wagon Athletic. Ties will be played on March 18.

There was also plenty of games played throughout all divisions in the Greenhous Shrewsbury & District Sunday League.

A late missed penalty from Matt Boswell cost Pontesbury a premier division victory as they had to settle for a point from a 2-2 draw against Meole

Sunday cup draw

INSTONES United, the Greenhous Shrewsbury & District Sunday Football League champions, have been handed a home tie against either Oswestry Bell (2011) or Mallard in the quarter-finals of the Dyke-Yaxley Shropshire Sunday Premier Challenge Cup.

But Church Stretton Town Sunday must hit the road and travel to Wem Town Sunday this weekend.

Wem breezed through in style with a 5-1 beating of Wrockwardine Wood last Sunday, with the goals shared between Mattie Owen, Stefan Holliday, Dave Walbyoff, Ian Gillespie and Jordy Kennedy.

The other last eight ties see Cressage Sports at home to Plough Inn Wellington while Oak Inn will take on Randlay Farmhouse. With the exception of the latter, ties are scheduled to take place on Sunday (10.30pm).

Brace.

Sam Kinsey and Boswell found the net for Pontesbury, Crown Coleham v Condover Foxes shared the spoils with Mookmorn in a 1-1 draw. Neil Hughes struck for for Condover and James Mitchell scored from the penalty spot for Monk.

Anchor Inn got back on track after losing a week earlier by seeing off Crown Coleham 4-2 with a Dave Taylor hat-trick and a SeanNorthwood strike inflicting the damage. Richard Haigh and Kris Phillips scored for Crown.

Goals from Doug Dineen and Danny Jones wrapped up a 2-0 win for Hop & Friar over Coton Rovers at Monkmoor.

In a rearranged game, Upton Magna beat Bomere Heath 2-0 thanks to goals from John Williams and Dan Harris.

Grove Hotel went down 3-2 at home to Rock Rovers in division two, a Matt Teggins goal and Bryan Herbert double sealing victory for the away side. Steve Laws and Ian Forbes responded for Grove.

Minsterley had a rare bad day as they crashed 8-2 at home to Belvidere Sports for whom Adam Jones, Gareth Davies and Ryan Goodall all struck twice.

Swan were 2-1 victors at Admiral Duncan with goals from Alex Simmons and Dan Donnelly.

Only one match was played in division three as Three Fishes accounted for Two Henrys 4-2 at Lythwood. Paul McMullen and Craig Williams were joined on the Fishes scoresheet by two-goal Paul Ashley. Ant Brown and Chris Owens hit back for the visitors.

FIXTURES: Division One: Harlescott SC v Bomere Heath, Crown Coleham v Condover Foxes, Hop & Friar v Upton Magna, Monkmoor v Norbury.

Division Two: Rock Rovers v Belvidere Sports, Admiral Duncan v Heathgates, Grove Hotel v Telegraph, Brockton v Minsterley.

Division Three: SAHA v Nags Head, Two Henrys v Bull in Barne, Wagon Athletic v Stretton Galaxy.

Division Four: Prince of Wales v Rock Rovers Youth, Red Barn v Union, Sundorne AFC v Bird in Hand.

The stringers can go into next week's free week with a bit of space between them and relegation threatened sides with this good victory.

In the third Pete Taylor lost in a four battle to Martin Hammond 46-37.

In the last Andy Wigginton raced into a 39-0 lead only to Neil Thomas to fight back, until a breath-taking blue by Wigginton finished off a good night 61-32.

CHURCH STRETTON sprung a surprise in the Shropshire County League by topping Premier Division leaders Newport Town.

Goals from Richie Lloyd and Ross Ramuete secured an impressive 2-0 win for sixth placed Stretton.

ELLESMEERE RANGERS RESERVES were involved in a thriller as they played out a 4-4 draw at Ketley Bank United, while WHITCHURCH ALPORT RESERVES went down 2-1 to Dawley Villa.

Elsewhere in the top flight second placed FC Hodnet were held to a 1-1 draw at Wellington Amateur Reserves.

Free scoring Ludlow Town also beat Telford Juniors 5-1, while a brace from ex-Shawbury United and Ellesmere Rangers striker Dan Graham helped Morda United beat Broseley Juniors 4-0.

Bottom side Impact lost heavily again, swept aside 12-0 by Shifnal United 97.

In the First Division, Allscott are now four points clear at the top with three games in hand, as they came out on top 4-3 in a seven goal thriller with WROXETER ROVERS at the Union Club.

HANWOOD UNITED RESERVES lost further ground in the title race, after conceding a late equaliser to be held to a 3-3 draw at Brown Cle.

Shrewsbury-based ROCK ROVERS drew 2-2 at PREES.

United remain upbeat Alport ground Crewe

SHAWBURY UNITED boss Dave Richards remains confident his side can hit the heights in the closing months of their West Midlands League premier division campaign despite drawing another frustrating blank last weekend.

Shawbury went down 1-0 at second placed Gornal on a day they did everything but score.

Now Richards has set his sights on three points at home to lowly Wolverhampton Sporting Community on Saturday (3pm).

"It seems like I'm repeating myself every week at the moment," said Richards. "I was speaking to the Gornal manager afterwards and he couldn't believe where we are in the league."

"He felt we should have been in the top four or five as we created more chances than any other side they've played at home this season."

"He said teams normally go there and put men behind the ball but we had a real go at them."

"We haven't got too many more of the teams left to play so hopefully we can pick up lots of points and finish as high as possible."

Shawbury were sunk by an early goal with a Gornal defender prodding home following a goalmouth scramble.

That apart, Richards could not remember stand-in keeper Mattie Ballard having to make a single save.

Kev McGarvey hit the bar as Shawbury chased the game, debutant Glyn Evans twice went close, as did Jimmy O'Reilly, while Dave Walbyoff was denied a deserved late equaliser by a flying save from the Gornal keeper.

WHITCHURCH Alport threw a spanner in the works of Crewe's title challenge by holding the Cheshire League Second Division league leaders to a goalless draw at Yockings Park.

It sets Alport up for Saturday's Presidents Cup quarter final tie at Warrington, a match that has already postponed twice.

Despite having the better of last weekend's chances, the visitors had an off-day in front of goal.

Neither Nick Ashley, in the Reds' goal, or his counterpart at the other end, Wes Newton, were called into action too many times.

Former Alport striker Mike Blundell wasted several of the best chances that fell for Crewe and the home side also had to survive two loud penalty claims.

The second came in the closing stages of a dour encounter played on a difficult and bobbly pitch.

From a Whitchurch perspective, Luke Woolam had their best opportunities but failed to connect well enough but, on another day, the centre forward might have come away with the match-ball.

Alport defended well throughout in a 3-5-2 formation, which they have used to good effect this season.

And manager Andy Allmark was pretty pleased with the point his side took from the champions-least.

He said: "I would have taken a point before the game. I have got to be happy."

"We haven't played too many games recently and there are still signs of rustiness but there wasn't that many chances and a single goal always looked like it would be enough to win it."

"I can't remember there even being a corner in the game, so it wasn't what you might describe as a classic."

Haughmond pulling towards title in style after latest win

HAUGHMOND manager Mark Jenks is refusing to get carried away despite seeing his side increase their lead at the top of the West Midlands League Second Division to seven points.

A 4-0 beating of Penkridge, helped by a Matthew Preece brace, further improved unbeaten Haughmond's already strong position.

But Jenks is not contemplating the prospect of title glory for his ultra-consistent Shrewsbury side just yet.

He said: "We have got every chance. We've got six games left and we should have a clearer view of things by the end of March."

"It's an important month with some big games. We've got to play Wrens Nest at home, who are the form team in the league while Hereford Lads Club and Mahal, the two teams who could catch us, still have to play each other."

Jenks was pleased with his side's display as they made it three wins inside a week by comfortably getting the better of Penkridge, in what eventually proved to be a one-sided encounter. And he was delighted to see them hit the goal trail once again.

They put nine past St Martins in pulling off league and cup wins over their county rivals recently.

Jenks said: "Penkridge had plenty of possession but played 4-5-1 and it really played into our hands."

"They were good on the ball but never really threatened us."

Dominance

Haughmond broke the deadlock when a trademark long throw from winger Alex Johnson was helped into his own net by the Penkridge goalkeeper.

Johnson, also a talented cricketer who has just signed for Birmingham League Shrewsbury, quickly doubled the advantage.

It came from a set piece, a 20 yard free kick drilled into the bottom corner of the net.

It was effectively game over by half time, with Preece getting in on the act to score the goal that increased the lead to 3-0.

Preece struck again shortly after the restart, when he raced clear and showed neat control to chip the ball over the advancing goalkeeper and into the net.

Haughmond could even afford the luxury of a late missed penalty.

Dan Williams, having taken over spot kick duties from Tom Hewitt, saw his penalty saved but, at 4-0, was afforded the luxury of not costing his side any points in the end.

The spot kick was given for a foul on James Griffiths, but it mattered little to the outcome.

Lee Ruscoe makes ground for Haughmond during their win over Penkridge which extended their lead at the top of the table. Penalty woe for Dan Williams as he misses a spot kick but it didn't prove costly as Haughmond won 4-0.

Seven-up villagers stay in chase Revenge mission

HANWOOD UNITED head to Trysull on Saturday firmly in the West Midlands League first division title race after showing no mercy for backmarkers Wolverhampton United.

The visitors got loose to hammer the villagers 7-0, a result which lifted them up to second place in the table, although they trail leaders Wellington Amateurs by seven points.

"Wolverhampton United were a poor side but it was nice to take the chance to boost the goal difference a bit," said Hanwood spokesman Arthur Evans.

"We had a couple of big wins last season but this is certainly the biggest pable shot to the top corner of the net.

Hanwood helped themselves to four further goals in an equally one-sided second half, with Reynolds grabbing his second of the game, a cracking diving header from a Rogers cross, just after the restart.

Wolverhampton's bleak afternoon took another turn for the worse when they had a man sent off for a second bookable offence.

And Hanwood continued to pour forward with Wayne Edwards netting twice while Sam Roberts also took the opportunity to weigh in with his first goal of the season.

ELLESMERE Rangers have the chance to quickly gain revenge on Tipton Town when they face The West Midlands for the second time in just over a week on Saturday.

Rangers must make the trip this time for a Midland Alliance clash with their unfortunate penalty shootout exit from the League Cup at the hands of Tipton at Beech Grove last midweek still fresh in the mind.

Matt Burton's men soon got over any lingering disappointment by putting more daylight between themselves and the wrong end of the Alliance table with a hard-earned 1-0 home win over Loughborough University last weekend.

Rangers had to be patient before Kevin Renshaw grabbed the winner from an 86th minute penalty after Craig Farr was pushed in the box.

Rangers must hit the road again on Tuesday night when they face an Alliance trip to Boldmere St Michaels.

CRICKET Club D have gone a long way to clinching one of the coveted promotion spots in Division One of the Creative Digital Printing Ltd Table Tennis League following their important win over fellow promotion hopefuls Pontesbury B, writes DARRYL CORFIELD.

The villagers went into the match unbeaten and at the halfway stage looked like extending that run after they won the doubles to take a 3-2 lead.

The cricketers had other ideas and inspired by the impressive Mark Jones they stormed through the next five matches to win them all and clinch a vital 7-3 win.

Jones brought his A game and top flight experience to the table to go through the evening unbeaten in singles, winning them all in four sets.

He was helped by the durable pairing of Roger Whitfield and Nobby Johnston who both won two with the biggest surprise of the night being the fact that in such a closely fought match no game was decided in the fifth set.

The win has seen Cricket Club move to the top of the table with nearest rivals Union C 11 points back but with a game in hand.

Union's latest result came from a tense home clash with Pontesbury B.

The visitors had Paul Richards to thank as they came away with a share of the spoils in a 5-all draw.

Richards was at his mercurial best as he kept his side in the match throughout, winning his three matches without dropping a set.

Important

Bill Moran was the other Pontesbury points scorer as he claimed two wins for himself including an 11-6 final set win over Barry Lowe.

For Union, Ken Hayward did his bit with two wins plus combining with Lowe to win to all-important doubles.

Union had previously taken advantage of a two-man Olive Saints A side to record a 7-3 win with the Saints' points coming from the bat of Tim Simcock.

The opening match of the night was arguably the most entertaining as Simcock edged a close one with Hayward.

The Union man took the first set before Simcock won the next two, then Hayward levelled in a nervy fourth.

But he could not prevent Simcock starting off his fruitful evening with an 11-9 win in the decider.

Saints were also a two-man outfit on their trip to Pontesbury C but Simcock could not repeat his feat from the Union match and had to settle for two wins but Steve Adams chipped in with two wins as they went down 6-4.

Cricket Club E are looking good for a top four finish with their prospects aided by a 7-3 win over Myddle A.

Leading the way yet again was Gary Brown, whose three wins plus two each from Barry Taylor and Dave Gwilliams saw them to victory.

Brown was made to work hard for his three in his first match of the evening when he took on Rob Gwilt.

They shared the first two sets but Brown looked like he was going on to win at a canter as he won the third 11-1. Gwilt had other ideas and won the fourth.

Both players found their form in the final set and it went to deuce where Brown eventually clinched the win 13-11.

Marvellous Marvin strike fires Town ambitions

Marvin Morgan prods home Shrewsbury's winner against Crawley on Monday night

Shrewsbury Town 2 Crawley Town 1 by Stuart Dunn at the Greenhouse Meadow

MARVIN Morgan chose the perfect time to grab his first goal at the Greenhouse Meadow for more than five months to shoot down the club who wanted to sign him last season.

With an impeccable sense of timing in front of the live Sky TV cameras, the big striker, who made a real difference alongside fellow sub Jermaine Grandison after being introduced from the bench at half time, raced clear to fire Town up to third place.

Morgan had not netted in front of the home fans since scoring twice in a 3-1 beating of Hereford on September 10.

But the ex-Aldershot man registered his 10th strike of the season to leave Crawley boss Steve Evans - a man who tried to take him to the Sussex club midway through last season - deflated.

Morgan's goal 16 minutes from time, sealed a notable fightback win, ensuring Town complete a full calendar year at the Meadow unbeaten.

Not that boss Graham Turner was in any mood to get carried away for he was quick to admit Town's overall performance did not live up to his expectations.

But this was a night when the result meant everything as Town climbed into the automatic promotion places for the first time since October.

"It's a big crucial stage of the season for us and we've got the win which is the main thing," said Turner. "We're a better side than we've shown. We've proved that time after time here."

"We've had the hiccup with the performance but the boost is the three points."

Nervy

Town were surprisingly nervy and a little disjointed during a first half controlled by Crawley for long stages, so much so it was no surprise when powerful striker John Akinde, sent free by Billy Clarke, drove the visitors into a 33rd minute lead.

Town were in desperate need of a lift and Mark Wright provided it with an equaliser out of nothing just before the interval. The winger pounced on a loose ball inside the box and fizzed a crisply struck shot into the bottom corner from Town's first effort on target.

The introduction of robust defender Grandison, a late arrival owing to heavy traffic on the M6, and the mobile Morgan perked up Town's performance level after the break.

But they were still indebted to keeper Chris Neal who pulled off a string of sharp saves, the pick of them to divert an Akinde shot wide.

Town were destined to have the final word, though, when Grandison broke up a Crawley attack on the halfway line and powered forward before slipping an inviting pass through to Morgan who shot beyond keeper Rene Gilmartin.

It was, by some distance, the most important goal in Town's exciting season so far.

"Marvin took it ever so well," added Turner, relieved to see Crawley midfielder Hope Akinde head wide from close range deep into stoppage time when he should have done better.

TOWN: Neal; Regan, Sharps, Cansdell-Sherriff (Grandison 46); Jacobson; Taylor, D McAllister, Richards, Wright; Gornell (Morgan 46); Collins (Wroe 81). Unused subs: Ainsworth, Smith.

Referee: Jon Moss (Yorkshire). Attendance: 5,229 (101 from Crawley).

CHRONICLE STAR MEN: 1 Neal, 2 Grandison, 3 Morgan.

Promotion veteran Regan has got that feeling all over again

Beaten boss tips Town to move up

SHREWSBURY TOWN right back Carl Regan has compared the mood currently in the Greenhouse Meadow dressing room to the feeling he experienced when he helped MK Dons gain promotion from League Two four years ago.

Regan now hopes that same sense of positivity will stand Town in good stead for the exciting run-in as the Liverpoolian sets his sights on trying to help the club climb into League One.

"I had a promotion with MK Dons under Paul Ince and there's a similar sort of atmosphere here at the moment," said 32-year-old Regan. "We can feel that we're really going to go somewhere and get promotion."

"This is a very good club, a lovely club, a family club, and everyone's tight knit."

"It deserves to be in the league above so hopefully we can do that this season and get a good promotion on the resume."

"The club's been involved in pushing for promotion for a couple of years now, making the play-offs, but we want to go better this year and get automatic promotion. Hopefully we can do that."

Regan has become a regular feature at right back in recent weeks after bouncing back impressively from a testing first half of the season in which he spent much of the time on the sidelines injured.

Recalled

He started the season in the first team but then spent the best part of four months on the outside looking in before taking his chance with both hands when he was recalled to the starting eleven at Hereford at the end of January.

Regan admitted: "It's been a frustrating season for me, one of the hardest in my career so far."

"But I've played the last few games now and I'm starting to feel my fitness coming back and I'm getting my bearings again. Hopefully I can continue that."

"It's been a bit of a nightmare (with injuries) and it hasn't been a very good season for me so far. But hopefully the second half of the season from now until the end will be a good one, ending with promotion."

TOWN TALK
by Stuart Dunn

"Although my performances haven't been too bad I always want more. I always expect more from myself so I'll be looking to improve game after game really."

"Hopefully I can do that, push on, and we can end the season on a good note."

Regan, with over 300 career appearances to his name, has come a long way since his days as an Everton trainee when he also had the opportunity to represent England at youth level alongside a host of future stars.

"A lot of the lads I played with have gone on to do well and I'm still in the game so I count myself lucky for that," he recalled. "I was a Liverpool fan playing for Everton but I was there for a very long time and I always still look out for their results."

"There's still one or two people there that I know so I hope they do well all the time."

He made it to the fringes of the Goodison Park first team without making the breakthrough but has since gone on to serve Barnsley, Hull City, Chester City, Macclesfield Town, MK Dons, Bristol Rovers and Notts County (loan) before signing a one-year contract for Shrewsbury last summer after impressing Graham Turner during a trial.

The presence of Mark Wright, also a team mate at the Dons and Bristol Rovers, helped him settle in quickly and, injury frustration apart, he's enjoying life at the Greenhouse Meadow, admitting he would love to earn a new deal at the end of the season.

"There's a few of us playing for contracts and playing for our careers," added Regan. "I think that's a good thing in a way because we will give it our all on the field."

"We're trying to get this club up a division and trying to get ourselves contracts as well."

"I was not able to show what I can do in the first half of the season but hopefully my fitness will now be better, my form improves, and we'll see what happens at the end of the season."

New challenge for former Town manager Simpson

FORMER Shrewsbury Town manager Paul Simpson has headed overseas for the next chapter of his footballing career by landing a coaching job in Portugal.

Simpson, relieved of his duties as Greenhouse Meadow boss in April 2010, has been named as the new head coach of the Vision Pro Sports Institute based in Rio Major, a centre for young players released from Premier and Football League Academies and Centres of Excellence seeking a route back into the professional game.

And Simpson, in charge of Town when they lost to Gillingham in the 2009 League Two play-off final at Wembley, is excited about his new role as the footballing head of a system which runs along similar lines to the Glenn Hoddle Academy in Spain.

"I'm looking forward to it," said

Simpson, who had only recently accepted the challenge of managing Northwich Victoria in the Evo-Stik League premier division.

"I wanted to get a youth coaching or development role and me and my wife (Jacqui) have always talked about living abroad so this ticks all the boxes."

"The facilities are fantastic. We have got a 6,500 all-seater stadium, training pitches, a 3G pitch an Olympic size 50m swimming pool and another 25m pool."

"We will have a team playing in an under-19 league in Portugal next season and two minutes walk from our base is a university where the lads will do a sports science course and learn a language."

"We have got 14 English lads, five Spanish and one Hungarian and I can't wait to get started."

Simpson flew out to Portugal to begin his new role yesterday.

He ended his short stint in charge of Northwich - he was boss of the Cheshire club for less than a month - with a narrow 3-2 defeat at home to higher division Newport County in the quarter-finals of the FA Trophy last weekend.

After leaving Shrewsbury, Simpson, whose son Jake played under him at the Greenhouse Meadow, managed Stockport County.

Town kids find form

TOWN'S youth team will aim to build on last weekend's 3-1 win at Accrington Stanley when they face Burnley in the Youth Alliance at the Shrewsbury Sports Village on Saturday (11am).

A double strike from Elliott Turner added to by substitute Deion Evans saw Town recover from a goal down at half time to beat Accrington.

Spartans targeting Shrews for revenge

SPARTANS, the only team beaten by Shrewsbury this season, will be gunning for revenge when the Sundorne Castle men continue their great escape bid in rugby's Midlands Two West (North) on Saturday.

Shrewsbury edged a stormy victory in an incident-packed match and skipper Simon Evitts knows the south Birmingham club will be keen to hit back against the division's rock bottom side.

"It was a controversial game against them at home and their coach wanted it to be replayed," said Evitts.

"It's a bottom of the league clash, it's all or nothing, so it's a huge game."

James Granger makes a timely return to the club and will line up for Shrewsbury at centre while Sam Jones, back from university, will slot in on the wing.

Neil Williams and Henry Maybury are both unavailable, as is Oscar Shanagher, such a key man for Shrewsbury last season.

SHREWSBURY 1st XV: M Walker, W Armitage, R Sankey, G Adams, L Mill, S Evitts, B Spoke, J Plant, M Pryce, M Maule, S Jones, T Dickson, Granger, A Jebb, J Pugh. Repe: C Jones, D Harrison.

Three cup semi-final line-ups revealed

THE prospect of an all-north Shropshire final in the Shropshire Challenge Cup remains after this week's semi-final draw.

Ellesmere Rangers, enjoying a revival in the Midland Alliance, will take on County League underdogs Morda United in the last four at Wen Town FC on Wednesday, March 21 (7.45pm).

The other semi, a night earlier, will see Whitchurch Alport, who knocked out Shawbury United in the last round, set their sights on another surprise when they take on Bridgnorth Town at a venue still to be arranged.

Meanwhile, SAHA, the only Shrewsbury side through to the semis of the Shropshire Sunday Challenge Cup, have been drawn against Telford outfit Cuckoo Oak. The game will be played on Sunday, April 22.

The semi-final draw for the Shropshire FA Youth Cup has also been made with Ellesmere Rangers paired against All Saints on March 25.

Signings give Wroxeter high hopes for season

WROXETER have signalled their intent to compete at a higher level by completing a trio of astute signings ahead of an exciting new era in Shropshire cricket, writes STUART DUNN.

The Uppington club, the final FBC Manby Bowdler League champions, have bolstered their squad for the challenge of life in the newly-formed Shropshire County Cricket League.

Batsman Tom Home has returned from Birmingham League Shifnal while Wroxeter have also swooped for Llanidloes opening bowler Simon Jones and Montgomery all-rounder Ed Davies.

Skipper Nick Bevan said he remains hopeful of bringing in another new signing while plans are also in place for Wroxeter to sign a young Australian gap year student.

Bevan is pleased with the quality of his newcomers as the countdown continues to Wroxeter's opening day of the season trip to Raman Services, last year's Marston's Shropshire Premier Cricket League champions, on April 21.

"We're pleased with each of the signings," said Bevan. "Ed Davies had a very good season at Montgomery and was probably the best of the local batsmen we faced."

"He scored 70 against us at our place and he scored over 500 runs during the season. He also bowls quick. He lives in Hook-a-Gate and we've tried to get him for a while but we're more attractive to players now we're playing at a higher level."

"Despite playing for Llanidloes, Simon Jones actually lives in Shrewsbury and he's a clever bowler. He puts the ball in the right areas and doesn't like conceding runs."

"Simon's played 14 or 15 years of league cricket at Llanidloes, and both he and Ed should be available for the majority of games which is great for me as captain."

Bevan added he was also pleased to welcome highly rated batsman Home, son of ex-Shropshire skipper Guy, back to Uppington after a spell at a higher level with Shifnal. "Tom did really well at Shifnal," noted Bevan. "He got 400 runs for their first team last year, averaging 40, but he works on Saturday mornings and has decided to come back to Wroxeter."

Bevan is closing in on two more additions, including a young Aussie, while he also revealed that the club's experienced trio of former Shropshire stars Bryan Jones, Guy Home and Duncan Bowett have also registered for the season.

Bevan said: "Our aim will be to finish in the top 10 and stay up. One or two clubs have spent money and a few Birmingham League players have come into the division. There's 12 very good teams."

Zoe is hot to trot in dressage contest

LOCAL riding star Zoe Doran has qualified for next month's British Dressage Open Winter Championships.

The 32-year-old from Little Ness booked her place in the prestigious event, which will get under way at Hartpury in Gloucestershire on April 18, after an excellent display in Lancashire last weekend.

She competed two horses over three days at Myrscough and her fate all came down to the last class of the show when she came second on PSH Overture, known better by its stable name of "Bully", in the Novice Freestyle to progress.

"There was some tough competition at the regional finals," said Zoe, wife of Wroxeter cricketer Jamie. "But Bully, who is owned by Gary Power, is a bright horse who is always willing to learn and I look forward to progressing with him."

"He has a tremendous amount of talent and ability, so the next few weeks will see me working hard to make sure we can bring that out at Hartpury."

"I feel very fortunate to have been given the ride of Bully by Gary Power of Power Sport Horses and would also like to thank Baileys Horse Feeds for their ongoing sponsorship."

Zoe runs an equine business at home in Little Ness called Taylored Equestrian. Taylor was her maiden name.

It is an equine recuperation yard for the treatment of sick and injured horses with the facilities including oval horsewalker, treadmill and cold water spa.

Late upset

THERE was late heartbreak for Ellesmere who fell to a 2-1 Midland Alliance defeat at home to Causeway in midweek, with the visitors snatching a 92nd minute winner.

Steve Towers gave the hosts a first half lead only for Causeway to level with a deflected goal.

TOWN BOSS HAILS KEEPER'S HEROICS

GRAHAM Turner has saluted the mental strength of Chris Neal after the goalkeeper helped keep Shrewsbury Town on track for League Two promotion glory ahead of Saturday's trip to Crewe Alexandra.

Neal recovered impressively from making a costly error at Swindon last week to produce a starring display between the posts as Town came from behind to beat fellow high fliers Crawley 2-1 on Monday night.

Now boss Turner wants more of the same as Town bid to underline their promotion credentials with the short excursion to Gresty Road followed by a home clash against Oxford United on Tuesday (7.45pm).

"I talked to Gavin Ward, our goalkeeping coach, about how it was a test for Chris the other night," said Turner.

"It was a howler against Swindon and a real examination of his mental strength, not only against one of the top sides in the division but added to by the fact the Crawley game was live on TV."

Credit

"I thought he came out of the game with a lot of credit. He made some important saves for us from some very difficult shots that just kicked up in front of him. He handled them extremely well. It was a good performance from him."

Three points against Crawley lifted Town into the automatic promotion places for the first time since October - and completed a 12 months unbeaten run at the Greenhouse Meadow spanning 24 matches.

Turner said: "You could look at that and say we're slightly disappointed with the away results on the strength of how strong we are at home."

"Things do add up for us when we play at home. It's a big pitch and when you're playing with wingers you need the extra space.

"It's a good surface and our home crowd can be an influence. These sort of things have made it a fortress for us."

"The run we're on at home does breed that winning mentality. Even when we went a goal down against Crawley and they were pressing us, I still felt we would get our game flowing."

"We saw it in glimpses and there is a strong air of confidence about the players at the Meadow."

Now it's next stop Crewe this weekend with Turner's men set to be backed by another big away following. It's an all-ticket game for Shrewsbury fans with the club well on course to sell out their 1,600 allocation.

"The amount of supporters we took down to Swindon last Tuesday and the noise they made was terrific," Turner said.

"We're giving the supporters something to shout about because of the quality of the performances and the players are responding to the noise the crowd makes."

Town know what to expect of a Crewe side who sit tenth in the table, after coach Mike Jackson was sent on a spying mission at last weekend's 3-3 draw against AFC Wimbledon.

Turner added: "They were very good going forward and a bit loose defensively."

"There's no doubt they've got some very talented young players, as has been the trademark at Crewe over quite a number of years."

"We expect a nice game of football, we expect them to pass the ball, and they'll be a handful in certain areas, but we know we've always got a chance of getting at them."

Turner, meanwhile, stressed he was pleased to have agreed a deal to extend the loan spell of West Bromwich Albion youngster Romaine Sawyers until the end of the season.
